Head-On At Midland Heights Hill

4 Hospitalized In Wreck

Three Midland Heights residents and an Ohioville man remained hospitalized today as the result of a head-on collision of the two cars above on the Midland Heights Hill Saturday.

Mrs. Edith Jean White, wife of Glenn White of 6-A Midland Heights, is in "fair" condition at Rochester General Hospital. She suffered possible rib injuries and abrasions of the legs and arms and underwent surgery for a collapsed lung.

Cheryl Lee White, 6, another daughter of Mrs. White, was treated for abrasions and released.

Midland police reported cars operated by Mrs. White and Dobronz collided at the top curve of Route 168 on the hill. Mrs. White was descending the hill when her car was struck by his 1962 sedan, which apparently was in her lane, Midland police said.

5 Hurt In Route 30 Crash Near Chester

A Pennsylvania driver whose car struck a parked auto on Route 30 near the West Virginia-Pennsylvania line early today is in "fair" condition at City Hospital. A Canton couple and their two youngsters in the parked auto also were injured.

William R. Armstrong of Georgetown RD 1 suffered cuts of the scalp, left cheek and neck in the mishap about 5:20 a.m. east of the Pennsylvania line.

Pennsylvania state police are investigating.

Daniels suffered bruises of the chest and shoulder and cuts; his wife Sylvia received bruises of the legs and abrasions of the face and wrist; Annette Daniels, 5, suffered abrasions of the scalp, and Jeannette Daniels, 4, received bruises of the hip and abrasions of the arm and chest.

Mayor's Race Eyed

Chester Awaits Tuesday Voting

Chester voters will decide a hotly-contested battle for mayor when they go to the polls Tuesday in the city's general election.

Seeking the post are Harold Ash, Republican of Neptune Ave. who upset incumbent Burton G. Ward in the April primary, and Democratic Robert Wilson of 329 Louisiana Ave.

The polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

ADDING interest will be a write-in campaign conducted by William A. Tuttle, 41, of Fairview Rd., a Democrat, for the First Ward Council post now held by Charles Kology, also a Democrat.

Tuttle is employed by the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Corp. He is married to the former Jane Cunningham.

He is a veteran of both World War II and the Korean War.

Don Hood, city clerk, pointed out that a voter casting a ballot for a write-in candidate must vote on the party ticket of the candidate by state law. He said that if a Republican casts a vote for Tuttle on the GOP ticket it will be void.

At Baccalaureate Services

ELHS Seniors Are Urged To 'Accept Challenges'

The courage of David to accept the challenges of the Biblical era was underscored in Baccalaureate services conducted Sunday night at Memorial Auditorium for the East Liverpool High School senior class.

The Rev. E. C. Traylor of the First Church of Christ spoke on the theme "It's Time to Grow Up."

He related the story of David and Goliath, pointing out David was not satisfied with conditions as they were and accepted the challenge from Goliath. David also accepted himself, refusing protective armor, Rev. Traylor said, and David wanted to grow up, taking on the work of a man of courage.

The Rev. D. F. Eppling Reinartz, former East Liverpool minister and president of Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary at Columbia, S. C., will speak at commencement Tuesday night at 8 in Memorial Auditorium.

12 Arrested In Latest Raid At Cactus Bar

West Virginia State Troopers Hit Club Sunday Morning

Twelve were arrested by West Virginia state troopers Sunday at 2 a.m. at the Cactus Bar on Route 30, near Chester.

James D. Burns, 38, of Chester RD 1 was charged with keeping and exhibiting gambling devices and with the possession of alcohol on licensed beer premises. The club does not have a liquor license.

Charged with operating gambling devices were Clyde A. Adysek and James Martin — no addresses listed. Oliver Watson was cited for acting as doorkeeper.

Helen Eva Opet, a waitress, was cited for the illegal sale of alcohol and selling beer after hours.

Seven others were charged with "participating in the playing and betting with gambling devices." They are Michael Selecky, Daniel Hutchman, Peter Tshsnychniak, Joseph Quinn, Eugene O'Hanlin, Fred Wagner and Salvadore Taormina. No addresses were listed.

An unaccounted amount of whisky was confiscated as were blackjack tables, poker tables and barbut tables.

A hearing before Squire John D. Herron will be set for later this week.

Parking Ban Planned For 3rd St. Sweeping

Parking will be banned Tuesday morning between 6 and 10 on E. and W. 3rd Sts., from College St. to Monroe St. to permit the street department's mechanical sweeper to remove the winter accumulation of ashes and debris from the pavement, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

The section is not included in the city's usual sweeper schedule, but is cleaned several times a year after advance notice is given to owners of autos that usually line the curb 24 hours a day.

The police department will post "no parking" signs along the entire stretch tonight, the director said.

Le Duc Tho Arrives For Peace Talks

Says Second Phase Can Begin If U.S. Halts Its Bombing

PARIS (AP) —A high-ranking member of North Vietnam's Communist leadership arrived to join the peace talks in Paris today and said the second phase of the conferences "can begin without delay" if the United States will drop what he called its "obstinate attitude" and halt the rest of the bombing of his country.

Le Duc Tho arrived here from Hanoi by way of Moscow where he conferred with Soviet leaders Sunday.

U.S. officials are studying the possibility of a compromise with North Vietnam over broadening the scope of the Paris talks in spite of the deadlock on de-escalating the war.

The clue lies in a statement published two days ago in the newspaper Nhan Dan, mouthpiece of the North Vietnamese Communist party. Instead of saying the United States must agree to halt immediately all attacks on North Vietnamese territory, it says the United States "must first of all clearly acknowledge its responsibility to put a definitive and unconditional end" to the attacks.

Members of the American delegation in the Paris conference are frankly not quite sure what this means but are slightly optimistic. They hope for clarification in the next session or two with the North Vietnam delegation. Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Guan Thuy and their advisers will meet again Wednesday.

Thuy, meanwhile is expected to get the latest thoughts of the ruling group in Hanoi from one of its top members, Le Duc Tho, who was dispatched to Paris.

Tho, a Communist theoretician, will serve here as a "special counselor" to Thuy. While he was stopping over in Moscow Sunday, the Soviet Communist

Three Youths Tied To $500 Church Theft

LISBON — Three unidentified boys who attended the Sunday morning service at the First Methodist Church are suspects in the theft of the collection—approximately $500 — from the pastor's study.

The Rev. Frederick Shiltz reported the loss to officer John Vokovich at 12:45 p. m. Sunday after discovering someone had broken a window in his study and taken the money.

He told police he and Mrs. Shiltz talked to the three strangers after church and the boys told them they were from Greenford and planned to attend church here.

Since the church treasurer was absent yesterday, the pastor locked the collection in his study while Mrs. Shiltz continued to talk to the boys.

Viet Cong Presses Fresh Troops Into Saigon Area

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Mission said today an American helicopter aiming at enemy gunners in Saigon probably fired the rocket that killed six high-ranking South Vietnamese officials at a command post Sunday.

As the latest wave of fighting in the capital area went into its 10th day, South Vietnamese military headquarters reported that 600 to 800 fresh Viet Cong troops had slipped into the northern suburb of Gia Dinh, 2½ miles from the center of Saigon.

Four officials also were wounded in the rocket explosion at a temporary command post where the group was observing operations against Viet Cong soldiers holding out in buildings in Cholon, the Chinese district in southwestern Saigon.

Dead Are Listed

Those killed were Col. Pho Quoc Chu, the director of the port of Saigon and Vice Presiden Ntguyen Cao Ky's brother-in-law; Col. Nguyen Van Luan, the Saigon police chief; Col. Le Ngoc Tru, commander of Saigon's 5th Police Precinct; Maj. Nguyen Ngoc Xinh, chief of staff of joint operations for the national police; Maj. Nguyen Bao Thuy, chief of the Saigon mayor's cabinet ,and brother of the former minister of revolutionary development, and Lt. Col. Dao Ba Phuoc, commander of the 5th Ranger Group.

The wounded were Saigon's mayor, Col. Van Van Cua; Col. Tran Van Phan, chief of staff of the national police director; Col. Nguyen Van Giam, deputy chief of the capital military district, and Maj. Le Ngoc To, commander of the 5th Combat Police Battalion.

U.S. Ambassador Samuel D. Berger sent his "deepest regrets and condolences" to the South Vietnamese government and to the families of the officials.

One officer said Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, ordered that no further American air strikes may be called in Saigon or its suburbs wtihout his approval, but a U.S. military spokesman declined to comment on this.

Bad Rocket Blamed

The U.S. Mission said one rocket from an American helicopter malfunctioned and "there is a strong probability that the . . . rocket which fell short of its target landed in the vicinity of the officials."

"Since there was firefighting involving enemy rockets in the general area of the explosion," the statement added, "it cannot absolutely be determined what happened."

Later a U.S. spokesman said a full investigation of the incident is being made. He indicated that disciplinary action might be taken against the helicopter pilot.

Newsmen visiting the scene inspected fragments of a rocket which officers identified as the type used by American helicopters.

U.S. air strikes normally are called in by local Vietnamese commanders who certify the target area is under enemy control.

American helicopters were back in Cholon today, fgihting with tear gas rather than rockets. One reason for the tear gas was to spare a Roman Catholic church in the area, apparently

In Optimistic Atmosphere

Major Steel Negotiations Open Today In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators for the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers of America, after weekend contract settlements with the major aluminum companies, today open contract talks covering about 480,000 employes of the 11 major steel producers in the most optimistic atmosphere in years.

The negotiations are between the 1.2 million-member union and the Coordinating Committee of Steel Companies, representing the 11 steel producers.

The negotiations starting today can set a pattern for members of the union not involved in the present talks.

Strategy Planned

For the first time, preliminary talks were held on local issues, and many were settled in six weeks of talks.

The Steelworkers' 33-man executive board, headed by union President I.W. Abel, met Sunday to plan strategy. Following that session, the union's 200-member negotiating advisory committee met. And aide of Abel said the committee meeting involved procedures, and there was no public announcement of what went on.

The basic steel industry has not had a major strike since a 116-day walkout in 1959. The White House, however, has intervened several times in contract talks.

The curernt 35-month contract, which expires Aug. 1, was agreed upon after President Johnson intervened in 1965.

Aluminum Signs

Although the United Steelworkers had signed a new three-year pact covering half of the nation's aluminum workers, the two aluminum giants—Alcoa and Reynolds—were struck during the weekend by the AFL-CIO Aluminum Workers union.

Alcoa—the Aluminum Co. of America—reported that half its capacity was halted. It is the nation's largest aluminum producer.

The United Steelworkers has said that in its negotiations with the major steel companies it would demand a pay increase of 6 per cent and fringe benefits. Wages now average $3.83 an hour, according to the union. The companies have said wages and fringe benefits combined total $4.88 an hour.

Increase Granted

A union spokesman said the new contract with the five largest aluminum producers contained a wage increase exceeding the 6.1 per cent won in the can industry recently. After a nine-month strike, cooper workers got an 8 per cent increase.

About the same terms were

Explosion At Coshocton Kills Two, Burns Others

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP)—A flash fire triggered by an explosion in a propane gas pipeline in a strip mining area Saturday night claimed two lives Sunday.

Five persons were burned in the fire that seared a wide section in a Coshocton County valley south of Plainfield. But authorities credited rain and fog of holding the seeping gas down in the valley, preventing additional injuries and damage.

One witness said it was like a "gigantic grass fire."

Authorities said earth around the pipeline apparently was weakened by recent rains and the explosion erupted after the line was shoved 10 feet from its original path by shifting land.

Edna Brill, 47, and Quentin Roahrig, 18, both of near Plainfield, died Sunday of burns. Roahrig was to have attended baccalaureate services Sunday for his class at Ridgewood High School.

Mrs. Brill's son, Dan, 15, and Ben A. Lahna, 24, remained in critical condition at University Hospital in Columbus. The dead woman's husband, Edward, 51, was in fair condition in Memorial Hospital here.

Three houses in the area were badly scorched, Sheriff's deputy Robin Jones said. Frank Sprague said his home was "blistered as though someone had used a blow torch."

The sheriff's office said a barn, four smaller farm buildings and six or seven vehicles were destroyed in the explosion and fire. The blaze blackened some two miles of lowlands.

Heavy gas fumes seeped into the valley and the fire burned through Sunday morning. The thick gas displaced oxygen in the air, causing cars to quit running. Occupants of some cars became nauseated.

The pipeline was shut off Saturday night. Authorities said the blast occurred after Lahna tried to start his car. Lahna, Dan Brill and Roahrig were in the car.

Mr. and Mrs. Brill were en route to pick up a daughter in Zanesville.

Viet Soldiers Loot Stores During Battle

SAIGON (AP) — The Vietnamese soldier jogged down the street with three radios stolen from a Chinese store on the fringe of a four-block area filled with Viet Cong snipers.

His sergeant across the street hollered: "Hey, you! Where are you going with all those radios? Why do you take so many? You only need one."

The soldier grinned sheepishly but dropped only one radio. The sergeant ambled across the debris-littered street, picked up the radio and tied it to his field pack.

Lulls in the street fighting now going on in Saigon offer an apparently irresistible temptation to the poorly paid South Vietnamese soldier whose idea of luxury normally is a stolen chicken to supplement his poor food ration.

Tank men who didn't need to worry about the extra weight, "liberated" large numbers of radios. One army truck was seen loading up with television sets. Several policemen joined

Some Employes Return At Small Provincial Plants

PARIS (AP) — The mass of France's 10 million strikers show no signs of budging despite an announcement from the government that a back-to-work movement is under way.

Workers have called off their strike at some small provincial factories. There was a possibility that postal service would be resumed this week. But other main sectors of the economy remain paralyzed as the general strike enters its third week.

There seems little chance that things will return to normal Tuesday after the three-day Pentecost weekend.

Public transport is still frozen, the schools are closed and industry is still. However, striker-employer negotiations are continuing in most fields where deadlocks has not produced a rupture.

Representatives of striking railroad and urban transport workers kept talks going with the government though a union leader said the "restrictive attitude of the Transportation Ministry" was "inadmissible."

The railroad workers are demanding salary increases of up to 19 per cent for the lowest paid employes and 15 per cent for the highest paid.

Leaders of striking employes of the state gas and electricity works reported progress in their negotiations but said rank and file must have the final voice. However, the supply of gas and electricity has been normal throughout the strike.

The 280,000 postal workers decide today whether to return to work. They were to consider a "protocol agreement" reached in principle at a weekend negotiating session.

Talks with leaders of 600,000 other government employes had not yet produced any agreement.

A spokesman for the union representing the nation's 600,000 teachers said the schools will remain closed Tuesday.

At the government radio and television networks, the principal demand of a new union of journalists and technicians was independence from the tight government control which President Charles de Gaulle's regime has exercised. The television network still was airing only news broadcasts by nonstrikers.

Bank employes were to meet Tuesday to pass on a provisional salary agreement. If the agreement is accepted, the banks presumably could reopen on Wednesday.

The sectors where there has been some movement included the coal mines, where there has been a partial return to work; oil refiners, which have resumed production or will resume, and Paris department stores, where employe approval of a salary agreement was expected Tuesday.

Youngstown Man, 31, Shot In 'Gang' Style

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Police said the shooting of a man found with his hands bound behind his back "has all the appearances of a gangland murder."

The body of Philip Earle Cownden, 31, of Youngstown, Ohio, was discovered by two young canoeists in French Creek Saturday afternoon.

The victim's wife identified him Sunday. She said her husband left home with a man who picked him up in a car May 9 after he received a phone call.

She didn't see him again and reported him missing May 13.

About two years ago Cownden and two other Youngstown men were convicted in a forged check operation in Akron and he served a year's time and then was paroled.

Mayor's Race Eyed

Chester Awaits Tuesday Voting

Chester voters will decide a hotly-contested battle for mayor when they go to the polls Tuesday in the city's general election.

Seeking the post are Harold Ash, Republican of Neptune Ave. who upset incumbent Burton G. Ward in the April primary, and Democratic Robert Wilson of 329 Louisiana Ave.

The polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Parking will be banned Tuesday morning between 6 and 10 on E. and W. 3rd Sts., from College St. to Monroe St. to permit the street department's mechanical sweeper to remove the winter accumulation of ashes and debris from the pavement. Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

The section is not included in the city's usual sweeper schedule, but is cleaned several times a year after advance notice is given to owners of autos that usually line the curb 24 hours a day.

The police department will post "no parking" signs along the entire stretch tonight, the director said.

Three Youths Tied To $500 Church Theft

LISBON — Three unidentified boys who attended the Sunday morning service at the First Methodist Church are suspects in the theft of the collection—approximately $500 — from the pastor's study.

The Rev. Frederick Shiltz reported the loss to officer John Vokovich at 12:45 p. m. Sunday after discovering someone had broken a window in his study and taken the money.

He told police he and Mrs. Shiltz talked to the three strangers after church and the boys told them they were from Greenford and planned to attend church here.

Since the church treasurer was absent yesterday, the pastor locked the collection in his study while Mrs. Shiltz continued to talk to the boys.

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators for the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers of America, after weekend contract settlements with the major aluminum companies, today open contract talks covering about 480,000 employes of the 11 major steel producers in the most optimistic atmosphere in years.

The negotiations are between the 1.2 million-member union and the Coordinating Committee of Steel Companies, representing the 11 steel producers.

Strategy Planned

For the first time, preliminary talks were held on local issues, and many were settled in six weeks of talks.

The Steelworkers' 33-man executive board, headed by union President I.W. Abel, met Sunday to plan strategy. Following that session, the union's 200-member negotiating advisory committee met. And aide of Abel said the committee meeting involved procedures, and there was no public announcement of what went on.

The basic steel industry has not had a major strike since a 116-day walkout in 1959. The White House, however, has intervened several times in contract talks.

The curernt 35-month contract, which expires Aug. 1, was agreed upon after President Johnson intervened in 1965.

Aluminum Signs

Although the United Steelworkers had signed a new three-year pact covering half of the nation's aluminum workers, the two aluminum giants—Alcoa and Reynolds—were struck during the weekend by the AFL-CIO Aluminum Workers union.

Alcoa—the Aluminum Co. of America—reported that half its capacity was halted. It is the nation's largest aluminum producer.

The United Steelworkers has said that in its negotiations with the major steel companies it would demand a pay increase of 6 per cent and fringe benefits. Wages now average $3.83 an hour, according to the union. The companies have said wages and fringe benefits combined total $4.88 an hour.

Increase Granted

A union spokesman said the new contract with the five largest aluminum producers contained a wage increase exceeding the 6.1 per cent won in the can industry recently. After a nine-month strike, cooper workers got an 8 per cent increase.

About the same terms were

ELHS Seniors Are Urged To 'Accept Challenges'

The courage of David to accept the challenges of the Biblical era was underscored in Baccalaureate services conducted Sunday night at Memorial Auditorium for the East Liverpool High School senior class.

The Rev. E. C. Traylor of the First Church of Christ spoke on the theme "It's Time to Grow Up."

He related the story of David and Goliath, pointing out David was not satisfied with conditions as they were and accepted the challenge from Goliath. David also accepted himself, refusing protective armor, Rev. Traylor said, and David wanted to grow up, taking on the work of a man of courage.

He declared the receipt of the diploma "is the opportunity to give something to the world."

The Rev. D. F. Eppling Reinartz, former East Liverpool minister and president of Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary at Columbia, S. C., will speak at commencement Tuesday night at 8 in Memorial Auditorium.

Linda Joyce Adkins, Marlene Sue Adkins, Sherry Ann Adkins, Linda Kay Alexander, Kenneth Charles Alford Jr., James Blaise Andrason, Joseph John Arcuragi Jr., Roger Hale Aronson, Deborah Sue Arrington, Richard Wayne Babb.

Large Area Seared

Explosion At Coshocton Kills Two, Burns Others

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP)—A flash fire triggered by an explosion in a propane gas pipeline in a strip mining area Saturday night claimed two lives Sunday.

Five persons were burned in the fire that seared a wide section in a Coshocton County valley south of Plainfield. But authorities credited rain and fog of holding the seeping gas down in the valley, preventing additional injuries and damage.

One witness said it was like a "gigantic grass fire."

Authorities said earth around the pipeline apparently was weakened by recent rains and the explosion erupted after the line was shoved 10 feet from its original path by shifting land.

Edna Brill, 47, and Quentin Roahrig, 18, both of near Plainfield, died Sunday of burns. Roahrig was to have attended baccalaureate services Sunday for his class at Ridgewood High School.

Mrs. Brill's son, Dan, 15, and Ben A. Lahna, 24, remained in critical condition at University Hospital in Columbus. The dead woman's husband, Edward, 51, was in fair condition in Memorial Hospital here.

Three houses in the area were badly scorched, Sheriff's deputy Robin Jones said. Frank Sprague said his home was "blistered as though someone had used a blow torch."

The sheriff's office said a barn, four smaller farm buildings and six or seven vehicles were destroyed in the explosion and fire. The blaze blackened some two miles of lowlands.

Heavy gas fumes seeped into the valley and the fire burned through Sunday morning. The thick gas displaced oxygen in the air, causing cars to quit running. Occupants of some cars became nauseated.

The pipeline was shut off Saturday night. Authorities said the blast occurred after Lahna tried to start his car. Lahna, Dan Brill and Roahrig were in the car.

Mr. and Mrs. Brill were en route to pick up a daughter in Zanesville.

Viet Soldiers Loot Stores During Battle

SAIGON (AP) — The Vietnamese soldier jogged down the street with three radios stolen from a Chinese store on the fringe of a four-block area filled with Viet Cong snipers.

His sergeant across the street hollered: "Hey, you! Where are you going with all those radios? Why do you take so many? You only need one."

The soldier grinned sheepishly but dropped only one radio. The sergeant ambled across the debris-littered street, picked up the radio and tied it to his field pack.

Lulls in the street fighting now going on in Saigon offer an apparently irresistible temptation to the poorly paid South Vietnamese soldier whose idea of luxury normally is a stolen chicken to supplement his poor food ration.

Tank men who didn't need to worry about the extra weight, "liberated" large numbers of radios. One army truck was seen loading up with television sets. Several policemen joined

Youngstown Man, 31, Shot In 'Gang' Style

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Police said the shooting of a man found with his hands bound behind his back "has all the appearances of a gangland murder."

The body of Philip Earle Cownden, 31, of Youngstown, Ohio, was discovered by two young canoeists in French Creek Saturday afternoon.

The victim's wife identified him Sunday. She said her husband left home with a man who picked him up in a car May 9 after he received a phone call.

She didn't see him again and reported him missing May 13.

About two years ago Cownden and two other Youngstown men were convicted in a forged check operation in Akron and he served a year's time and then was paroled.

Motorcycle Hits Home At Lisbon

LISBON — A motorcycle driven by Joe P. Deville, 27, of 526 N. Jefferson St. ran into the front porch at the home of Mrs. Dora Lones, 264 W. Washington St., about 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Police said James McLaughlin of Lisbon RD 5, owner of the 1961 bike, talked to Mrs. Lones and told her he had insurance to cover the damage.

The cycle tore off the railing on the north and east sides of the porch, knocked out a cornerpost and propelled a three-foot piece of lumber through a front window onto a couch.

Police charged Deville with reckless operation. They said he was driving south on Blocksom St. which dead-ends at Washington just a few feet west of the Lones residence, which is on the south side of the street.

away, had an uneasy feeling as soon as they got home and the pastor returned to check—but too late.

Rev. Shiltz told chief of Police Leon T. Zahrndt that one boy was tall, about 16 or 17 years old and wore a white shirt; the second boy was between 12 and 14 and wore a brown suit and yellow shirt, and the other, 11 to 13 and short and chubby, wore an orange shirt.

Police released a suspect last night after questioning. They said they checked out a black car parked near the church yesterday morning and do not believe it was connected with the burglary.

Police were called to the church again at 10:25 last night when Rev. Shiltz reported someone had broken a ground-level window. No one was in the church, although an inside door had been jimmied but not opened, police said.

The document hinted at stronger local control for reducing crises which plagued the United States.

Further comment on findings of the 21-member task force was expected to come from U.S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, at a news conference set in Cincinnati.

Taft chairs the group, known as the "Task Force on the Functions of Federal, State and Local Governments."

The report called for "faithful execution" of the fair housing provisions of the 1968 civil rights bill recently passed by Congress and said fulfillment of the measure "should help reduce tensions in the central cities by creating opportunities for minority groups."

Findings, according to the report, showed that approximately 4 areas and nearly two-thirds of all minority groups families live in neighborhoods marked with unsuitable housing and urban blight."

Weary Congress Ready To Close Session Early

WASHINGTON (AP) — A weary and uncertain Congress, fearing a negative national mood toward political incumbents, is eager to close out a lethargic session marked by decreasing congressional influence on major issues.

Consequently, Congress resumed work today following a brief Memorial Day break, far behind schedule but determined to finish early and adjourn for the political campaigns.

"Members always talk about adjourning early but this time they really seem to mean it," said one House aide.

Important events beyond Congress' control such as President Johnson's withdrawal from the presidential campaign, Vietnam peace talks, the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and city riots following his slaying have produced wariness and uncertainty in the House and Senate, especially among the majority Democrats. This was clear from numerous private conversations with members.

Although appropriations and other legislative business are far behind schedule, leaders are determined to wind up the session before the start of the national political conventions in August.

Some members are already campaigning.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy showed up in the Senate to vote for a milk protection measure the week before the Wisconsin primary. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has been away since mid-March.

Republican Whip Thomas Kuchel, seeking re-election, has been in California since April preparing for Tuesday's primary and Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon was here only twice in May as he fought the contest that last week gave him a slim margin for nomination to a fifth term.

The arrival of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference's Poor People's Campaign in Washington was accompanied by some congressional action on antipoverty proposals.

It passed and sent to the House $5 billion housing measure that had been scheduled weeks ago, then moved to eliminate restrictions that have prevented increased federal food shipments to poverty areas.

But both measures face an uncertain fate in the House, and there seems little likelihood of major legislation in other areas such as employment.

Although much of President Johnson's legislative program appears fated for oblivion, such bills as open housing and interest disclosure have already been passed. Action also is likely on the tax increase, anti-crime bill, fish and poultry inspection, higher education extension and manpower training program.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has said adjournment depends on the progress of the appropriations bills.

Only 5 of the 13 money bills for the year starting July 1 have cleared the House, one has passed the Senate and none have reached the White House.

The last time Congress adjourned in August was in 1958. The 1960 and 1964 presidential years featured post-convention sessions of the sort leaders hope to avoid this year.

Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., of the House Rules Committee has set a July 9 deadline for his panel to clear bills for the House.

If Congress has to reconvene after the conventions, he said, "We will be harangued with political speeches for the rest of the year.

Jurors Selected For Lisbon Trial

Judge Joel H. Sharp is presiding for the trial of Edward Charnock of rear 418 E. 4th St., charged with first - degree manslaughter in the death of Elwood Leigh, 52, of 713 Garner Ave., Maplewood.

The state's key witness in the Common Pleas Court jury action will be Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr., who heard a disturbance March 17 on Dresden Ave. near Green Ln. and looked to see the defendant strike Mr. Leigh, who then fell and hit his head on the sidewalk. He died the next day.

A land appropriation case in which Harvey J. Weber had asked for a jury trial after refusing the Ohio Highway Department's offer was settled before a jury was seated in Judge Raymond S. Buzzard's courtroom.

The land is being taken for the construction of Route 11 (the Lake Erie - To - Ohio River freeway) in the Copeland Lake area.

Tax Hike No Panacea

President Johnson's reluctant acceptance of the congressional tax hike-spending cut package may have insured passage of the measure but it does not assure a solution to America's economic shortcomings.

Frankly the tax increase has been oversold by the administrration. It is not a panacea. It will not work miracles.

DURING THE 16 months President Johnson has been pushing a tax increase, administration claims for its curing power have grown to exaggerated proportions.

In his Jan. 10, 1967, State of the Union message, President Johnson requested Congress to approve a 6 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes for two years "or for so long as the unusual expenditures associated with our efforts in Vietnam continue."

Within recent weeks the value of a surcharge proposal (now up to 10 per cent) has been praised as a cureall that would save the dollar, stop inflation and eliminate the balance-of-payments deficit.

Adding to the controversy were statements by the President that belittled the position of those members of Congress holding out for a big spending cut.

Earlier this month he asked legislators to approve the bill and to stop holding up the measure "until you can blackmail someone into getting your own personal viewpoint over on reductions."

It as been a battle of strong wills. The President wanted the tax increase on his own terms. Some members of Congrsss had decided the time was at hand when the up, up, up trend of federal spending was to be brought to a stop.

Just how serious they are about the whole matter, including federal spending policies, is shown in provisions of the tax-spending bill approved by a House-Senate committee May 9.

THE MEASURE would approve the 10 per cent income surcharge, require fiscal 1969 spending to be reduced to $180.1 billion from the proposed $186.1 billion, require a $10 billion cut in pending administration requests, reduce federal civilian employment and void $8 billion in administration requests previously approved but unspent.

The conference bill also would restore the 10 per cent phone excise tax and the 7 per cent automobile excise tax, speed up corporation tax payments and end the tax-exempt status of interest on industrial revenue bond issues of more than $1 million.

The bill, when approved, will have a definite impact on the United States. The thrust of the program won't be as good as the administration has claimed.

Let there be no mistake about it, when the measure finally is enacted it will prove two points: First, it is an admission the Johnson administration is unable to run a tight fiscal ship and second, Congress is fed up with such foolishness.

The Steel Outlook

The area's steelworkers will be keeping close watch on the contract negotiations between representatives of the USW and 11 major steel firms which began today at the Commoddore Hotel in New York.

Although Crucible Steel Corp. and the union have signed a "no-strike" agreement granting benefits tied to the Big Steel pact when it is signed, a lot more than contract terms are involved.

A lot of local issues have already been worked out since the initial bargaining began April 15 in new efforts to avert a strike such as the scope of the record 116-day walkout in 1959. Should the negotiations not come up with a contract by the Aug. 1 deadline, the decision to strike would be made by a membership poll for the first time in the union's history.

But the effect of the strike threat has been evident for some months. The steel market has already peaked for 1968 as customers stockpiled huge inventories to avoid being caught short if a walkout occurs. Steel orders are already lagging, and production is expected to slack off for the rest of the year.

Meanwhile, imports of foreign steel continue higher than last year and probably will set a new record by the end of 1968.

With the cyclic ebb and flow of steel demand linked to contract dates and the rising influx of steel from other nations, costing jobs, profits and trade balances, the steel manufacturers and union have problems far deeper than those of wage increases, fringe benefits and working conditions.

Israel Makes Amends

It is the unusual that makes news. Perhaps that is why the story about Israel paying $3.3 million to the families of U.S. sailors killed June 8, 1967, when the ship, Liberty, was attacked by Israeli planes and torpedo boats, rated medium-size headlines.

So often anymore, when a wrong is done the United States, the offending nation either ignores any thought of reparation or thumbs its nose at Uncle Sam. Seldom is there any serious thought of reparations.

It is true that $3.3 million is but a drop in the bucket when compared to the amount of aid granted to foreign nations (including Israel) by the United States. And true, it would be wise for Israel to keep on the good side of the United States in view of its highly distressed position at the moment.

But it is more proper and certainly nicer to think that no ulterior motives can be ascribed to Israel in its awarding of this compensation to the sailors' families.

In making amends financially for its deeds, Israel has been generous and honorable.

Too many nations seem to have adopted the philosophy that the United States (Uncle Sugar) can well afford to lose any amount owed it.

It is heartening to see Israel conducting itself in an honorable way in its international dealings.

Thoughts

I said to myself, "I have acquired great wisdom, surpassing all who were over Jerusalem before me; and my mind has had great experience of wisdom and knowledge."—Eccl. 1:16.

Men are wise in proportion, not to their experience, but to their capacity for experience. —George Bernard Shaw, British dramatist.

No race can prosper till it learns that there is as much dignity in filling a field as in writing a poem.—Booker T. Washington, American educator.

As the purse is emptied the heart is filled.—Victor Hugo, French novelist.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO. Mayor Lee Copenhaver announced there would be strict enforcement of a new ordinance prohibiting the sale of beer, wine or liquor after midnight.

Columbiana County Commissioners approved plans for a new $15,000 bridge to replace a condemned span on the East Palestine-New Waterford Rd.

TWENTY YEARS AGO. A two-story frame home at the intersection of Walnut St. and St. Clair Ave. was being razed in preparation for construction of a new Church of the Nazarene.

TEN YEARS AGO. Burton Ward defeated Donald Hood for mayor of Chester, marking the first time a Democrat was named to the post. Previously Republicans and Independent party candidates were elected.

Wellsville's new $8,474 street sweeper was tested.

New Cumberland Council adopted a motion requiring houses to be numbered.

A Big Hurdle!

Read The Labels!

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — There are so many different kinds of clothes made of miracle fibers that one is hard put to remember the instructions on how to launder and clean them. Each new piece of clothing now comes with a long list of instructions explaining how the garment must be treated, plus many warnings about what will happen if the instructions aren't adhered to.

Art Buchwald

The other day I came home to find my wife washing my 45 per cent alphazate, 25 per cent prymnon, 30 per cent cotton turtleneck sweater. I was horrified to discover that she was washing it the wrong way. "You're supposed to wash that sweater in cold lamb's milk and you're washing it in warm lamb's milk."

"NO," SHE SAID. "I read the instructions quite clearly. You wash it in warm lamb's milk and then you rinse it in cold."

"You're thinking about my 100 per cent all kozel undershirts. My turtleneck sweater is just the opposite."

I was right, because as we were talking the turtleneck started to disintegrate before my eyes.

"That sweater cost me $12," I cried.

"I can't keep all of these washing instructions straight," she said angrily.

"What are you going to do now?"

"I'm going to wash your 89 1-3 per cent rogiflex wash 'n' dry shirt."

"You have to use fresh essence of lime, mixed with distilled underground spring water," I reminded her.

"Are you sure? It seems to me that there was a warning attached to the shirt that if you use distilled underground spring water the colors would run."

"That only applies to shirts with French cuffs," I told her.

"Of course," she said. "What an idiot I am for not keeping it straight."

"What the blazes did you do with my socks?"

"Nothing. I put them in the washing machine, added virgin calf detergent, two tablespoons of chlorine and a cup of epsom salts, according to the instructions sewn in the sock."

I READ THE instructions. "Did you set the washing machine at 7.5 revolutions per minute?"

"I tried to, but I had to hold it manually and my arm got tired," she confessed. "I guess at the end the machine was going 9 revolutions per minute. But I figured it didn't matter."

I threw down the socks in disgust. "If it didn't matter, why would they sew the instructions into the sock?"

She started to sob. I felt bad and said, "It's all right. I'll buy another pair of socks that can be washed at 9 revolutions per minute. Well, I think I'll put on my 100 per cent stay-pressed-forever seersucker suit."

I put on the pants. As I was inserting the belt, the legs, just below my hips, collapsed and fell to my ankles.

"What did you do to my suit?" I yelled.

"I had it dry-cleaned."

"You're not supposed to dry-clean a stay-pressed-forever material," I screamed. "Look, it says right here in the coat that the only way to clean it is to place it over an air-conditioning unit for 24 hours."

"I put your Nehru suit over the air-conditioning unit."

"The Nehru suit has to be dipped in naphtha and airline hydraulic fuel."

"IT DIDN'T SAY SO in the coat."

"The instructions were printed on the beads that came with the suit."

"Don't yell at me," my wife yelled. "If you bought suits made of wool and shirts made of cotton, you'd have something to wear tonight."

"Yeah, but then look at the laundry and cleaning bills we'd have."

RAYMOND MOLEY

Goldwater Libel Suit

In summing up for the defense in Barry Goldwater's libel suit against the now defunct magazine, "Fact," its publisher and managing editor, the lawyer said the plaintiff's motive was to help his campaign for senator in Arizona.

That charge was absurd. For I was told during a visit in Phoenix three weeks ago by Goldwater's friends and associates that this lawsuit will either have no effect politically at all or will measurably hurt the former senator.

He is too well known there to need any defense of his honor and reputation. And no benefit can come from dragging out this matter in a long trial. In short, enemies will believe anything and friends will be stronger because of such an attack.

HIS OBJECTIVE lies beyond the jury's verdict in his favor. It is to establish in a clear-cut case in the U.S. Supreme Court the limits to which a public official or a candidate can be subjected to irresponsible, defamatory attacks.

For if limits to criticism can legally be established, many more good men and women will be induced to seek or hold public office. The beneficial effect of this upon our public life and government will be felt far beyond Barry Goldwater's career and the lives of all of us.

For certain recent decisions of the Supreme Court have cast a murk of doubt over the question whether there are any limits beyond which public figures are safe from scurrilous abuse.

Goldwater's suit was brought in a New York federal court against "Fact," its former publisher, Ralph Ginzburg, and its managing editor, Warren Boroson.

In October, 1964, the whole issue of "Fact" was devoted to the attack in question. The headline was: "1,189 Psychiatrists Say Goldwater Is Psychologically Unfit To Be President."

The magazine had sent a questionnaire to 12,356 psychiatrists listed as such by the American Medical Association (AMA). There were 2,417 replies. Of these, 657 said Goldwater was fit, 571 declined to take a position and 1,189 claimed him unfit. Among the comments of the latter group were such epithets as: "immature," grossly psychotic," "paranoid," "mass murderer," "amoral and immoral," "chronic schizophrenic and "dangerous lunatic.'

The nonprofessional nature of the attacks were immediately condemned by the AMA and the American Psychiatric Association. But, of course, this professional repudiation came after the damage was done.

The publisher in question, Ginzburg, who had no professional competence at all, contributed an editorial full of the juicy Freudian jargon embedded in the replies.

It is important to note the foregoing figures. For 80 per cent of those interrogated did not answer.

THE ENTIRE ATTACK was an excellent example of the extent to which Freudianism has penetrated some aspects of psychiatric diagnosis. Psychiatry itself was, before the impact of Freud, what I have called "an art trying to be a science." Freud has plunged a terribly dangerous element into the situation.

Freudianism has already penetrated education and the social sciences and the "Fact" publication threw this mishmash into politics. For Freud, in his writings, exercised great poetic license. Almost any paragraph is contradicted by another paragraph. Anyone attacked with this weapon is almost helpless.

VICTOR RIESEL

Red Link

WASHINGTON — In the Central Intelligence Agency files there most certainly is evidence of a mutual assistance pact between the French Communist Party and Charles de Gaulle in which the French Communist Party agreed to protect the president from the French working class.

Victor Riesel

For almost a decade, the party, through its labor arm, the General Confederation of Labor (CGT), has been De Gaulle's built-in safety valve.

Whenever the nation's workers grew restless under a wage scale lower than that in our own Puerto Rico, the CGT would call a 24-hour strike, let the millions of workers blow off steam, howl at the government, but go right back to their jobs at the same scales — which gave about five million French employes less than $30 a week.

This boxed in the more responsible labor organizations — mainly the anti-Communist Force Ouvriere and the Catholic General Confederation of Democratic Labor.

The technique was simple. The Communist CGT announced that it was going to hit the streets. It called on the other rival federations to join in a united front. If the others didn't, they were charged with betraying the proletariat. If they did go along, they automatically put the CGT in the vanguard.

In return for constant pacification through this process of blowing off steam, De Gaulle delivered to the Communists on the international front, kept wages low and helped French industrialists outprice the U.S. and other industrial nations in the world market.

TYPICAL OF THE practice was the Communist-led May 17, 1966, demonstrations and one-day strike by seven million workers. They marched into the street chanting "Money, Charley, Money."

It was the same chant I heard not long after I talked with De Gaulle in the Hotel Matignon shortly after he took power in 1958.

Even at that time, the working people reckoned they needed an 11 per cent wage increase to survive. During that conversation he told me, in effect, the workers loved him and would not turn on France.

Not long after that, the French Minister of Culture, Andre Malraux, told me of his plans to build a vast new university complex at the Sorbonne. "It is impossible for our students to learn and exist, living as they do," Mr. Malraux said. "We will build."

And the Communist Party, despite its public fulminating, protected him with maneuvers so intricate they'd have confused Machiavelli.

Only recently in Paris, I dropped in on some leaders of the Force Ouvriere, which had been launched in the postwar period with the aid of the AFL to neutralize the Communists.

There, over champagne and cheese, two deputy general secretaries explained the Communist technique. De Gaulle had just slashed social security, welfare and other vital services and payments to help him balance his gold equation.

The two French leaders warned bluntly there'd be a revolution if these payments were not restored and wages raised from the 40 cents an hour minimum wage earned by 25 per cent of the French working class.

MY FRIENDS TOLD ME that the only effective way to recoup was to make a fight in the National Assembly. But the Communists, to protect De Gaulle, were blocking that strategy.

Instead, they were calling their people into the streets for one of those chanting demonstrations of 40,000 workers who would come to shout, stomp, parade, strike for a day (or less) and go home with nothing but a hoarse throat to show for a day in the open.

Nor did the CGT attempt to organize. It really is not a union as we know it. It has some 750,000 members and claims to speak for two million in all. But there is no effective dues structure such as in the U.S. They just don't pay dues. The party pays much of the dues — and the Communists can well afford to.

Their secretariat is very rich, what with big cash deposits, real estate and even factories in the name of its heavily militarized underground apparatus.

In all the French federations, there aren't more than 1.5 million regular members. And yet there have been over 10 million strikers. They revolted despite the Communist Party effort to hush them. Then the party and its labor front had to rush into the lead.

BUT IT'S JUST the beginning. Those black flags going up alongside the red are the banners of the 20-year-old revolutionaries who have teethed on Mikhail Bakunin, the 19th century Russian revolutionary who shouted that "anarchism, atheism and collectivism" were the paths to full freedom.

Old graybeard Karl Marx expelled him from the first International. Now, some hundred years later, the youngsters, bloody and rioting in Bakunin's tradition, are set to dump the Marxists in a "Commune of '68."

Tax Hike No Panacea

President Johnson's reluctant acceptance of the congressional tax hike-spending cut package may have insured passage of the measure but it does not assure a solution to America's economic shortcomings.

Frankly the tax increase has been oversold by the administrration. It is not a panacea. It will not work miracles.

DURING THE 16 months President Johnson has been pushing a tax increase, administration claims for its curing power have grown to exaggerated proportions.

In his Jan. 10, 1967, State of the Union message, President Johnson requested Congress to approve a 6 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes for two years "or for so long as the unusual expenditures associated with our efforts in Vietnam continue."

Within recent weeks the value of a surcharge proposal (now up to 10 per cent) has been praised as a cureall that would save the dollar, stop inflation and eliminate the balance-of-payments deficit.

Adding to the controversy were statements by the President that belittled the position of those members of Congress holding out for a big spending cut.

Earlier this month he asked legislators to approve the bill and to stop holding up the measure "until you can blackmail someone into getting your own personal viewpoint over on reductions."

It as been a battle of strong wills. The President wanted the tax increase on his own terms. Some members of Congrsss had decided the time was at hand when the up, up, up trend of federal spending was to be brought to a stop.

Just how serious they are about the whole matter, including federal spending policies, is shown in provisions of the tax-spending bill approved by a House-Senate committee May 9.

THE MEASURE would approve the 10 per cent income surcharge, require fiscal 1969 spending to be reduced to $180.1 billion from the proposed $186.1 billion, require a $10 billion cut in pending administration requests, reduce federal civilian employment and void $8 billion in administration requests previously approved but unspent.

The conference bill also would restore the 10 per cent phone excise tax and the 7 per cent automobile excise tax, speed up corporation tax payments and end the tax-exempt status of interest on industrial revenue bond issues of more than $1 million.

The bill, when approved, will have a definite impact on the United States. The thrust of the program won't be as good as the administration has claimed.

Let there be no mistake about it, when the measure finally is enacted it will prove two points: First, it is an admission the Johnson administration is unable to run a tight fiscal ship and second, Congress is fed up with such foolishness.

The Steel Outlook

The area's steelworkers will be keeping close watch on the contract negotiations between representatives of the USW and 11 major steel firms which began today at the Commoddore Hotel in New York.

Although Crucible Steel Corp. and the union have signed a "no-strike" agreement granting benefits tied to the Big Steel pact when it is signed, a lot more than contract terms are involved.

A lot of local issues have already been worked out since the initial bargaining began April 15 in new efforts to avert a strike such as the scope of the record 116-day walkout in 1959. Should the negotiations not come up with a contract by the Aug. 1 deadline, the decision to strike would be made by a membership poll for the first time in the union's history.

But the effect of the strike threat has been evident for some months. The steel market has already peaked for 1968 as customers stockpiled huge inventories to avoid being caught short if a walkout occurs. Steel orders are already lagging, and production is expected to slack off for the rest of the year.

Meanwhile, imports of foreign steel continue higher than last year and probably will set a new record by the end of 1968.

With the cyclic ebb and flow of steel demand linked to contract dates and the rising influx of steel from other nations, costing jobs, profits and trade balances, the steel manufacturers and union have problems far deeper than those of wage increases, fringe benefits and working conditions.

Israel Makes Amends

It is the unusual that makes news. Perhaps that is why the story about Israel paying $3.3 million to the families of U.S. sailors killed June 8, 1967, when the ship, Liberty, was attacked by Israeli planes and torpedo boats, rated medium-size headlines.

So often anymore, when a wrong is done the United States, the offending nation either ignores any thought of reparation or thumbs its nose at Uncle Sam. Seldom is there any serious thought of reparations.

It is true that $3.3 million is but a drop in the bucket when compared to the amount of aid granted to foreign nations (including Israel) by the United States. And true, it would be wise for Israel to keep on the good side of the United States in view of its highly distressed position at the moment.

But it is more proper and certainly nicer to think that no ulterior motives can be ascribed to Israel in its awarding of this compensation to the sailors' families.

In making amends financially for its deeds, Israel has been generous and honorable.

Too many nations seem to have adopted the philosophy that the United States (Uncle Sugar) can well afford to lose any amount owed it.

It is heartening to see Israel conducting itself in an honorable way in its international dealings.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO. Mayor Lee Copenhaver announced there would be strict enforcement of a new ordinance prohibiting the sale of beer, wine or liquor after midnight.

Columbiana County Commissioners approved plans for a new $15,000 bridge to replace a condemned span on the East Palestine-New Waterford Rd.

TWENTY YEARS AGO. A two-story frame home at the intersection of Walnut St. and St. Clair Ave. was being razed in preparation for construction of a new Church of the Nazarene.

TEN YEARS AGO. Burton Ward defeated Donald Hood for mayor of Chester, marking the first time a Democrat was named to the post. Previously Republicans and Independent party candidates were elected.

Wellsville's new $8,474 street sweeper was tested.

New Cumberland Council adopted a motion requiring houses to be numbered.

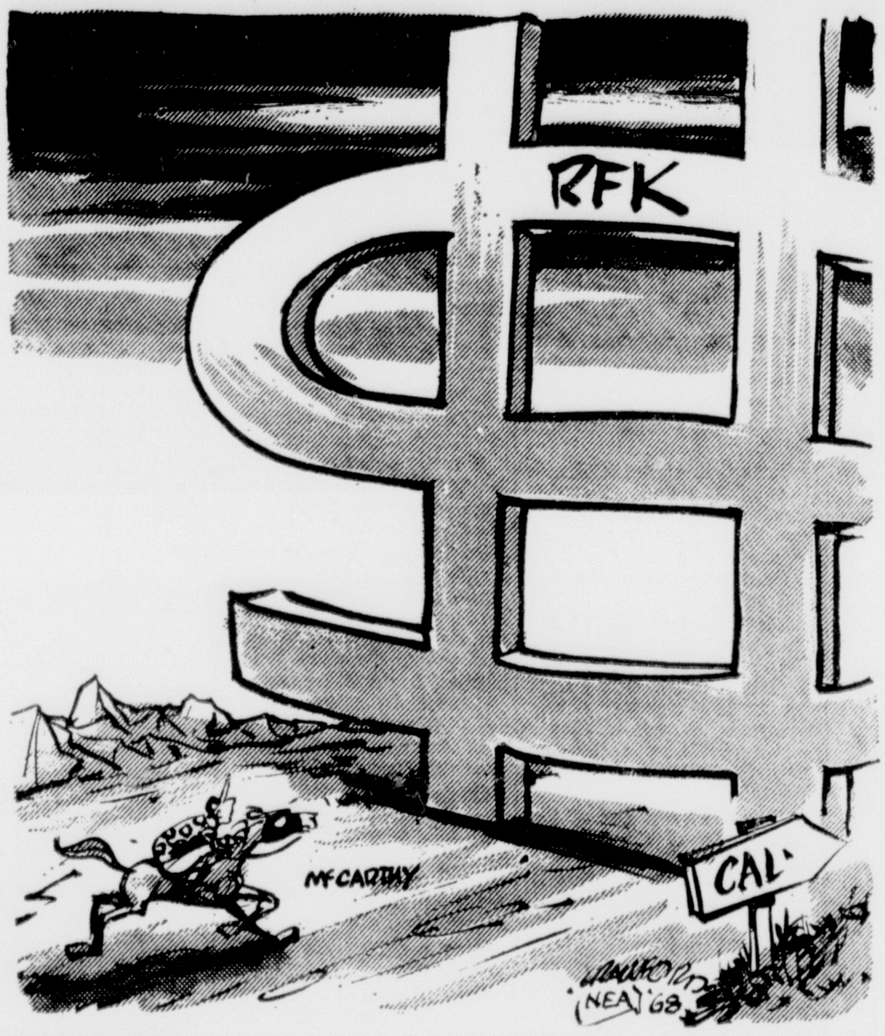
A Big Hurdle!



Read The Labels!

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — There are so many different kinds of clothes made of miracle fibers that one is hard put to remember the instructions on how to launder and clean them. Each new piece of clothing now comes with a long list of instructions explaining how the garment must be treated, plus many warnings about what will happen if the instructions aren't adhered to.

Art Buchwald

The other day I came home to find my wife washing my 45 per cent alphazate, 25 per cent prymnon, 30 per cent cotton turtleneck sweater. I was horrified to discover that she was washing it the wrong way. "You're supposed to wash that sweater in cold lamb's milk and you're washing it in warm lamb's milk."

"NO," SHE SAID. "I read the instructions quite clearly. You wash it in warm lamb's milk and then you rinse it in cold."

"You're thinking about my 100 per cent all kozel undershirts. My turtleneck sweater is just the opposite."

I was right, because as we were talking the turtleneck started to disintegrate before my eyes.

"That sweater cost me $12," I cried.

"I can't keep all of these washing instrucions straight," she said angrily.

"What are you going to do now?"

"I'm going to wash your 89 1-3 per cent rogiflex wash 'n' dry shirt."

"You have to use fresh essence of lime, mixed with distilled underground spring water," I reminded her.

"Are you sure? It seems to me that there was a warning attached to the shirt that if you use distilled underground spring water the colors would run."

"That only applies to shirts with French cuffs," I told her.

"Of course," she said. "What an idiot I am for not keeping it straight."

"What the blazes did you do with my socks?"

"Nothing. I put them in the washing machine, added virgin calf detergent, two tablecoons of chlorine and a cup of epsom salts, according to the instructions sewn in the sock."

I READ THE the instructions. "Did you set the washing machine at 7.5 revolutions per minute?"

"I tried to, but I had to hold it manually and my arm got tired," she confessed. "I guess at the end the machine was going 9 revolutions per minute. But I figured it didn't matter."

I threw down the socks in disgust. "If it didn't matter, why would they sew the instructions into the sock?"

She started to sob. I felt bad and said, "It's all right. I'll buy another pair of socks that can be washed at 9 revolutions per minute. Well, I think I'll put on my 100 per cent stay-pressed-forever seersucker suit."

I put on the pants. As I was inserting the belt, the legs, just below my hips, collapsed and fell to my ankles.

"What did you do to my suit?" I yelled.

"I had it dry-cleaned."

"You're not supposed to dry-clean a stay-pressed-forever material," I screamed. "Look, it says right here in the coat that the only way to clean it is to place it over an air-conditioning unit for 24 hours."

"I put your Nehru suit over the air-conditioning unit."

"The Nehru suit has to be dipped in naphtha and airline hydraulic fuel."

"IT DIDN'T SAY SO in the coat."

"The instructions were printed on the beads that came with the suit."

"Don't yell at me," my wife yelled. "If you bought suits made of wool and shirts made of cotton, you'd have something to wear tonight."

RAYMOND MOLEY

Goldwater Libel Suit

In summing up for the defense in Barry Goldwater's libel suit against the now defunct magazine, "Fact," its publisher and managing editor, the lawyer said the plaintiff's motive was to help his campaign for senator in Arizona.

That charge was absurd. For I was to'd during a visit in Phoenix three weeks ago by Goldwater's friends and associates that this lawsuit will either have no effect politically at all or will measurably hurt the former senator.

He is too well known there to need any defense of his honor and reputation. And no benefit can come from dragging out this matter in a long trial. In short, enemies will believe anything and friends will be stronger because of such an attack.

HIS OBJECTIVE lies beyond the jury's verdict in his favor. It is to establish in a clear-cut case in the U.S. Supreme Court the limits to which a public official or a candidate can be subjected to irresponsible, defamatory attacks.

For if limits to criticism can legally be established, many more good men and women will be induced to seek or hold public office. The beneficial effect of this upon our public life and government will be felt far beyond Barry Goldwater's career and the lives of all of us.

For certain recent decisions of the Supreme Court have cast a murk of doubt over the question whether there are any limits beyond which public figures are safe from scurrilous abuse.

Goldwater's suit was brought in a New York federal court against "Fact," its former publisher, Ralph Ginzburg, and its managing editor, Warren Boroson.

In October, 1964, the whole issue of "Fact" was devoted to the attack in question. The headline was: "1,189 Psychiatrists Say Goldwater Is Psychologically Unfit To Be President."

The magazine had sent a questionnaire to 12,356 psychiatrists listed as such by the American Medical Association (AMA). There were 2,417 replies. Of these, 657 said Goldwater was fit, 571 declined to take a position and 1,189 claimed him unfit. Among the comments of the latter group were such epithets as: "immature," grossly psychotic," "paranoid," "mass murderer," "amoral and immoral," "chronic schizophrenic and "dangerous lunatic."

The nonprofessional nature of the attacks were immediately condemned by the AMA and the American Psychiatric Association. But, of course, this professional repudiation came after the damage was done.

The publisher in question, Ginzburg, who had no professional competence at all, contributed an editorial full of the juicy Freudian jargon embedded in the replies.

Natchez Under Curfew Following Weekend Riot

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Jolted by a downtown riot, this river city spent a tightly buttoned up night under rigid curfew as police clamped down to prevent further violence.

"If things stay quiet I think the curfew will be lifted Wednesday," said City Attorney Joseph Zuccaro. "I expect the liquor ban to be lifted then, too."

With the city of 25,000 population under emergency law, 175 highway patrolmen were on hand to back up the 20-man police force.

The city, Adams County — and Vidalia, La., across the Mississippi River bridge from here — were shut down from 8:30 p.m. Sunday until 5:30 a.m. today except for travelers and certain exemptions, such as physicians or residents moving to or from jobs.

Except for neighborhood dogs, keyed to nervous alert by the strangeness of it all, little moved along the hilly streets. People who ventured out were stopped, questioned, frequently searched and sometimes arrested.

Zuccaro, named city spokesman by the Board of Aldermen, said 15 curfew violation arrests were recorded before midnight — in addition to 114 arrested during the day on concealed weapon charges.

Mayor John Nosser and the aldermen imposed temporary curfew and banned the sale of alcoholic beverages, guns, ammunition and knives after a riot was touched off by a shooting.

Enraged by a false rumor that a white man had killed a Negro, some 300 Negroes rampaged through a downtown section, smashing store windows. Two buildings were burned. Police said that some, but not much, looting was reported.

Nosser said 12 tear gas canisters were thrown and warning shots fired over the heads of the mob at one point.

"We had to do it," said Det. Capt. Frank Rickard. "They rushed us."

Police said the shooting that triggered the riot happened at a service station at 11:58 p.m. Saturday. The riot was under way by 12:30 a.m. Sunday. It wasn't completely put down until 4 a.m.

Three men arrested after the shooting—two young whites from West Monroe, La. and a Natchez Negro—were under $2,000 bond each. Two of them were recovering from pistol bullet wounds.

3 Die, 10 Hurt In Plant Blast

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Three persons were known dead and 10 injured in a pre-dawn explosion that ripped through a finishing room of the Utica-Mohawk plant of J. P. Stevens & Co.

Officials at the plant said there was a possibility that at least two more persons also were dead.

A gas furnace exploded shortly after 4 a.m. in a finishing room of the big textile mill, located on the outskirts of Clemson in northwestern South Carolina.

The explosion knocked a 100-foot hole in the ceiling and knocked down a concrete wall partition. Machinery in the room was crushed by the force of the blast.

Franklin Plans To Buy Property

SUMMITVILLE — A $2,000 deposit on purchase of a garage and property on Front St. was authorized by the Franklin Township trustees Saturday.

The garage and lot will be obtained from Mrs. Earl Rogers to provide additional storage space for equipment and materials. The township owns a garage on 3rd St.

Forrest Thompson, president, reported 4½ miles of roads have been oiled under the county program. Patching of blacktop is almost completed, he said. The next meeting will be June 15.

Praise Given Thomson For Benefactions

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — Lord Thomson of Fleet was lauded Sunday as a great man with a wealth of mind and heart with a sincere concern for the less fortunate.

The praise came in a citation accompanying an honorary doctor of laws degree conferred on the international newspaper and television magnate by Northern Michigan University.

Thomson, a native of Toronto, Ont., built a communications empire and was elevated to the peerage by Queen Elizabeth II on Jan. 1, 1964.

The citation noted that Thomson, who will be 74 years old Wednesday, was a self-made man, who ended his formal education when he was 14 because there was little money in his family.

Thomson, publisher of the London Times and the Brush-Moore group of newspapers in the United States, also owns more than 230 newspapers and magazines, plus television stations in England, the U. S., Ireland, Canada and Africa.

"But his contributions to his own times are not solely measured by acquisition and growing wealth," the citation said, adding:

"He has shared his wealth and has enriched the lives of others through his benefactions, particularly the Thomson Foundation, a charitable trust of five million pounds."

Local Man Fined In Newell Crash

A 20-year-old city man was fined $20 and costs Saturday afternoon for failure to yield the right - of - way as a result of a traffic mishap at 4th and Harrison Sts., Newell.

Thurman E. Trowbridge of 509 Sanford Ave. appeared before Justice of the Peace Lloyd Nalley of Newell after being charged by Constable Carl Durham.

The accident occurred at 2 p.m. when the Trowbridge car slid through the intersection, striking an auto driven by Judith Irene Leisure, 22, of 433 Orchard Grove Ave. Shirley Smith of 1424 Dresden Ave., a passenger in the Leisure car, was treated at City Hospital for a contusion of the right shoulder.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal to lower the voting age to 18 appears unlikely to win Congressional approval this year despite bipartisan sponsorship and President Johnson's endorsement.

That is the assessment of Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., whose Senate judiciary subcommittee completed three days of hearings on a proposed voting age constitutional amendment just before Johnson announced his support Wednesday of the idea. Bayh said there is increasing opposition mail linked to college campus disorders, voters in several states have rejected proposals to lower the voting age, and there likely is too little time left in the current session for action on the proposed amendment.

The proposal was introduced by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and co-sponsored by 21 other Democrats and 14 Republicans, including Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says it takes nearly $4,200 a year for the average retired couple with a mortgage-free home to maintain a moderate standard of living in a large city.

And that doesn't include unusual medical expenses, the department said in a report released over the weekend. It said couples who rent spent about $200 more a year than those who maintain their own homes.

The study by the Bureau of Labor Statistics is based on a 1966 survey, updated to reflect the 4.7 per cent rise in general living costs since then.

The bureau arrived at an average figure of $4,049 and said the annual living costs vary widely according to the size of the city.

White Goose Named 'Mac' Given Maddox

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Three Atlanta high school youths favored Gov. Lester Maddox Sunday with a nonpolitical donation —a white goose named Mac.

The boys, Jim Patton, Steve Bishoff and George Knight, said there was no particular occasion for the gift; they just wanted the governor to have it.

Maddox accepted the nearly grown gander and set it loose in the fountain in front of the governor's mansion.

There are no other geese on the premises, but Mac may find a playmate in another fountain dweller, Leaping Lester II, a frog.

FCC Members Hit Coverage Of Radio, TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of the Federal Communications Commission say most of the nation's 7,500 radio and television stations inadequately explain local events, and charge the other five FCC members aren't working to improve the situation.

Commissioners Kenneth A. Cox and Nicholas Johnson said if news and public affairs programming is not improved, there will no longer be a need for FCC policy decision to protect "local stations against a transformation of the broadcasting system."

They said the FCC does this by encouraging the growth of small, local UHF television stations, regulating cable television and refusing to let big radio stations increase power beyond 50,000 watts so they can be heard at greater distances.

But despite these efforts, Cox and Johnson said, "the concept of local service is a myth."

Their comments were in a report released during the weekend of a three-month study of Oklahoma's radio and television stations. They said Oklahoma was chosen for convenience, and that the broadcast situation there is typical of the nationwide pattern regarding local service.

TVS's first assignment was to construct a system of dams and reservoirs to promote navigation and control destructive flood waters on the Tennessee River and its tributaries.

Man Prefers Prison To 'Outside' World

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Paul Spinner, 40, who has served 14 years of a life sentence on a murder conviction, is back behind bars after a weekend of roaming about Michigan.

Spinner walked away from the Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson Saturday. He turned himself in at the state police post in East Lansing Sunday.

After hitch-hiking through the state, Spinner told police he could not cope with the outside world and the changes in it, and he preferred being behind bars.

Graduation Held By Kindergarten

The annual commencement of the Newell kindergarten was held Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Methodist Church, with some 100 attending.

Opennig prayer was given by the Rev. Donzel B. Wease.

A short program was presented by the graduating class under the direction of Mrs. Anne Mae Harris, teacher.

Mrs. Anita Guire, vice president of the Newell Junior Woman's Club which sponsors the kindergarten, presented diplomas.

Mrs. Harris received a gift and a corsage from the club.

A reception was held in the church social rooms. Punch and cookies were served. The table centerpiece was a "wise old owl" and each child was given a favor in the shape of a book of knowledge.

Serving were Mrs. Kathy Eck, Mrs. Fran O'Hanin, Mrs. Susan Geisse and Mrs. Marge Beckner.

Army Command Sgt. Maj. Earl T. Rayburn, son of Mrs. Jean Rayburn of 34-B Midland Heights, Midland, is serving with the Army Joint Support Command at Ft. Ritchie, Md.

He arrived there after completing a tour of duty with the 4th Armored Division, Artillery, in Zirndorf, Germany. He was among the first 190 sergeants-major to be selected by the Department of the Army for its new command sergeant major program.

Rayburn and his wife, Wanda Louise, have two children, Michael, 13, and Gabrielle, 10. They reside at Ft. Ritchie.

George M. Vadjinia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Vadjinia Jr. of Empire, has been promoted to corporal while serving with the 1st Marine Division in Vietnam, where he has been since November.

Graduated from Steubenville Catholic Central High School in 1964, he was employed by the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Corp., before joining the service.

Vadjinia is married to the former Judy Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Watkins of 1612 Maple Ave., Wellsville. She and their two-month-old daughter, Toni Kay, reside with her parents.

Army Pfc. James L. Wolfe, 24, son of Mrs. Grace E. Wolfe of 174 8th St., Midland, and Francis E. Wolfe of Hubbard, Ohio, has been assigned as an infantryman in the 25th Infantry Division near Tay Ninh, Vietnam. His wife, Nancie, lives at Industry RD 2.

Navy Equipment Operator 3C Richard H. Dobronz, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Dobronz of 2208 Midland - Beaver Rd., Industry, is helping to construct military support facilities as a Seabee at Chu Lai, Vietnam. His unit also is engaged in a civic action program designed to assist the Vietnamese people in completing self - help projects.

Marine Lance Clp. Allan R. Petrich of Darlington RD 2 is serving with the 3rd Battalion, 9th Marine Regiment in the northern provinces of South Vietnam.

White Goose Named 'Mac' Given Maddox

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Three Atlanta high school youths favored Gov. Lester Maddox Sunday with a nonpolitical donation —a white goose named Mac.

The boys, Jim Patton, Steve Bishoff and George Knight, said there was no particular occasion for the gift; they just wanted the governor to have it.

Maddox accepted the nearly grown gander and set it loose in the fountain in front of the governor's mansion.

There are no other geese on the premises, but Mac may find a playmate in another fountain dweller, Leaping Lester II, a frog.

FCC Members Hit Coverage Of Radio, TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of the Federal Communications Commission say most of the nation's 7,500 radio and television stations inadequately explain local events, and charge the other five FCC members aren't working to improve the situation.

Commissioners Kenneth A. Cox and Nicholas Johnson said if news and public affairs programming is not improved, there will no longer be a need for FCC policy decision to protect "local stations against a transformation of the broadcasting system."

They said the FCC does this by encouraging the growth of small, local UHF television stations, regulating cable television and refusing to let big radio stations increase power beyond 50,000 watts so they can be heard at greater distances.

But despite these efforts, Cox and Johnson said, "the concept of local service is a myth."

Their comments were in a report released during the weekend of a three-month study of Oklahoma's radio and television stations. They said Oklahoma was chosen for convenience, and that the broadcast situation there is typical of the nationwide pattern regarding local service.

TVS's first assignment was to construct a system of dams and reservoirs to promote navigation and control destructive flood waters on the Tennessee River and its tributaries.

Graduation Party Is Held At Glenmoor

Corsages were presented Mrs. Nellie Harper, first-grade teacher and Miss Elizabeth Coleman, principal. Receiving gifts were Mrs. Carol Fetty, sixth - grade home room teacher; Robert Apel, sixth-grade teacher, and Ralph Fry, janitor.

Mrs. Virginia Montgomery, chairman for the event, was assisted by Mrs. Betty Heald, Mrs. Vonnie Johnston,, Mrs. Joyce Hopper, Mrs. Dea Woods, Mrs. Barbara Henderson and Mrs. Margaret Clutter.

Man Prefers Prison To 'Outside' World

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Paul Spinner, 40, who has served 14 years of a life sentence on a murder conviction, is back behind bars after a weekend of roaming about Michigan.

Spinner walked away from the Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson Saturday. He turned himself in at the state police post in East Lansing Sunday.

After hitch-hiking through the state, Spinner told police he could not cope with the outside world and the changes in it, and he preferred being behind bars.

Graduation Held By Kindergarten

The annual commencement of the Newell kindergarten was held Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Methodist Church, with some 100 attending.

Opennig prayer was given by the Rev. Donzel B. Wease.

A short program was presented by the graduating class under the direction of Mrs. Anne Mae Harris, teacher.

Mrs. Anita Guire, vice president of the Newell Junior Woman's Club which sponsors the kindergarten, presented diplomas.

Mrs. Harris received a gift and a corsage from the club.

A reception was held in the church social rooms. Punch and cookies were served. The table centerpiece was a "wise old owl" and each child was given a favor in the shape of a book of knowledge.

Golfer Buried By 18th Green

STOW, Mass. (AP) — Edward Faber of Mansfield loved to play golf so much he wanted to be buried by the 18th green of the Stow Acres Country Club.

Faber died Feb. 14 at the age of 62. A memorial service was held at dusk Saturday on the 18th green. Sunday golfers noted with some incredulity the grave covering of flowers with two golf balls nestled in the stems.

Faber requested in his will that his cremated remains be buried on the course he so often played.

Robert Page, who owns the course with a brother, said "Some people thought it was a joke. Later, when they believed, they thought we were out of our minds. But we are serious. We think it is kind of nice."

Faber's widow said she was still somewhat taken aback by her husband's request, although "he talked often of it."

"He just loved the game so much," she said, "and this is what he really wanted, so I think it is nice. I am happy."

She said she was surprised and pleased by the cooperation of the owners.

"It wasn't easy to have to call them and say that my husband wanted to be buried on the green. I mean how do you explain something like that?"

The Page brothers said they were first stunned by the request but felt honored.

They said some of the club members seemed a bit upset, but one latter added, "It'll turn out all right. Who knows, the players might even find it a help. Some golfer might overshoot the green and there will be a friendly hand now to tap the ball back toward the green."

They plan to erect a plaque to mark the grave. "We thought that if he cared enough about the course we could do a little something for him out there," Robert Page said.

The memorial stone, he said, will bear the inscription: "In memory of Edward Faber, 1906—1968. Happy here with friends playing golf—the game he loved."

Miss Patricia Ann Tenzek Weds In Dungannon Rites

St. Philip Neri Catholic Church at Dungannon was the setting for the wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Tenzek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tenzek of Lisbon RD 2, and Robert J. Reynolds Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reynolds of Wellsville RD 1.

Miss Josephine Fury was at the organ for the Nuptial Mass. Vocal selections by Art Hassely included "On This Day O' Beautiful Mother" as the bride placed a bouquet at the foot of the Blessed Virgin.

—:—

THE BRIDE, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a slipper-length gown styled with an empire alencon lace bodice, long fitted sleeves, sabrina neckline and a peau sheath skirt which flowed into a chapel train, enhanced throughout with lace appliques. A crown of pearls and crystal held her nylon illusion elbow veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white rose buds, stephanotis and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Elaine Tenzek was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Jeanie and Miss Kathy Tenzek, all sisters of the bride.

Paul Peppel of Lisbon RD 5 served his nephew as best man. Ushers were Donald Rizer of East Liverpool and John and Andrew Tenzek, brothers of the bride.

A RECEPTION for some 100 guests followed the ceremony in the church hall. Mrs. John Marshalek, aunt of the bride, was in charge, assisted by cousins of the bride, Mrs. Paul Roethlesberger, Mrs. Jack Marshalek and Miss Elizabeth Tenzek.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds were graduated from Beaver Local High School in 1966.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I repair tears or open seams in cellophane?

A. — Overlap the edges of cellophane, and press with a medium - warm iron until the edges are securely welded together.

Q. — How can I clean stained wallpaper?

A. — Fingermarks can sometimes be removed by rubbing over them with a piece of bread. A fresh grease spot will often come off if you hold a piece of white blotting paper or facial tissue over it with a warm iron. Also, many marks will yield to careful use of a soft art - gum eraser.

Q. — What is an easy method of cleaning soiled neckties?

A. — Fill a fruit jar to within two or three inches of the top with dry-cleaning solvent, then drop your tie in, screw the top of the jar on tightly, and shake vigorously to loosen the dirt. Remove the tie, and hang in a well ventilated spot to dry.

Q. — Is there anything I can do about slightly scorched woolens?

A. — Sometimes these can be made right again if you'll wet the spots, then rub dry cornstarch over them, brushing this off when the article is dry.

Miss Janet Cramer Weds In Tabernacle Ceremony

Miss Janet Cramer of 2212 Crawford Ave. became the bride of James C. Boulson of Steubenville in ceremonies May 18 at 3:30 p.m. at the Friendship Gospel Tabernacle here in the presence of some 100.

The Rev. Charles S. Taylor officiated.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Cramer of Wellsville RD 1 and he the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boulson of S. 4th St., Steubenville.

—:—

Mrs. Penny Langdon of East Liverpool, matron of honor, was attired in a full-length gown of two-tone blue, with blue accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of carnations, daisies and rosebuds tinted blue.

The bride was given away by her father. George Bennett of LaCroft was best man and Mike Cramer of Wellsville, brother of the bride, and David Smith of Wellsville were ushers.

A DINNER followed in the Jaycee Hall at Wellsville. It was given by Mrs. Dora Cramer. Aides were Marian Nixon, Cindy Cramer, Hazel Powell and Vesta Digman. A pink-and-white color scheme was featured. The wedding cake was baked by the bride's mother.

Papers, Unions Halt Negotiations

DETROIT (AP) — Deadlocked on a handful of key issues, striking unions and publishers of two major newspapers have recessed negotiations until Wednesday.

Both sides broke off talks after a 9½-hour bargaining session Sunday when the chief labor mediator, Dr. Nathan Feinsinger, returned to Madison, Wis.

Feinsinger, a labor relations expert at the University of Wisconsin, said he was committed to work on a teacher dispute in Wisconsin but would return to Detroit Tuesday night and reopen talks "early Wednesday morning."

The recess ended a round of talks which started on Memorial Day between top officials of the Detroit News and Detroit Free Press and four striking unions.

The shutdown entered its 201st day today.

'Know Yourselves,' Seniors Are Advised

EAST PALESTINE — The 142 seniors of East Palestine High School were urged to "know yourselves in order to take your place in the world" at baccalaureate rites Sunday.

The Rev. Guy Smith of the Emmanual United Brethren Church spoke.

Commencement will be Tuesday night at 8 at the high school. Authorities said 100 tickets will be sold on a first-come basis starting at 7.

What Does NSM Mean to You?

NSM stands for National Selected Morticians, a non-profit organization of over 700 bona fide, independently owned mortuaries located in the U.S., Canada and a number of foreign countries.. Founded in 1917, NSM is a well established, international organization of funeral directors.

A funeral home belonging to NSM is your personal guarantee that the owner is pledged to the highest ethical standards as prescribed by NSM, and must maintain them in practice. NSM membership is by invitation, and only firms operating "bona fide" establishments are eligible to receive this invitation. To qualify, a funeral home must have their own licensed personnel, provide complete services and have their own building and equipment to render these services. They must operate in accord with fair business practices, including the open pricing on services in plain, understandable figures.

HOW ARE NSM STANDARDS MAINTAINED?

Every NSM member is inspected regularly by an impartial, fully qualified investigator. The NSM membership invitation is extended to a firm subject to review and approval by the Board of Control. In order to remain an NSM member, every firm has to maintain high standards of service.

Miss Patricia Ann Tenzek Weds In Dungannon Rites

St. Philip Neri Catholic Church at Dungannon was the setting for the wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Tenzek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tenzek of Lisbon RD 2, and Robert I. Reynolds Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reynolds of Wellsville RD 1.

Miss Josephine Fury was at the organ for the Nuptial Mass. Vocal selections by Art Hassely included "On This Day O' Beautiful Mother" as the bride placed a bouquet at the foot of the Blessed Virgin.

—:—

THE BRIDE, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a slipper-length gown styled with an empire alencon lace bodice, long fitted sleeves, sabrina neckline and a peau sheath skirt which flowed into a chapel train, enhanced throughout with lace appliques. A crown of pearls and crystal held her nylon illusion elbow veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white rose buds, stephanotis and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Elaine Tenzek was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Jeanie and Miss Kathy Tenzek, all sisters of the bride.

Paul Peppel of Lisbon RD 5 served his nephew as best man. Ushers were Donald Rizer of East Liverpool and John and Andrew Tenzek, brothers of the bride.

A RECEPTION for some 100 guests followed the ceremony in the church hall. Mrs. John Marshalek, aunt of the bride, was in charge, assisted by cousins of the bride, Mrs. Paul Roethlesberger, Mrs. Jack Marshalek and Miss Elizabeth Tenzek.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds were graduated from Beaver Local High School in 1966.

Miss Janet Cramer Weds In Tabernacle Ceremony

Miss Janet Cramer of 2212 Crawford Ave. became the bride of James C. Boulson of Steubenville in ceremonies May 18 at 3:30 p.m. at the Friendship Gospel Tabernacle here in the presence of some 100.

The Rev. Charles S. Taylor officiated.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Cramer of Wellsville RD 1 and he the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boulson of S. 4th St., Steubenville.

—:—

Mrs. Penny Langdon of East Liverpool, matron of honor, was attired in a full-length gown of two-tone blue, with blue accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of carnations, daisies and rosebuds tinted blue.

The bride was given away by her father. George Bennett of LaCroft was best man and Mike Cramer of Wellsville, brother of the bride, and David Smith of Wellsville were ushers.

A DINNER followed in the Jaycee Hall at Wellsville. It was given by Mrs. Dora Cramer. Aides were Marian Nixon, Cindy Cramer, Hazel Powell and Vesta Digman. A pink-and-white color scheme was featured. The wedding cake was baked by the bride's mother.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I repair tears or open seams in cellophane?

A. — Overlap the edges of cellophane, and press with a medium - warm iron until the edges are securely welded together.

Q. — How can I clean stained wallpaper?

A. — Fingermarks can sometimes be removed by rubbing over them with a piece of bread. A fresh grease spot will often come off if you hold a piece of white blotting paper or facial tissue over it with a warm iron. Also, many marks will yield to careful use of a soft art - gum eraser.

Q. — What is an easy method of cleaning soiled neckties?

A. — Fill a fruit jar to within two or three inches of the top with dry-cleaning solvent, then drop your tie in, screw the top of the jar on tightly, and shake vigorously to loosen the dirt. Remove the tie, and hang in a well ventilated spot to dry.

Q. — Is there anything I can do about slightly scorched woolens?

A. — Sometimes these can be made right again if you'll wet the spots, then rub dry cornstarch over them, brushing this off when the article is dry.

Papers, Unions Halt Negotiations

DETROIT (AP) — Deadlocked on a handful of key issues, striking unions and publishers of two major newspapers have recessed negotiations until Wednesday.

Both sides broke off talks after a 9½-hour bargaining session Sunday when the chief labor mediator, Dr. Nathan Feinsinger, returned to Madison, Wis.

Feinsinger, a labor relations expert at the University of Wisconsin, said he was committed to work on a teacher dispute in Wisconsin but would return to Detroit Tuesday night and reopen talks "early Wednesday morning."

The recess ended a round of talks which started on Memorial Day between top officials of the Detroit News and Detroit Free Press and four striking unions.

The shutdown entered its 201st day today.

'Know Yourselves,' Seniors Are Advised

EAST PALESTINE — The 142 seniors of East Palestine High School were urged to "know yourselves in order to take your place in the world" at baccalaureate rites Sunday.

The Rev. Guy Smith of the Emmanual United Brethren Church spoke.

Commencement will be Tuesday night at 8 at the high school. Authorities said 100 tickets will be sold on a first-come basis starting at 7.

Commencement Tuesday

Exercises Held For United Class

HANOVERTON — The Rev. Gilbert Thomas of the Trinity Friends Church used Christ's parable of the prodigal son as the theme for the 10th annual baccalaureate service Sunday night at United High School.

Five seniors will have individual roles in commencement exercises at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday in the auditorium.

In addition, the concert band directed by John Howell will play the processional and recessional and special music will be furnished by a brass quartet and a senior vocal ensemble directed by Miss Betty Jean Willis.

STUDENTS on the program will be Kathleen Burick, welcome; Gerda Ziegler, oration, "Voice of Youth;" Betsy Brantingham, flute solo, "Sonata No. 5" (Handel); Terry Drake, class president, oration, "Youth's Challenge To Society," and John Jewell, oration, "Discontent, A Way Of Progress."

The Rev. Robert Randolph of the Kensington Methodist Church will give the invocation and the Rev. Thomas Miller of the New Alexander Christian Church the benediction.

Preaching on the subject "He Couldn't Afford It, Can You?" Rev. Thomas said the prodigal son found out there were two things he could not afford to do — disregard wise counsel and give in to his baser desires.

THE MINISTER, whose son Rodney is among the 85 seniors, told the class:

"As a minister, I must warn you the prodigal had the price . . . . but he found it was too steep. In life you will find many situations in which you will have the price at hand, but can you afford it? He couldn't, can you? Let this be a challenge and guideline in your lives."

Supt. Chester Brautigam announced that the greenery and floral decorations were given and arranged by Maynard Brantingham, Winona nurseryman whose daughter Betsy is a senior, and the organ was loaned by Lloyd Bailey of Teegarden.

Four other ministers participated in the service:

The Rev. Herman Strawn of the New Garden Methodist Church, invocation; the Rev. Robert Parish of the Phillips Christian Church, Scripture; the Rev. David Brantingham of the Winona Friends Church, prayer, and the Rev. Charles Bulger of the Bethesda Presbyterian Church, benediction.

UNITED'S chapter of the American Field Service held a reception in the new cafeteria after the service for Juscelio (Joe) Vidal of Brazil, who attended United this year as an exchange student. He will be one of the graduates.

The 10 top students wore gold cords on their gowns. Alphabetically, they are Rose Mary Blanchard, Kathleen Burick, Christine Gruszecki, Marilyn Handwork, John Jewell, Timothy Loudon, Rodney Thomas, Robert Welker, Betty Windle and Gerda Ziegler.

Mary Adams, Evelyn Allison, Christine Baker, Marlene Barker, Daisy Beall, Wencil Bishel, Keith Blackburn, George Bowman, June Bowman, Joyce Briceland.

Drivers Hospitized

Patrol Lists Six Hurt In Wrecks

Six district residents were injured in three of six traffic mishaps investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon over the weekend.

Three were injured in a three-car collision Sunday on Route 165 just west of East Palestine.

In "satisfactory" condition at Rochester General Hospital is Frank Cordes of Rochester with possible injuries of the ribs and contusions of the head.

Treated at the hospital was his wife, Mrs. May Mary Cordes. Also injured in the mishap was Ronald L. Cochran, 21, of Tulie Center, Pa., who was to visit a physician.

Officers said the accident occurred at 6:30 p. m. when Cochran, attempting to overtake eastbound traffic, collided with the westbound Cordes car, continued on and struck another west bound car operated by Robert W. Werner, 20, of 148 W. Adams St. East Palestine.

The Cordes and Cochran cars received heavy damage, and the Werner car was damaged moderately, officers reported.

COCHRAN was cited by the Patrol for public intoxication.

A Lorain man was injured seriously as the result of a car-truck collision Saturday on Route 7 just north of Wellsville.

Officers said the mishap took place at 3:30 p. m. when Kriwenkow, headed north, was overtaking the tractor-trailer, operated by Donald L. Harnett, 40, of Kinsman, Ohio, when he saw another vehicle halted on the roadway to make a left turn.

Kriwenkow told officers he was unable to stop, so he swerved to the right and crashed into the Harnett truck.

TWO PENNSYLVANIA women were taken to Salem City Hospital following a one - car mishap east of Rogers Saturday.

Treated were Susan Marie Loncar, 20, of Industry RD 1, driver of the auto who suffered contusions and bruises of the left side of the forehead, and a passenger in the car, Eileen Onuska, 19, of Beaver, who received a sprain to the right ankle.

The 1965 coach operated by the Loncar woman was damaged on the right front and side when it went off the north side of Route 154 at 8:20 p.m., continued over an embankment and came to rest against a large rock.

A car was damaged moderately in a car-truck mishap near Negley Sunday at 5:10 p.m.

The 1965 convertible operated by Everett Huston of Negley RD 1 was damaged on the right front when it skidded into the rear of a pick-up truck stopped behind a third vehicle making a left turn on Route 170 about six miles south of Route 154.

Forrest Johnson, 65, of Steubenville was the driver of the pick-up truck, officers reported. Huston was cited by the patrol for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

THREE drivers were involved in two other traffic mishaps investigated by the patrol Saturday.

A 1967 coach, operated by Barry P. Cooper, 16, of Calcutta was damaged on the right rear when it was struck from behind by a 1968 coach driven by Richard Bissell, 32, of S. Surrey Rd. while exiting from a private driveway.

The mishap occurred on Route 170 about 4½ miles south of Route 164 at 6:30 p. m., officers said.

A 1966 coach operated by George Schmidt, 17, of 709 Alton St. received slight damage to the right side and undercarriage when it went out of control on the wet pavement of County Rd. 435 about three miles south of County Rd. 430 at 8 p. m.

An Air Force "Venus Flytrap" rocket collected what is probably the first samples of dust ever retrieved from space, in 1961. At a height of 47 miles, the rocket opened eight metal leaves, which were promptly struck by about 10 particles per square centimeter each second.

Vietnam

used by the Viet Cong as a command post, from the bombing and rocketing which have leveled several buildings and damaged a score more.

The late President Ngo Dinh Diem took refuge in the same church in 1963 after his government was overthrown. South Vietnamese troops dragged him from the church and assassinated him inside an armored personnel carrier nearby.

Fighting Continues

Fighting in the area about three miles west of the presidential palace has been going on since Friday. South Vietnamese rangers and tanks blasted the concrete hiding places of Viet Cong snipers with their 90mm cannon, and squeezed about 30 guerrillas into a four-block area.

Little firing by the guerrillas was reported this morning. A U.S. adviser to the government troops said the Viet Cong apparently were saving ammunition for a final fight.

To meet the new threat in Gia Dinh, South Vietnamese bombers attacked enemy positions and approach routes to the city. Little ground fighting was reported, however.

Looting

in the raids on the radios and other items.

Several soldiers passed around British cigarettes, the most expensive smoker's item on the black market. Soldiers displayed shiny new American gas lighters, and some wore gold or silver tie clasps on the front of their dirty uniforms.

Sometimes the looting seems directly tied to how heavy the fighting is, when they are on the move and attacking, the soldiers seem to pass up luxury items although they do scoop up food, soft drinks and cigarettes wherever they find them.

Some of the troops fired bursts from their M16 rifles to break the locks on the steel shutters protecting the fronts of shops in the area.

Many businessmen stuck to their stores to prevent looting even though endangered by the fighting. Since the outbreak of street fighting in Saigon during the Viet Cong's Tet offensive last February, there have been repeated complaints not only of looting but of senseless smashing of whatever could not be carried off.

Talks

party newspaper Pravda endorsed the peace talks anew and restated its support for North Vietnam's position. Pravda made this statement:

"It seems clear there are many concrete problems which must be discussed but there is only one question (ending the U.S. attacks on the North) which must be regulated at first in the present talks."

The word 'regulated" caught the attention of experts here. It seemed much softer than others which might have been used, such as "decided" or "settled".

U.S. authorities were faced once more with a question of interpretation which becomes significant because of the failure of the discussions here over several weeks to shed any new light on any of the problems and issues involved in Vietnam peace making.

"The Communists don't use words lightly in a situation like this," one diplomat said. "And obviously Le Duc Tho isn't coming all this distance just for the ride."

Steel

agreed to during the weekend by the Steelworkers Union, which represents half of the 60,000 aluminum workers, and the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers which represents about 4,700 workers of Alcoa. The Auto Workers staged a one-day strike before settling late Saturday.

The Aluminum Workers Union, however, turned down the United Steelworkers formula, which usually sets the pattern for the industry. The smaller union called out 11,000 members at Alcoa and 4,000 at Reynolds.

Earl Carlton Retires From YMCA Position

Earl Carlton of Muncie, Ind., formerly of East Liverpool, has retired after many years in YMCA work.

Carlton submitted his resignation recently as executive secretary of the Muncie 'Y.' He expects to make his future home in Florida.

Carlton served several years as general secretary of the East Liverpool 'Y,' leaving here in 1942 to take a similar post at Zanesville. He came to East Liverpool from Quincy, Ill.

Carlton served two or three years at Zanesville and then took the post at Muncie which he held until his retirement.

Membership Drive

NAACP Chapter Sets Goal Of 300

A membership goal of 300 by July 15 was set during a kick-off breakfast of the East Liverpool NAACP Saturday at the First Baptist Church.

Harold C. Strickland, field director for the Ohio NAACP, was guest speaker. Seventy-five attended.

Membership is open to both Negroes and whites, it was pointed out.

He explained the various legal methods available to local branches to fight discriminatory practices and stressed the importance of breaking down the barriers in education by way of more Negro teachers and also better counseling.

He also suggested that the history of the Negro should be included in textbooks of the public schools.

The Rev. D. R. Salisbury, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, was toastmaster, Richard Carter gave the welcome and Nelson Hagerty, bank executive, and Clyde Christian, second vice president of the local branch, offered remarks.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. E. H. Harris of the host church.

Following the breakfast, a District 3 meeting was conducted by Nathaniel Lee of Youngstown, Ohio state president. He discussed problems that exist in several cities and said that one way to combat the problem is by increasing membership. He said that integrated membership is important to all branches to help bring about better race relations.

The next local branch meeting will be held Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Resources Center, 514 Mulberry St.

Kennedy, McCarthy Set For California Primary

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rival Democrats Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy, more vigorous debaters at a distance than face-to-face, staged their final search for votes today in California's climactic presidential primary Tuesday.

Kennedy ranked as the favorite in a three-sided race for 174 nominating votes at the Democratic National Convention—and for the political propulsion of an endorsement from the nation's most populous state.

The third entry: An uncommitted slate of delegates headed by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch. That line on the Democratic ballot is as close as a Californian can come to voting for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, for write-in votes are not permitted.

The whole show was on the Democratic side. Gov. Ronald Reagan, cast as a favorite son, was alone on the Republican ballot, which will award him 86 GOP convention votes.

Two-thirds of the more than 7.9 million voters in California were expected to cast ballots.

The latest State Poll published today by the Los Angeles Times gave this result of a poll Saturday of 1,007 persons: Kennedy 36 per cent, McCarthy 31, Lynch delegation 15, undecided 18.

The poll said undecided voters could swing the election and that McCarthy would be helped by a large voter turnout.

McCarthy concentrated on the Los Angeles area today in winding up a campaign in which he seemed determined to sharpen the differences between his views and Kennedy's.

He chose terms far stronger than those he used Saturday night in the feature show of the campaign—a nationally televised McCarthy-Kennedy confrontation in San Francisco.

For his part, Kennedy said he wanted to avoid bitterness in the California campaign, forecast victory and proposed anew that he and McCarthy join forces after the final primary ballots are cast. His windup campaign rounds included San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego.

Plans Completed For Scholarship Awards Dinner

Reservations for the annual Citizens Scholarship Foundation awards dinner June 11 are to be turned in by Wednesday, Mrs. Eugene Seeley, program vice president, announced today.

Scholarships will be presented to students — high school and college — in the seven area school districts in the Foundation.

Rey Peduzzi, trustee for the Midland School District, will be master of ceremonies for the event to be held at 6:30 at St. Aloysius Catholic Church School.

The participating districts include East Liverpool, Wellsville, Beaver Local, Midland, Oak Glen, South Side and Western Beaver.

Three representatives from each district served on the 21-member awards committee which selected the recipients this year.

Representatives of industries, business and civic groups will present the scholarships.

Ted Taylor is president. Mrs. Seeley said reservations may be made by telephoning 385-1490.

Government officials in Kenya have undertaken a program to persuade the 100,000 nomadic Masai to settle down and raise cattle on ranches. It is part of a plan to bolster the nation's livestock industry. For centuries the Masai have herded cattle across the high grasslands of Tenya and Tanzania.

Commencement Tuesday

Exercises Held For United Class

HANOVERTON — The Rev. Gilbert Thomas of the Trinity Friends Church used Christ's parable of the prodigal son as the theme for the 10th annual baccalaureate service Sunday night at United High School.

Five seniors will have individual roles in commencement exercises at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday in the auditorium.

In addition, the concert band directed by John Howell will play the processional and recessional and special music will be furnished by a brass quartet and a senior vocal ensemble directed by Miss Betty Jean Willis.

STUDENTS on the program will be Kathleen Burick, welcome; Gerda Ziegler, oration, "Voice of Youth;" Betsy Brantingham, flute solo, "Sonata No. 5" (Handel); Terry Drake, class president, oration, "Youth's Challenge To Society," and John Jewell, oration, "Discontent, A Way Of Progress."

The Rev. Robert Randolph of the Kensington Methodist Church will give the invocation and the Rev. Thomas Miller of the New Alexander Christian Church the benediction.

Preaching on the subject "He Couldn't Afford It, Can You?" Rev. Thomas said the prodigal son found out there were two things he could not afford to do — disregard wise counsel and give in to his baser desires.

THE MINISTER, whose son Rodney is among the 85 seniors, told the class:

"As a minister, I must warn you the prodigal had the price . . . . but he found it was too steep. In life you will find many situations in which you will have the price at hand, but can you afford it? He couldn't, can you? Let this be a challenge and guideline in your lives."

Supt. Chester Brautigam announced that the greenery and floral decorations were given and arranged by Maynard Brantingham, Winona nurseryman whose daughter Betsy is a senior, and the organ was loaned by Lloyd Bailey of Teegarden.

The Rev. Herman Strawn of the New Garden Methodist Church, invocation; the Rev. Robert Parish of the Phillips Christian Church, Scripture; the Rev. David Brantingham of the Winona Friends Church, prayer, and the Rev. Charles Bulger of the Bethesda Presbyterian Church, benediction.

UNITED'S chapter of the American Field Service held a reception in the new cafeteria after the service for Juscelio (Joe) Vidal of Brazil, who attended United this year as an exchange student. He will be one of the graduates.

The 10 top students wore gold cords on their gowns. Alphabetically, they are Rose Mary Blanchard, Kathleen Burick, Christine Gruszecki, Marilyn Handwork, John Jewell, Timothy Loudon, Rodney Thomas, Robert Welker, Betty Windle and Gerda Ziegler.

Drivers Hospitized

Patrol Lists Six Hurt In Wrecks

Six district residents were injured in three of six traffic mishaps investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon over the weekend.

Three were injured in a three-car collision Sunday on Route 165 just west of East Palestine.

In "satisfactory" condition at Rochester General Hospital is Frank Cordes of Rochester with possible injuries of the ribs and contusions of the head.

Treated at the hospital was his wife, Mrs. May Mary Cordes. Also injured in the mishap was Ronald L. Cochran, 21, of Tulie Center, Pa., who was to visit a physician.

Officers said the accident occurred at 6:30 p. m. when Cochran, attempting to overtake eastbound traffic, collided with the westbound Cordes car, continued on and struck another west bound car operated by Robert W. Werner, 20, of 148 W. Adams St. East Palestine.

The Cordes and Cochran cars received heavy damage, and the Werner car was damaged moderately, officers reported.

COCHRAN was cited by the Patrol for public intoxication.

A Lorain man was injured seriously as the result of a car-truck collision Saturday on Route 7 just north of Wellsville.

Officers said the mishap took place at 3:30 p. m. when Kriwenkow, headed north, was overtaking the tractor-trailer, operated by Donald L. Harnett, 40, of Kinsman, Ohio, when he saw another vehicle halted on the roadway to make a left turn.

Kriwenkow told officers he was unable to stop, so he swerved to the right and crashed into the Harnett truck.

Treated were Susan Marie Loncar, 20, of Industry RD 1, driver of the auto who suffered contusions and bruises of the left side of the forehead, and a passenger in the car, Eileen Onuska, 19, of Beaver, who received a sprain to the right ankle.

The 1965 coach operated by the Loncar woman was damaged on the right front and side when it went off the north side of Route 154 at 8:20 p.m., continued over an embankment and came to rest against a large rock.

A car was damaged moderately in a car-truck mishap near Negley Sunday at 5:10 p.m.

The 1965 convertible operated by Everett Huston of Negley RD 1 was damaged on the right front when it skidded into the rear of a pick-up truck stopped behind a third vehicle making a left turn on Route 170 about six miles south of Route 154.

Forrest Johnson, 65, of Steubenville was the driver of the pick-up truck, officers reported. Huston was cited by the patrol for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

THREE drivers were involved in two other traffic mishaps investigated by the patrol Saturday.

A 1967 coach, operated by Barry P. Cooper, 16, of Calcutta was damaged on the right rear when it was struck from behind by a 1968 coach driven by Richard Bissell, 32, of S. Surrey Rd. while exiting from a private driveway.

The mishap occurred on Route 170 about 4½ miles south of Route 164 at 6:30 p. m., officers said.

A 1966 coach operated by George Schmidt, 17, of 709 Alton St. received slight damage to the right side and undercarriage when it went out of control on the wet pavement of County Rd. 435 about three miles south of County Rd. 430 at 8 p. m.

An Air Force "Venus Flytrap" rocket collected what is probably the first samples of dust ever retrieved from space, in 1961. At a height of 47 miles, the rocket opened eight metal leaves, which were promptly struck by about 10 particles per square centimeter each second.

used by the Viet Cong as a command post, from the bombing and rocketing which have leveled several buildings and damaged a score more.

The late President Ngo Dinh Diem took refuge in the same church in 1963 after his government was overthrown. South Vietnamese troops dragged him from the church and assassinated him inside an armored personnel carrier nearby.

Fighting Continues

Fighting in the area about three miles west of the presidential palace has been going on since Friday. South Vietnamese rangers and tanks blasted the concrete hiding places of Viet Cong snipers with their 90mm cannon, and squeezed about 30 guerrillas into a four-block area.

Little firing by the guerrillas was reported this morning. A U.S. adviser to the government troops said the Viet Cong apparently were saving ammunition for a final fight.

To meet the new threat in Gia Dinh, South Vietnamese bombers attacked enemy positions and approach routes to the city. Little ground fighting was reported, however.

in the raids on the radios and other items.

Several soldiers passed around British cigarettes, the most expensive smoker's item on the black market. Soldiers displayed shiny new American gas lighters, and some wore gold or silver tie clasps on the front of their dirty uniforms.

Sometimes the looting seems directly tied to how heavy the fighting is, when they are on the move and attacking, the soldiers seem to pass up luxury items although they do scoop up food, soft drinks and cigarettes wherever they find them.

Some of the troops fired bursts from their M16 rifles to break the locks on the steel shutters protecting the fronts of shops in the area.

Many businessmen stuck to their stores to prevent looting even though endangered by the fighting. Since the outbreak of street fighting in Saigon during the Viet Cong's Tet offensive last February, there have been repeated complaints not only of looting but of senseless smashing of whatever could not be carried off.

party newspaper Pravda endorsed the peace talks anew and restated its support for North Vietnam's position. Pravda made this statement:

"It seems clear there are many concrete problems which must be discussed but there is only one question (ending the U.S. attacks on the North) which must be regulated at first in the present talks."

The word 'regulated" caught the attention of experts here. It seemed much softer than others which might have been used, such as "decided" or "settled".

U.S. authorities were faced once more with a question of interpretation which becomes significant because of the failure of the discussions here over several weeks to shed any new light on any of the problems and issues involved in Vietnam peace making.

"The Communists don't use words lightly in a situation like this," one diplomat said. "And obviously Le Duc Tho isn't coming all this distance just for the ride."

Steel

agreed to during the weekend by the Steelworkers Union, which represents half of the 60,000 aluminum workers, and the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers which represents about 4,700 workers of Alcoa. The Auto Workers staged a one-day strike before settling late Saturday.

The Aluminum Workers Union, however, turned down the United Steelworkers formula, which usually sets the pattern for the industry. The smaller union called out 11,000 members at Alcoa and 4,000 at Reynolds.

Earl Carlton Retires From YMCA Position

Carlton submitted his resignation recently as executive secretary of the Muncie 'Y.' He expects to make his future home in Florida.

Carlton served several years as general secretary of the East Liverpool 'Y,' leaving here in 1942 to take a similar post at Zanesville. He came to East Liverpool from Quincy, Ill.

Carlton served two or three years at Zanesville and then took the post at Muncie which he held until his retirement.

Membership Drive

NAACP Chapter Sets Goal Of 300

A membership goal of 300 by July 15 was set during a kick-off breakfast of the East Liverpool NAACP Saturday at the First Baptist Church.

Harold C. Strickland, field director for the Ohio NAACP, was guest speaker. Seventy-five attended.

Membership is open to both Negroes and whites, it was pointed out.

He explained the various legal methods available to local branches to fight discriminatory practices and stressed the importance of breaking down the barriers in education by way of more Negro teachers and also better counseling.

He also suggested that the history of the Negro should be included in textbooks of the public schools.

The Rev. D. R. Salisbury, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, was toastmaster, Richard Carter gave the welcome and Nelson Hagerty, bank executive, and Clyde Christian, second vice president of the local branch, offered remarks.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. E. H. Harris of the host church.

Following the breakfast, a District 3 meeting was conducted by Nathaniel Lee of Youngstown, Ohio state president. He discussed problems that exist in several cities and said that one way to combat the problem is by increasing membership. He said that integrated membership is important to all branches to help bring about better race relations.

The next local branch meeting will be held Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Resources Center, 514 Mulberry St.

Kennedy, McCarthy Set For California Primary

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rival Democrats Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy, more vigorous debaters at a distance than face-to-face, staged their final search for votes today in California's climactic presidential primary Tuesday.

Kennedy ranked as the favorite in a three-sided race for 174 nominating votes at the Democratic National Convention—and for the political propulsion of an endorsement from the nation's most populous state.

The third entry: An uncommitted slate of delegates headed by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch. That line on the Democratic ballot is as close as a Californian can come to voting for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, for write-in votes are not permitted.

The whole show was on the Democratic side. Gov. Ronald Reagan, cast as a favorite son, was alone on the Republican ballot, which will award him 86 GOP convention votes.

Two-thirds of the more than 7.9 million voters in California were expected to cast ballots.

The latest State Poll published today by the Los Angeles Times gave this result of a poll Saturday of 1,007 persons: Kennedy 36 per cent, McCarthy 31, Lynch delegation 15, undecided 18.

The poll said undecided voters could swing the election and that McCarthy would be helped by a large voter turnout.

McCarthy concentrated on the Los Angeles area today in winding up a campaign in which he seemed determined to sharpen the differences between his views and Kennedy's.

He chose terms far stronger than those he used Saturday night in the feature show of the campaign—a nationally televised McCarthy-Kennedy confrontation in San Francisco.

For his part, Kennedy said he wanted to avoid bitterness in the California campaign, forecast victory and proposed anew that he and McCarthy join forces after the final primary ballots are cast. His windup campaign rounds included San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego.

Plans Completed For Scholarship Awards Dinner

Reservations for the annual Citizens Scholarship Foundation awards dinner June 11 are to be turned in by Wednesday, Mrs. Eugene Seeley, program vice president, announced today.

Scholarships will be presented to students — high school and college — in the seven area school districts in the Foundation.

Rey Peduzzi, trustee for the Midland School District, will be master of ceremonies for the event to be held at 6:30 at St. Aloysius Catholic Church School.

The participating districts include East Liverpool, Wellsville, Beaver Local, Midland, Oak Glen, South Side and Western Beaver.

Three representatives from each district served on the 21-member awards committee which selected the recipients this year.

Representatives of industries, business and civic groups will present the scholarships.

Ted Taylor is president. Mrs. Seeley said reservations may be made by telephoning 385-1490.

Government officials in Kenya have undertaken a program to persuade the 100,000 nomadic Masai to settle down and raise cattle on ranches. It is part of a plan to bolster the nation's livestock industry. For centuries the Masai have herded cattle across the high grasslands of Tenya and Tanzania.

Camper Strikes Beam On Bridge

A camper top mounted on a pickup truck was damaged heavily Sunday afternoon when it struck an I-beam mounted on the Ohio end of the Chester Bridge to enforce a ruling that restricts passage to vehicles under seven feet high.

The camper was torn bodily from a 1968 model pickup truck operated by Stanley Davis, 27, of Chicago Ridge, Ill., police said. There was no noticeable damage to the bridge barrier in the mishap at 1:19 p.m.

Davis told officers he was driving onto the bridge approach at 5 to 10 miles an hour and noticed the barrier and the sign warning of the low clearance. He said he knew the front of the camper required six feet clearance, but forgot about an elevated roof at the rear. The elevated roof caught on the I-beam, ripping the camper body off the truck and smashing it, officers said.

A DISTRICT youngster was injured in a two-car collision Saturday at W. 5th and Jackson Sts., officers said.

The mishap involved a 1967 two-door sedan driven by Suzanne Carpenter, 22, of the Y. & O. Rd. and a 1964 two-door sedan operated by Helen Matthews Smith of Industry RD 1.

Christine Tiller, 4½, of the Y. & O. Rd., a passenger in the Carpenter car, suffered a minor bump on the head, officers said.

The Carpenter car was moving north on Jackson St. and the Smith auto was proceeding west on W. 5th St. Each driver claimed the traffic light was in her favor, officers said. There was damage to the right rear fender and quarter panel and right front door of the Carpenter car and the entire front end of the Smith auto.

SHRUBBERY in the medial divide on W. 8th St. near Westgate School was damaged Saturday at 5:51 p. m. when a Hancock County man's auto was forced off the four-lane road, officers said.

Charles E. Huff, 18, of 503 Jefferson St., Newell, told officers he was driving east on W. 8th St. when a car traveling in the wrong lane forced him to pull onto the divider to avoid a collision. There was damage to the rocker panels on both sides of Huff's 1961 auto, police said.

A mishap on Hazel St. Saturday at 7:03 p.m. involved a 1959 model truck driven by Joseph D. Allen, 27, of 1045 Edgewood Ave. and a parked 1963 sedan owned by Bernard E. Adkins of 1027 Hazel St., officers said.

TWO CARS were damaged in a collision Saturday at 6:49 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. 50 feet east of Ravine St.

The mishap involved a 1960 sedan operated by Robert F. Woomer, 20, of 1045 St. George St. and a 1964 sedan driven by Diana L. Sullivan, 26, of 2146 Michigan Ave. The woman told police she was halted in a line of traffic and her auto was hit from the rear by Woomer's car.

A 1964 sedan of George W. Knox of 1825 Michigan Ave. and a 1957 station wagon of John R. Stout, 61, of 301 Main St., Wellsville, were damaged in a collision Saturday at 8:43 p.m. on Broadway, officers said.

The collision damaged the chrome around a tail light of the Knox car and the entire right side of Stout's auto, police said.

A MISHAP in Al's Car Wash at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts. damaged two driverless cars Saturday, officers said.

The freak collision damaged the rear of a 1964 sedan owned by George Deidrich of 310 E. 5th St. and the front bumper of a 1964 vehicle owned by Saul Mullen of Tampa, Fla., officers said.

Deidrich's car had gone through the automatic car wash and was being dried when a chain was hooked onto Mullen's vehicle to pull it through the bay, officers said. But Mullen's vehicle came through the car wash "at a higher speed than usual," hit Deidrich's auto and shoved it onto Walnut St., officers said. An attendant jumped into Deidrich's auto and halted it.

Doors on a garage in Diamond Alley near Peach Alley were damaged in a mishap Saturday at 1:05 p.m., officers said.

The doors on the garage, owned by the Golden Star Dairy Co., were struck by a backing 1960 sedan driven by James A. Lyons, 18, of Massillon, police said.

Lyons was driving in Diamond Alley when he stopped and then backed his vehicle to allow another auto to round the narrow intersection, police said. The backing auto hit the garage doors, police reported.

Material Is Stolen At Storage Building

LISBON — A washtub full of old starters and generators was among material taken from a storage building at the rear of the Eric Webb property on the Columbiana - New Castle Rd. last week.

In reporting the theft to the sheriff's office Friday evening, Webb said the intruder also took a $200 Army-type wall tent, a $15 sleeping bag and a 12-volt battery. Deputy Richard Koffel investigated.

Camper Strikes Beam On Bridge

A camper top mounted on a pickup truck was damaged heavily Sunday afternoon when it struck an I-beam mounted on the Ohio end of the Chester Bridge to enforce a ruling that restricts passage to vehicles under seven feet high.

The camper was torn bodily from a 1968 model pickup truck operated by Stanley Davis, 27, of Chicago Ridge, Ill., police said. There was no noticeable damage to the bridge barrier in the mishap at 1:19 p.m.

Davis told officers he was driving onto the bridge approach at 5 to 10 miles an hour and noticed the barrier and the sign warning of the low clearance. He said he knew the front of the camper required six feet clearance, but forgot about an elevated roof at the rear. The elevated roof caught on the I-beam, ripping the camper body off the truck and smashing it, officers said.

A DISTRICT youngster was injured in a two-car collision Saturday at W. 5th and Jackson Sts., officers said.

The mishap involved a 1967 two-door sedan driven by Suzanne Carpenter, 22, of the Y. & O. Rd. and a 1964 two-door sedan operated by Helen Matthews Smith of Industry RD 1.

Christine Tiller, 4½, of the Y. & O. Rd., a passenger in the Carpenter car, suffered a minor bump on the head, officers said.

The Carpenter car was moving north on Jackson St. and the Smith auto was proceeding west on W. 5th St. Each driver claimed the traffic light was in her favor, officers said. There was damage to the right rear fender and quarter panel and right front door of the Carpenter car and the entire front end of the Smith auto.

SHRUBBERY in the medial divide on W. 8th St. near Westgate School was damaged Saturday at 5:51 p. m. when a Hancock County man's auto was forced off the four-lane road, officers said.

Charles E. Huff, 18, of 503 Jefferson St., Newell, told officers he was driving east on W. 8th St. when a car traveling in the wrong lane forced him to pull onto the divider to avoid a collision. There was damage to the rocker panels on both sides of Huff's 1961 auto, police said.

A mishap on Hazel St. Saturday at 7:03 p.m. involved a 1959 model truck driven by Joseph D. Allen, 27, of 1045 Edgewood Ave. and a parked 1963 sedan owned by Bernard E. Adkins of 1027 Hazel St., officers said.

TWO CARS were damaged in a collision Saturday at 6:49 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. 50 feet east of Ravine St.

The mishap involved a 1960 sedan operated by Robert F. Woomer, 20, of 1045 St. George St. and a 1964 sedan driven by Diana L. Sullivan, 26, of 2146 Michigan Ave. The woman told police she was halted in a line of traffic and her auto was hit from the rear by Woomer's car.

A 1964 sedan of George W. Knox of 1825 Michigan Ave. and a 1957 station wagon of John R. Stout, 61, of 301 Main St., Wellsville, were damaged in a collision Saturday at 8:43 p.m. on Broadway, officers said.

The collision damaged the chrome around a tail light of the Knox car and the entire right side of Stout's auto, police said.

A MISHAP in Al's Car Wash at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts. damaged two driverless cars Saturday, officers said.

The freak collision damaged the rear of a 1964 sedan owned by George Deidrich of 310 E. 5th St. and the front bumper of a 1964 vehicle owned by Saul Mullen of Tampa, Fla., officers said.

Deidrich's car had gone through the automatic car wash and was being dried when a chain was hooked onto Mullen's vehicle to pull it through the bay, officers said. But Mullen's vehicle came through the car wash "at a higher speed than usual," hit Deidrich's auto and shoved it onto Walnut St., officers said. An attendant jumped into Deidrich's auto and halted it.

Doors on a garage in Diamond Alley near Peach Alley were damaged in a mishap Saturday at 1:05 p.m., officers said.

The doors on the garage, owned by the Golden Star Dairy Co., were struck by a backing 1960 sedan driven by James A. Lyons, 18, of Massillon, police said.

Lyons was driving in Diamond Alley when he stopped and then backed his vehicle to allow another auto to round the narrow intersection, police said. The backing auto hit the garage doors, police reported.

Material Is Stolen At Storage Building

LISBON — A washtub full of old starters and generators was among material taken from a storage building at the rear of the Eric Webb property on the Columbiana - New Castle Rd. last week.

In reporting the theft to the sheriff's office Friday evening, Webb said the intruder also took a $200 Army-type wall tent, a $15 sleeping bag and a 12-volt battery. Deputy Richard Koffel investigated.

ANN LANDERS

Mom Tells Sad Stories

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Right now my head feels as if it will burst. My mother just left. I need to know what to do about her daily visits which leave me depressed, drained and half sick.

The minute Mother sits down she begins to report on the illnesses and tragedies of relatives, friends and neighbors. Every story she tells is like a movie. She has an eye and an ear for detail that is uncanny. Mother makes you feel every ache and pain of the person she's describing. She'd rather go to the hospital to see a sick person than go to a party.

Last month Mother attended seven funerals. (Only one was a relative.) Right now I'm so down in the dumps I could die. I can do nothing to alleviate her hairdresser's agony (her small daughter is dying of leukemia), can't help her neighbor whose only son lost both legs in Vietnam.

Last week Mother awakened me at midnight to tell me about a car accident in which four people were killed. She'd heard it on the radio. I didn't know the people and neither did she — but "isn't it AWFUL?"

I love my mother and I don't want to be disrespectful, but I just can't listen any more. Do I owe it to her? Would I be a bad daughter if I told her I didn't want to hear her daily reports of tragedy and death? Please advise me, Ann. — BLUER THAN BLUE.

Dear Blue: Each of us knows someone who thoroughly enjoys being first with the bad news. When that person is your mother the problem becomes compounded because you cannot lop off a mother as you would a pesty neighbor or a boring friend.

Tell Mary Sunshine her continuous recital of gloom and doom is making you ill and she'll just have to spare you. When she starts again tell her you'd prefer not to hear any more sad stories and then change the subject.

All Keyed Up

Dear Ann: I've always had an odd feeling about Phi Beta Kappa keys dangling from watch chains. They seem to say, "Look at me. I'm smart." (Worse yet, in my opinion, is the woman who wears her Phi Beta Kappa key on a chain around her neck.)

But what do you think about a 40-year-old man who wears his Phi Beta Kappa key as a lapel pin? Isn't this tasteless? It really knocked me out. How about you? — GALATEA.

Dear Gal: Corny, yes, but it doesn't knock me out. I'm mystified as to why you attach so much importance to it.

Confidentially

This Time It's Real: It's natural for teen-agers to want to learn from experience but divorce is one experience you can live without. If it's real it will still be real two years from now. Wait.

-:-

To Don't Need Glasses: It sounds as if you don't need glasses because you drink straight from the bottle. Your letter contained a half dozen contradictions and it even smelled of bourbon. Write again when you're sober, please, and I'll help you if I can.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

2 Fugitives Are Captured At Pike Plaza

CLEVELAND (AP)—A stop at an Ohio Turnpike plaza near Fremont ended six days of freedom for two fugitives from a California state hospital for the criminally insane. They were to be arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner Clifford Bruce here.

Patrolman D. R. Little of the state Highway Patrol's Swanton post had been alerted by broadcasts to watch for a stolen car with Oregon plates and spotted it parked at a plaza west of Fremont early Saturday. He radioed for help and five cruisers answered.

Gerard Gallant, 28, and George Quinlan, 25, both of Los Angeles, were arrested without a struggle when they returned to the parked car, from which patrolmen took four loaded guns.

Gallant, Quinlan and Robert Higuera, 30, of Downey, Calif. broke out of Atascadero State Hospital near San Luis Obispo, Calif. May 26 and took with them two guards, whom they stabbed, and two other hospital employes, who were not harmed. Higuera was captured a week ago at Pismo Beach, Calif.

Gallant had been convicted of armed robbery and rape; Quinlan was held in the shooting of a Los Angeles policeman. Federal authorities here have charges of unlawful flight against the two.

Guilford Grange Sets 'Work Day'

LISBON — A work day was planned for June 15 when the Guilford Grange met Saturday night.

The annual inspection will be conducted July 20 by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morlan of Leetonia RD.

Mrs. Joe Mattevi reported on the bi-monthly officers' meeting at Mile Branch Grange. Emmet Caldwell and Mrs. Arter also attended. Mrs. Arter represented Guilford Grange at the Demeter meeting.

Memorial services were held for members who died during 1967.

Miss Beulah Sell, lecturer, conducted the program, which included: Report on foreign policy, Max Houlette; poem, "In Flanders Field," Amanda Whinnery, and "The 10 Commandments For A Good Marriage," Alfred Gamble.

ANN LANDERS

Mom Tells Sad Stories

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Right now my head feels as if it will burst. My mother just left. I need to know what to do about her daily visits which leave me depressed, drained and half sick.

The minute Mother sits down she begins to report on the illnesses and tragedies of relatives, friends and neighbors. Every story she tells is like a movie. She has an eye and an ear for detail that is uncanny. Mother makes you feel every ache and pain of the person she's describing. She'd rather go to the hospital to see a sick person than go to a party.

Last month Mother attended seven funerals. (Only one was a relative.) Right now I'm so down in the dumps I could die. I can do nothing to alleviate her hairdresser's agony (her small daughter is dying of leukemia), can't help her neighbor whose only son lost both legs in Vietnam.

Last week Mother awakened me at midnight to tell me about a car accident in which four people were killed. She'd heard it on the radio. I didn't know the people and neither did she — but "isn't it AWFUL?"

I love my mother and I don't want to be disrespectful, but I just can't listen any more. Do I owe it to her? Would I be a bad daughter if I told her I didn't want to hear her daily reports of tragedy and death? Please advise me, Ann. — BLUER THAN BLUE.

Dear Blue: Each of us knows someone who thoroughly enjoys being first with the bad news. When that person is your mother the problem becomes compounded because you cannot lop off a mother as you would a pesty neighbor or a boring friend.

Tell Mary Sunshine her continuous recital of gloom and doom is making you ill and she'll just have to spare you. When she starts again tell her you'd prefer not to hear any more sad stories and then change the subject.

All Keyed Up

Dear Ann: I've always had an odd feeling about Phi Beta Kappa keys dangling from watch chains. They seem to say, "Look at me. I'm smart." (Worse yet, in my opinion, is the woman who wears her Phi Beta Kappa key on a chain around her neck.)

But what do you think about a 40-year-old man who wears his Phi Beta Kappa key as a lapel pin? Ins't this tasteless? It really knocked me out. How about you? — GALATEA.

Dear Gal: Corny, yes, but it doesn't knock me out. I'm mystified as to why you attach so much importance to it.

Confidentially

This Time It's Real: It's natural for teen-agers to want to learn from experience but divorce is one experience you can live without. If it's real it will still be real two years from now. Wait.

-:-

To Don't Need Glasses: It sounds as if you don't need glasses because you drink straight from the bottle. Your letter contained a half dozen contradictions and it even smelled of bourbon. Write again when you're sober, please, and I'll help you if I can.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

2 Fugitives Are Captured At Pike Plaza

CLEVELAND (AP)—A stop at an Ohio Turnpike plaza near Fremont ended six days of freedom for two fugitives from a California state hospital for the criminally insane. They were to be arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner Clifford Bruce here.

Patrolman D. R. Little of the state Highway Patrol's Swanton post had been alerted by broadcasts to watch for a stolen car with Oregon plates and spotted it parked at a plaza west of Fremont early Saturday. He radioed for help and five cruisers answered.

Gerard Gallant, 28, and George Quinlan, 25, both of Los Angeles, were arrested without a struggle when they returned to the parked car, from which patrolmen took four loaded guns.

Gallant, Quinlan and Robert Higuera, 30, of Downey, Calif. broke out of Atascadero State Hospital near San Luis Obispo, Calif. May 26 and took with them two guards, whom they stabbed, and two other hospital employes, who were not harmed. Higuera was captured a week ago at Pismo Beach, Calif.

Gallant had been convicted of armed robbery and rape; Quinlan was held in the shooting of a Los Angeles policeman. Federal authorities here have charges of unlawful flight against the two.

Guilford Grange Sets 'Work Day'

LISBON — A work day was planned for June 15 when the Guilford Grange met Saturday night.

The annual inspection will be conducted July 20 by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morlan of Leetonia RD.

Mrs. Joe Mattevi reported on the bi-monthly officers' meeting at Mile Branch Grange. Emmet Caldwell and Mrs. Arter also attended. Mrs. Arter represented Guilford Grange at the Demeter meeting.

Memorial services were held for members who died during 1967.

Miss Beulah Sell, lecturer, conducted the program, which included: Report on foreign policy, Max Houlette; p o e m, "In Flanders Field," Amanda Whinnery, and "The 10 Commandments For A Good Marriage," Alfred Gamble.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Spandex Laundering Tip

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR FRIENDS: Many of you gals have written wanting to know how to launder bras and other garments containing spandex fabric without their turning yellow and deteriorating.

Heloise

We wrote to Miss Edna Schappert of the Man-made Fiber Producer's Association, and she has come to our rescue with the following information:

"When laundering undergarments containing spandex, DO NOT USE a chlorine-based bleach or a detergent containing chlorine bleach. Chlorine will weaken and discolor the spandex fibers.

"Instead, a detergent containing no chlorine, and a perborate-based or oxone-based bleach MAY be used.

"Labels on bleach containers will indicate if the product is chlorine - based, perborate-based or oxone-based. "Labels on detergent containers will indicate if chlorine is contained in the detergent.

Heavily soiled areas in garments containing spandex may be pre-treated by thoroughly rubbing those areas with a thick paste of water and detergent or soap. Then allow the garments to soak for a period of time.

"When machine washing undergarments containing spandex fibers, use the "low" temperature setting. It is advisable to AIR-DRY (rather than machine-dry) garments containing spandex fibers.

"It is also important to follow special instructions on manufacturers' hangtags and labels in caring for garments containing spandex fibers."

I think Miss Edna deserves a standing ovation for this valuable information. Don't you?

HELOISE.

P.S. I highly recommend that these spandex garments be washed daily, as I feel that the body oils from our skin, when embedded in the fiber, also does lots of damage.

DEAR HELOISE: I always have a supply of canned biscuits on hand. One of our favorite ways of using them is very simple:

Pour maple syrup and butter pats into a pie plate and scatter pecans on top. Place your biscuits on top of the pecans and then bake away.

CLARA EMMONS.

Wow, this one knocked me cold. It's great. You can also use ANY kind of syrup and add cinnamon sugar mix, etc.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep a plastic wastebasket in my bathroom just for bathtub toys. They drain in the basket, keeping our floor dry and the room also neat.

MARY HILLES.

DEAR HELOISE: Are you a congenital housekeeper?

TUESDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

If you could see our home right now, you sure wouldn't think so . . . it's laundry day!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you tie your packages at the cross strings to strengthen them? Well, so do I, but the other day I had just enough string to tie the package yet not enough to secure those cross strings.

So I rummaged around in my "junk" drawer 'til I spied several bread wrapper ties. I merely twisted a couple around those cross strings.

FRAN DAVIS.

DEAR HELOISE: I made my clothespin bag out of nylon net.

I used four thicknesses of net and the metal frame from my old bag. Then I sewed it by hand with embroidery thread (six strands).

And do my clothespins dry quick and stay white!

HELEN PIERCE.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Officers Locate 3 Missing Autos

Three cars reported stolen over the weekend have been found abandoned and a fourth still is missing, police reported.

Officers still are seeking a 1956 model Pontiac sedan which Paul Neppl of 149 Thompson Ave. reported stolen Saturday between 12:30 and 1 p.m. from the parking lot at the Municipal swimming pool in Thompson Park. The car carries a 10-day tag, but the owner did not know the number, officers said.

Richard Howard of 165 Chestnut St., Leetonia, told police his 1965 model convertible was stolen from Broadway between 12:15 and 2:50 a.m. Sunday. It was recovered at Broadway and E. 5th Sts. at 3:04 a.m. yesterday by Lt. Paul Burson Jr. and David Huffman.

A 1964 four - door sedan which Robert Palmer of Densmore Ave. reported stolen from Broadway between 5:45 and 6:45 p.m. Saturday was recovered by the sheriff's department at 2:08 a.m. Sunday on the Y. & O. Rd.

A Yellow Cab Co. taxi stolen from Lisbon St. between 7 p.m. Saturday and 12:21 a.m. Sunday was recovered at 1:10 a.m. yesterday on Washington St. by Huffman, officers said.

Vietnam Veterans Given VIP Treatment

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Two planeloads of Vietnam veterans, paratroopers from the 82nd Airborne Division's 3rd Brigade, received VIP treatment when they returned home this weekend for two-week leaves.

The 165 paratroopers have completed their Vietnam duty but have signed on to complete full tours there. They were processed quickly and issued partial pay, airline tickets and new khaki uniforms, with on-the-spot uniform pressing service.

Strong Storm On Course To Florida Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Early-blooming tropical storm Abby dumped torrential rains on Western Cuba, forcing more than 2,000 Cubans from their homes Sunday before heading toward Florida today, gaining strength over the open seas.

The National Hurricane Center warned of indications the storm would build its 50-mile-an-hour winds to full hurricane force—more than 74 m.p.h.—as it intensified over the open waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Radio Havana reported the evacuation of 2,367 persons from homes in low-lying sections of Pinar del Rio Province in extreme western Cuba. The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said doctors and nurses were rushed into the area, but did not indicate how many injuries had been reported.

There were reports of up to a foot of rain from the torrential downpours. The Cuban Institute of Meteorology said 36 hours of rainfall in some areas equalled the normal precipitation expected during a month.

Reports from the government-controlled radio stations said the rain began to diminish at dawn in some areas of the Communist island.

The U.S. Weather Bureau urged Floridians to stay "ready for quick action" in case Abby intensified to hurricane strength by late today or tonight.

Forecaster Gil Clark said the storm was on a course that would carry it north-northeast through the 65-mile wide slot between Key West and the Dry Tortugas, tiny islands west of Key West, this afternoon.

At 5 a.m., EDT, the hurricane center said Abby was near Latitude 23.4 North and Longitude 83.7 West, a point about 275 miles southwest of Miami and 150 miles southwest of Key West.

Ghana, once Britain's Gold Coast, and Mali, formerly the French Sudan, adopted the names of medieval African empires. Mali also means hippopotamus, which its tribesmen regard as a symbol of strength.

It's A Legal Holiday

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — South Carolina observes a legal state holiday today with most state offices and many county and local offices closed for the anniversary of the birth of Confederacy President Jefferson Davis. He was born June 3, 1808.

Vietnam Veterans Given VIP Treatment

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Two planeloads of Vietnam veterans, paratroopers from the 82nd Airborne Division's 3rd Brigade, received VIP treatment when they returned home this weekend for two-week leaves.

The 165 paratroopers have completed their Vietnam duty but have signed on to complete full tours there. They were processed quickly and issued partial pay, airline tickets and new khaki uniforms, with on-the-spot uniform pressing service.

Strong Storm On Course To Florida Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Early-blooming tropical storm Abby dumped torrential rains on Western Cuba, forcing more than 2,000 Cubans from their homes Sunday before heading toward Florida today, gaining strength over the open seas.

The National Hurricane Center warned of indications the storm would build its 50-mile-an-hour winds to full hurricane force—more than 74 m.p.h.—as it intensified over the open waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Radio Havana reported the evacuation of 2,367 persons from homes in low-lying sections of Pinar del Rio Province in extreme western Cuba. The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said doctors and nurses were rushed into the area, but did not indicate how many injuries had been reported.

There were reports of up to a foot of rain from the torrential downpours. The Cuban Institute of Meteorology said 36 hours of rainfall in some areas equalled the normal precipitation expected during a month.

Reports from the government-controlled radio stations said the rain began to diminish at dawn in some areas of the Communist island.

The U.S. Weather Bureau urged Floridians to stay "ready for quick action" in case Abby intensified to hurricane strength by late today or tonight.

Forecaster Gil Clark said the storm was on a course that would carry it north-northeast through the 65-mile wide slot between Key West and the Dry Tortugas, tiny islands west of Key West, this afternoon.

At 5 a.m., EDT, the hurricane center said Abby was near Latitude 23.4 North and Longitude 83.7 West, a point about 275 miles southwest of Miami and 150 miles southwest of Key West.

Douglas, 69, and his 25-year-old wife Cathy weren't even winded after slogging along the canal bank, but many of the 200 who started out from Grundy's Lagoon here had dropped by the wayside before the trek was finished.

Among them were three chubby Boy Scouts from Troop 119 in Levittown. "I have a headache," said one. "The heat got me," said No. 2, while No. 3 sighed, "I bruised my knee."

The presence of three nurses, two ambulances and a rescue bus along the line of march didn't offer much encouragement for the fainthearted.

Later, Douglas told his hosts, the Citizens Committee to Preserve the Delaware Canal, that while he enjoyed the hike, he felt the planned closing was still a problem between local residents and the state Department of Forests and Waters.

The state says the waterway is polluted in the Bristol area while the conservationists claim it still has recreational value.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Urban League leader Whitney M. Young Jr. told 972 University of San Francisco graduates Sunday that "either we live together as friends or we die together as fools."

"The educated should know that order is not the highest priority in our society, because Hitler produced the greatest order the world has ever known at the cost of six million lives. It is not social order that we seek, but justice, and justice will lead to order," he said.

WATERVILLE, Maine (AP) — Three sisters from Winslow, Maine, accustomed to doing things together, were married Saturday in a triple wedding.

Linda Williams, 20, married Army Pfc. William Johnson, 21, of Thorndike; Dot, 19, married James Waterman, 19, of Belfast; and Jane, 18, was the bride of Army Pfc. Elwood Hubbard, 19, of Unity.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Singer Wayne Newton, 26, and Elaine Okamura, 23, a former Hawaiian airline stewardess, were married Saturday at the Little Church of the West wedding chapel.

They have been engaged since Christmas.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Michael Callan and Patricia Harty, who were costarred in the television series "Occasional Wife," were married Saturday.

Police Probe Petty Thefts, Auto Damage

East Liverpool police are investigating a series of weekend petty thefts, as well as seven vandalism incidents involving autos.

Richard Poe of 701 W. 9th St. told police Sunday afternoon a box containing tools valued at $125 was stolen from the garage at his home between May 26 and yesterday at 9 a. m.

Dan Yeager of 1272 Pennsylvania Ave. reported to police Saturday a thief took the gear shift knob from his 1963 model car while it was parked in front of his home overnight. The oil line also was broken in an attempt to taken an oil gauge, he said.

Ed Braham of 787 Dresden Ave. told officers Saturday a tape recorder valued at $125 was stolen from his convertible Friday night or Saturday morning while it was parked at his home. The thief cut the cloth top of the convertible to enter the auto, he said.

Robert Burson of 1566 Globe St. told officers a vandal shot a hole in the window in the right door of his 1964 model truck while it was parked between Friday and Saturday. Joseph Blankenship of 1428 Pennsylvania Ave. reported Saturday a projectile probably fired from a pellet gun broke the rear window of his 1967 model auto while it was parked in the driveway at his home.

James T. Thomas of 1210 Pennsylvania Ave. told officers Saturday the glass in the front door of his 1959 model car was broken by a vandal the preceding night while the vehicle was parked in front of his home. Lewis Call of Maine Blvd. told officers Saturday night a vent window in his auto was broken while the car was parked at his home.

Charles Wolf of 801 Louise St. told police Saturday night the right front window of his car was broken by a vandal while the auto was stopped in a line of traffic on Broadway. Wolf said an unknown man approached the car, broke the window and then fled on foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reardon of 856 St. George St. told police Saturday their home and a car and truck have been damaged in a series of vandalism incidents in the last month. Unknown persons have bent and broken car radio antennas, bent license plates, stolen fender guides, nicked car windows and windshields and thrown eggs at the home, they said.

Bus Strike Over In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Public transportation in this steel city gets back to normal today after a weekend strike of 67 bus drivers who have approved a new contract raising their hourly pay by 27 cents to $3 on next June 1.

The drivers, members of Amalgamated Transit Workers Union Local 272, get an immediate 9-cent hourly raise and additional 9-cent raises Dec. 1 and next June 1 under the 18-month settlement.

The agreement came in a Sunday bargaining session.

The walkout Friday midnight caused cancellation of a trip for 1,200 public and parochial school safety guards to the Cleveland-Washington baseball game in Cleveland Saturday.

Law Will Aid Men Over 40 In Job Field

WASHINGTON (AP) — Too old at 40 to get a job?

Starting next week it will be against federal law for most employers, labor unions or employment agencies to tell you that.

A new law protecting persons 40 to 65 from employment discrimination because of age goes into effect June 12.

"The law is designed to promote the employment of older workers based on their ability and to prohibit arbitrary age discrimination in employment," said the Labor Department.

It forbids employers to refuse to hire—or to fire a person—because of age or to pay different wage rates or lesser job benefits on the basis of age.

The law exempts bona fide seniority systems and pension plans, but says pension plans —which are more costly for newly hired older workers—cannot be used as an excuse to refuse to hire an individual.

Labor organizations are forbidden to exclude or to expel anyone from membership because of age, or to refuse to refer a worker for employment. Nor can unions attempt to cause an employer to discriminate against an individual because of age.

This applies to all employers and labor organizations with 25 or more employes, or members of an industry affecting interstate commerce.

Employment agencies, without limitation, are forbidden to refuse to refer anyone for a job because of age.

Individuals who prove discrimination in court can collect attorneys' fees and court costs in addition to back pay. In cases where willful violation is proved, they can collect up to double the amount of back pay.

Amputee Guilty In Death Of Wife

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—A Clermont County jury returned a verdict of guilty Sunday against Charles R. Williams, 26-year-old amputee, accused of the bathtub drowning of his bride of five months in 1967.

The second-degree murder conviction carries a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment under state law.

The prosecution during the two-week trial argued that Williams drowned his wife to collect $200,000 in insurance.

Defense attorneys argued that the woman fell asleep in the bathtub after taking liquor and sleeping pills.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the Tennessee Valley Authority into existence on May 18, 1933, as "a corporation clothed with the power of government, but possessed of the flexibility and initiative of a private enterprise."

Student Groups Battling

Italy Faces Government Crisis Following Election

ROME (AP) — Rival groups of students battled with rocks and bundles of flaming rags today at the barricaded gates to the University of Rome.

The prospect of a government crisis and continued social unrest hung over the country only two weeks after the national election.

Nearly 300 antileftist students charged the closed gates of the university where nearly 2,000 pro-Chinese and anarchist students held control for the third straight day.

The attacking students stoned the defenders, who fired back from big piles of rocks they had heaped up near the gates.

Since a bitter outcry against police intervention in student riots last month, police have tried to stay out of battles on the campus. Only a dozen policemen were present.

They tried in vain to form a barricade between the battling students at the gates and used fire extinguishers to put out the flaming bundles that were hurled during the melee.

Premier Aldo Moro, whose Christian Democrats made gains in the election, will submit his resignation after the new Parliament convenes Wednesday.

This is required by custom after a national election, but Moro has no hopes of again forming a government with the center-left coalition he had led for the past five years.

His Socialist partners, who suffered losses in the voting, blamed them on the alliance with Moro's party and decided Saturday night to quit the coalition.

The decision plunged the country into a period of political uncertainty, deepened by outbreaks of student rioting over the weekend in Rome and Turin.

Police in both cities and in other large communities were on standby alert for further outbreaks.

A call for nationwide demonstrations by the Communist and Proletarian Socialist parties, allies and big winners in the May 19-20 elections, was still in effect. The weekend clashes between students and police in Rome and Turin followed that call.

The call for mass demonstrations was issued to show support for the workers and students defying President Charles de Gaulle in France.

But Italy has been bubbling with student discontent of its own for months and the real target of agitation in this country is plainly the Italian system, not the French.

The unrest in France provided a handy model for an alliance of disgruntled students and left-wing political parties. They seek educational, social and economic political parties.

The upsurge of unrest could not have come at a worse time for the government. With the Socialist defection, the only immediate prospect is a fragile minority government that could be easily toppled.

Strike Stops Most Building Construction

CINCINNATI (AP)—Construction projects citywide were almost at a standstill today as negotiations continued with union representatives of about 5,000 construction workers.

Five hundred ready mix concrete truck drivers accepted by a 2-1 vote Sunday a new three-year contract, but a spokesman for the city's contractors said walkouts by members of five other unions will "most seriously hamper" building in Cincinnati.

Among projects halted are the $20 million Cincinnati Center, extensive additions to General Hospital and the University of Cincinnati and the Riverfront Stadium.

Contracts of concrete drivers, millwrights, ironworkers, carpenters, reinforcing concrete workers and laborers expired over the weekend.

Contractors said some work would continue until strikers' skills are needed. Then work would be halted completely.

Negotiations reportedly have failed thus far because contractors have refused to go along with a demand of workers for retroactive pay. Strikers said they would work on short-term contract until a permanent agreement is reached if retroactive pay is provided.

Memorial Rites Held

EAST PALESTINE — The annual memorial service honoring deceased members of the East Palestine fire department was held Sunday afternoon at the station.

The Rev. Thomas Hammerton of the Centenary Methodist Church was speaker. The roll of the dead was read by T. S. Hawk, secretary. Bruce Foster, president, was in charge.

Delegate Named To Lions Event

Larry J. Corbitt of Waverly, W. Va., is one of 126 young men between 17 and 19 from throughout the world selected to attend a World Youth Congress to be sponsored by Lions International at Dallas, Tex., June 24 and 25.

The congress will be an important part of the Lions convention opening June 26 in Dallas.

Student Groups Battling

Italy Faces Government Crisis Following Election

ROME (AP) — Rival groups of students battled with rocks and bundles of flaming rags today at the barricaded gates to the University of Rome.

The prospect of a government crisis and continued social unrest hung over the country only two weeks after the national election.

Nearly 300 antileftist students charged the closed gates of the university where nearly 2,000 pro-Chinese and anarchist students held control for the third straight day.

The attacking students stoned the defenders, who fired back from big piles of rocks they had heaped up near the gates.

Since a bitter outcry against police intervention in student riots last month, police have tried to stay out of battles on the campus. Only a dozen policemen were present.

They tried in vain to form a barricade between the battling students at the gates and used fire extinguishers to put out the flaming bundles that were hurled during the melee.

Premier Aldo Moro, whose Christian Democrats made gains in the election, will submit his resignation after the new Parliament convenes Wednesday.

This is required by custom after a national election, but Moro has no hopes of again forming a government with the center-left coalition he had led for the past five years.

His Socialist partners, who suffered losses in the voting, blamed them on the alliance with Moro's party and decided Saturday night to quit the coalition.

The decision plunged the country into a period of political uncertainty, deepened by outbreaks of student rioting over the weekend in Rome and Turin.

Police in both cities and in other large communities were on standby alert for further outbreaks.

A call for nationwide demonstrations by the Communist and Proletarian Socialist parties, allies and big winners in the May 19-20 elections, was still in effect. The weekend clashes between students and police in Rome and Turin followed that call.

The call for mass demonstrations was issued to show support for the workers and students defying President Charles de Gaulle in France.

But Italy has been bubbling with student discontent of its own for months and the real target of agitation in this country is plainly the Italian system, not the French.

The unrest in France provided a handy model for an alliance of disgruntled students and left-wing political parties. They seek educational, social and economic political parties.

The upsurge of unrest could not have come at a worse time for the government. With the Socialist defection, the only immediate prospect is a fragile minority government that could be easily toppled.

Strike Stops Most Building Construction

CINCINNATI (AP)—Construction projects citywide were almost at a standstill today as negotiations continued with union representatives of about 5,000 construction workers.

Five hundred ready mix concrete truck drivers accepted by a 2-1 vote Sunday a new three-year contract, but a spokesman for the city's contractors said walkouts by members of five other unions will "most seriously hamper" building in Cincinnati.

Among projects halted are the $20 million Cincinnati Center, extensive additions to General Hospital and the University of Cincinnati and the Riverfront Stadium.

Contracts of concrete drivers, millwrights, ironworkers, carpenters, reinforcing concrete workers and laborers expired over the weekend.

Contractors said some work would continue until strikers' skills are needed. Then work would be halted completely.

Negotiations reportedly have failed thus far because contractors have refused to go along with a demand of workers for retroactive pay. Strikers said they would work on short-term contract until a permanent agreement is reached if retroactive pay is provided.

Memorial Rites Held

EAST PALESTINE — The annual memorial service honoring deceased members of the East Palestine fire department was held Sunday afternoon at the station.

The Rev. Thomas Hammerton of the Centenary Methodist Church was speaker. The roll of the dead was read by T. S. Hawk, secretary. Bruce Foster, president, was in charge.

Delegate Named To Lions Event

Larry J. Corbitt of Waverly, W. Va., is one of 126 young men between 17 and 19 from throughout the world selected to attend a World Youth Congress to be sponsored by Lions International at Dallas, Tex., June 24 and 25.

The congress will be an important part of the Lions convention opening June 26 in Dallas.

Suggestions Are Given For Use Of Hardboard

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeaures

Wood in its natural form continues to hold great appeal for a number of reasons, not the least of which is the feeling of warmth it conveys. But the time when wood was just wood has long since gone.

It is made from logs that have been converted to chips, then to wood fibers, which are permanently bonded under heat and pressure into panels of various sizes, some 16 feet long. Since hardboard has no grain or knots, it has a uniformity of strength and appearance.

THERE ARE four basic types of hardboard: standard, for interior uses, furniture and cabinet work; service, slightly less dense and often used for paneling; tempered, for exterior uses and those interior uses where a higher degree of strength, moisture resistance and abrasion resistance is required; and special purpose, for decorative, utility and out-of-the-ordinary uses.

When a factory - finished hardboard is desired, it can be obtained in a variety of finishes, among them wood grains marble, simulated tile, lace prints, wallpaper textures and many others. A typical surface includes a baked-on plastic.

Because it is wood, hardboard panels absorb moisture and expand slightly in dimension if exposed to extreme humidity conditions. It is a good idea, therefore, when using such panels to condition them first. Let's say you are paneling a room in hardboard.

If humidity conditions are close to normal, unwrap the panels and stand them separately on edge around the room so air can circulate freely around them. This should be done for a period of at least 24 hours before application.

IF THE ROOM is abnormally damp, it should be allowed to dry out before beginning the installation.

But if the room is very dry—or if it is subject to highly fluctuating humidity conditions—the panels can be "pre-expanded" by long exposure to damp air or by wetting the back sides of the boards.

Generally, however, conditions are close enough to normal so that standing the panels on edge for 24 hours is all that is required.

Standard woodworking tools and methods generally can be used for hardboard.

THE A-FRAME PRINCIPLE is used in HA 551M down to within four feet of the floor, at which point two low stone walls form the balance of the structure. The design device alleviates the headroom problems inherent in A frames at the side walls. Front wall is of wood frame, glass and sliding glass doors for an unrestricted view of the vacation land outdoors. Almost half the front deck is covered by the overhung roof. A side porch contains outdoor laundry equipment and a stall shower. An interesting method of providing natural light in the kitchen and bath is by use of plastic domes. A third bedroom can be finished on the second floor. A full basement in which a heating unit can be installed is part of the structure. There are 962 square feet on the first floor and 324 on the second. Architect is Rudolph Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N. Y. 11501.

Steel Expects Slack Period

CLEVELAND (AP)—A slowdown in the production of steel is predicted for the last six months of 1968 and is expected to extend into the new year, Steel Magazine said today.

The slowdown could result not only from a possible work stoppage in August, but also because of large inventories accumulated by consumers earlier this year, the magazine added.

Because of heavy strike-hedge buying, record production of raw steel in the first six months of 1968 is certain, the metalworking weekly said.

The magazine estimated total output through May topped 62 million net tons. To equal the record 70.6 million tons set in the first half of 1965, also a strike-hedge year, furnaces would have to pour only 8.6 million tons in June.

About 2.8 million tons were produced in the week ended June 1, Steel said, and although production has tended to slip in recent weeks, output still is off only about two per cent from the record 2.9 million tons poured in the week ended April 27.

"With ordering past the peak, some steelmakers are idling older, uneconomic facilities that had been activated to meet the high demand of recent months," Steel said.

Assessments of the steel industry's financial performance for all of 1968 are difficult, the magazine said.

Apart from the strike threat, extended credit on strike-hedge tonnage and the proposed tax surcharge are also affecting profitability, Steel said.

The magazine noted some prices have increased in recent months, but there also has been some price-cutting.

Quoting industry financial analysts, Steel said end result for 1968 might be: Raw steel production of around 132 million tns, consumption of 100 million tons of finished steel, and domestic mill shipments of 93 million tons. The latter two figures will set records, the magazine added.

Steel's composite price on No. 1 heavy melting grade of steel making scrap slipped 16 cents a gross ton to $25.17 last week.

Martian Probe Not Expected To Find Life

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Any space probe sent to Mars in hopes of finding life will have to be highly mobile and programed to search intelligently, a researcher at the California Institute of Technology says.

"The prospects of landing an instrument package by chance alone on a rich, populated spot seem pretty bleak," says Charles N. David, a graduate student in biology.

David is one of three Cal Tech scientists who spent three months in Antarctica in an effort to determine what difficulties would be encountered in searching for life in the cold, barren deserts of Mars.

The project produced evidence as to what types of microscopic life might be encountered in such an area and what landmarks should be used in searching for them.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — About 40 persons were suspended in space for an hour Sunday night when the ferris wheel stalled at the newly opened Astroworld Amusement Park.

The ride, called the Astro-wheel, was in its second day of operation at the $10-million park near the Astrodome.

Mrs. Carlos Mosquedo of Austin, who expects a child in October, was among seven persons in one of the eight gondolas. She wasn't worried, she said, but her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Gonzales of Port Arthur, did some praying.

IF THE ROOM is abnormally damp, it should be allowed to dry out before beginning the installation.

But if the room is very dry—or if it is subject to highly fluctuating humidity conditions—the panels can be "pre-expanded" by long exposure to damp air or by wetting the back sides of the boards.

Generally, however, conditions are close enough to normal so that standing the panels on edge for 24 hours is all that is required.

Standard woodworking tools and methods generally can be used for hardboard.

THE A-FRAME PRINCIPLE is used in HA 551M down to within four feet of the floor, at which point two low stone walls form the balance of the structure. The design device alleviates the headroom problems inherent in A frames at the side walls. Front wall is of wood frame, glass and sliding glass doors for an unrestricted view of the vacation land outdoors. Almost half the front deck is covered by the overhung roof. A side porch contains outdoor laundry equipment and a stall shower. An interesting method of providing natural light in the kitchen and bath is by use of plastic domes. A third bedroom can be finished on the second floor. A full basement in which a heating unit can be installed is part of the structure. There are 962 square feet on the first floor and 324 on the second. Architect is Rudolph Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N. Y. 11501.

Steel Expects Slack Period

CLEVELAND (AP)—A slowdown in the production of steel is predicted for the last six months of 1968 and is expected to extend into the new year, Steel Magazine said today.

The slowdown could result not only from a possible work stoppage in August, but also because of large inventories accumulated by consumers earlier this year, the magazine added.

Because of heavy strike-hedge buying, record production of raw steel in the first six months of 1968 is certain, the metalworking weekly said.

The magazine estimated total output through May topped 62 million net tons. To equal the record 70.6 million tons set in the first half of 1965, also a strike-hedge year, furnaces would have to pour only 8.6 million tons in June.

About 2.8 million tons were produced in the week ended June 1, Steel said, and although production has tended to slip in recent weeks, output still is off only about two per cent from the record 2.9 million tons poured in the week ended April 27.

"With ordering past the peak, some steelmakers are idling older, uneconomic facilities that had been activated to meet the high demand of recent months," Steel said.

Assessments of the steel industry's financial performance for all of 1968 are difficult, the magazine said.

Apart from the strike threat, extended credit on strike-hedge tonnage and the proposed tax surcharge are also affecting profitability, Steel said.

The magazine noted some prices have increased in recent months, but there also has been some price-cutting.

Quoting industry financial analysts, Steel said end result for 1968 might be: Raw steel production of around 132 million tns, consumption of 100 million tons of finished steel, and domestic mill shipments of 93 million tons. The latter two figures will set records, the magazine added.

Steel's composite price on No. 1 heavy melting grade of steel making scrap slipped 16 cents a gross ton to $25.17 last week.

Martian Probe Not Expected To Find Life

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Any space probe sent to Mars in hopes of finding life will have to be highly mobile and programed to search intelligently, a researcher at the California Institute of Technology says.

"The prospects of landing an instrument package by chance alone on a rich, populated spot seem pretty bleak," says Charles N. David, a graduate student in biology.

David is one of three Cal Tech scientists who spent three months in Antarctica in an effort to determine what difficulties would be encountered in searching for life in the cold, barren deserts of Mars.

The project produced evidence as to what types of microscopic life might be encountered in such an area and what landmarks should be used in searching for them.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — About 40 persons were suspended in space for an hour Sunday night when the ferris wheel stalled at the newly opened Astroworld Amusement Park.

The ride, called the Astro-wheel, was in its second day of operation at the $10-million park near the Astrodome.

Mrs. Carlos Mosquedo of Austin, who expects a child in October, was among seven persons in one of the eight gondolas. She wasn't worried, she said, but her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Gonzales of Port Arthur, did some praying.

So you've painted before and managed to get through the job. And you have your paint, brushes, ladders and some old clothes. What's so hard — anyone can do it?

Sure — anyone can. But for some it's easier than for others. Use a few tricks of the trade and the job will be easier and turn out better.

PAINT IN the shade. The sun moves around your house and so should you — in the other direction. Especially in late spring and during the summer, you will find this will avoid a great deal of discomfort.

Aside from the comfort factor, you will end up with a better painted surface. The sun is a villain in paint failures, often causing it to blister before it is thoroughly dry.

Paint on a dry surface. Sure, modern latex paints will go on safely over a surface that is not thoroughly dry, but that's no reason to tempt your luck and rush right out and paint after a heavy rain. And if you are using oil-based paints, play safe and wait a few days.

GET ENOUGH paint so that you go right through the job without stopping to run to the store. Paint labels will help you estimate your needs but a good rule of thumb is 400 square feet to the gallon for the average older house.

There is a difference between turpentine and mineral spirits. You are better off thinning with the latter. Turpentine is a pretty caustic substance. Use it to thin only during colder days in the autumn when paint may not dry as fast.

If you are painting your house white, do not use plain white paint. Put a little lamp black in it; about a teaspoon per gallon. The resulting slightly off-white color will be more pleasing to the eye and will not show the dirt quite so much.

CHECK your surfaces before you paint. Don't paint over a surface that is dirty or chalking. Clean it first. A wire brush is the handiest thing to carry around for the purpose.

Caulk before you paint, not after. Caulk around doors and windows, in corners, between siding. Caulking will preserve the paint job by keeping out moisture. Caulking first will speed up the job since you can paint right over the caulking rather than touching up later.

Use drop cloths. You will save yourself a lot of time cleaning up sidewalks and drives later on. Use them to protect shrubbery around the house.

Keep a rag handy. Drops of paint where they are not wanted can be wiped up easily if done immediately.

Keep a putty knife in your pocket too. Use it to scrape away blistered or peeling paint. When painting windows, wrap the rag around the putty knife to wipe paint smears. You can get right up to the putty line this way.

See any exposed nail heads? Give them a dab of aluminum paint before applying the finish coat. This will keep them from rusting through.

After you have painted an area, pause before you come down off the ladder. Look carefully for spots you may have skipped. It's easier to touch them up now than to climb all the way back up.

'Finish' Lumber Indicates That Free Of Defects

AP Newsfeatures

Question: In lumber yard advertisements, I often have seen the term "finish" lumber. What does this mean?

Answer: It refers to lumber which is virtually free of defects. It's sometimes called "select" lumber. B and better grades are for fine furniture and similar top-quality projects. C is excellent for shelving and can be given a clear finish or painted. D usually is used when the wood is to be painted.

QUESTION: Some of the nails have begun to pop out of the plasterboard wall in one of our rooms. Should I replace them with nails of the same size or should I use longer ones?

Answer: The same size will do. But don't put them into the same holes. Remove all the old nails and plaster the openings. Drive new serrated or screw-type nails through the boards into the framing close to the old nailing spots. Plaster the heads of the new nails and they should hold indefinitely.

QUESTION: I've taken the old finish off a cabinet and now I would like to lighten the wood by bleaching. How soon after putting on the bleach can I apply a sealer?

Answer: Wait at least 24 hours, sand the wood very lightly with a fine grade of sandpaper. Wipe off the grit. You can then go ahead with the sealer.

How Can I?

Q. — How can I clean glass-fiber draperies?

A. — Wash in hot suds or detergent, by hand or in a washer—being sure, of course, to remove all hooks and other attachments that might snag. Rehang while they're still wet (but not dripping), and straighten the hems gently with your fingers. Glass - fiber materials should never be scrubbed during washing, squeezed, or twisted. They are never ironed either.

Q. — How can I encourage brightly - colored fabrics to stay bright when washing?

A. — You can prevent their graying if you'll add a tablespoonful of vinegar to the next-to-last rinse.

Q. — What measures can I take when I have inadvertently spilled ink on a rug?

A. — Cover the spot immediately with fresh milk, then mop it up. Cover the spot with cornstarch for a few minutes, run the vacuum cleaner over it, and rinse the spot with mild soap and water.

Q. — How can I prepare "petite toast" for serving at breakfast?

A. — Slice hard rolls or French bread into rings ½ to ¾ inch thick. Dip into your favorite French-toast mixture and saute as usual. This is particularly good with whole-wheat rolls.

Q. — How can I prevent bias-cut skirts or dresses from developing a wavy hemline while ironing?

A. — By ironing them properly with the weave of the cloth.

Q. — Do you have any suggestions for dealing with scorch on cottons?

A. — Try this: Wet the spot first with water, then cover with a thick paste of starch and water, let dry, then use a clean cloth and peroxide to sponge it off. Press the article again, and hang in the sun for several hours.

They're In Your Backyard

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Your backyard boobytraps may be nearly as dangerous as those found on a battlefield.

Safety precautions will insure a healthful summer for the family.

For example, there are the swimming pool horror tales. A neighbor's completely guarded pool may be just as dangerous for inquisitive neighboring tots as an unfenced one.

One person had a fence with locked gate and a cover over a pool, but a child drowned in rain water that had collected in the pool cover after a downpour. The person who had taken all these precautions obviously was safety - minded, yet an unsafe condition arose that should have been noted.

THE CHILD of a threatrical personality was outdoors with nurse, mother, father and teenage sister. He managed to run barefoot in the sand over hot embers left from the previous night's luau. His badly burned feet gave him and the family an unhappy summer.

Broken glass is another bugaboo for children who enjoy running around barefoot, and even for adults who attempt to remove it with bare hands. One gardener bent down to pick up a bottle that proved to be broken. She wound up in the hospital with a severe cut.

Another potential danger — particularly to children allergic to bees — are yellowjacket nests in the ground where children are likely to play. If you see yellowjackets, try to locate their nest and warn youngsters. Remove the nest when you can.

GLASS doors that lead to gardens and patios cause a great many accidents even to wary adults, especially in summer when doors are likely to be kept cleaner.

A spiral motif in the center of each door or a little border of something or other at the bottom of the doors may provide warning. Removable muntins can provide visual restraints.

Slippery surfaces around pools should be carpeted in nonskid materials and the pool should be inspected by the family scuba expert before it is used by unwary guests.

Many accidents are caused because a person dives into a pool that is loaded with children's toys. One person dived into such a pool before his host had arisen, hitting his head on the raised ladder of a large metal fire engine.

It's a good idea to be cautious about inviting people to use your swimming pool when you are away from the house. Your are liable for injuries and your best friend may not hesitate to sue if something goes awry.

SAFETY rules shouldn't be left at home when one goes off on a day trip. How often does one see in a small craft a big child wearing a little lifejacket that says "good for up to 50 pounds" — the same one he had when he was 4 years old.

All sorts of safety clothing is available in sporting goods shops, but entire families will board a boat completely unprepared for emergencies.

Country and shore doctors and resort hospital clinics do a thriving summer business as the result of some of the strangest little accidents. Everyone should make a visit to such an emergency station before he begins his vacation in the area.

A person should think twice about letting a small child bait a fishhook or run barefoot on an unclean beach.

OUTPATIENT departments of hospital clinics take on an atmosphere of comedy at times where inquisitive little boys may be seen sitting with an arm stuck in a bottle or thumb in the small hole of a flower pot. One boy observed was wearing a birdcage over his head. No one at home had a tinsnips.

But it isn't only the lollipop set that has amusing, freak accidents.

On man with teeth marks on his arm explained that he had reached in a zoo cage to retrieve his child's sweater and he had been bitten by a monkey. Well —that's what he told the doctor.

You Don't Need To Be Stuck With Faulty Windows

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

A close survey concerning new houses in this country indicates that in 95 per cent of them only about half of the windows open easily. The other half either open after a struggle or remain inoperative.

To begin with, all new building window assemblies are complete units, consisting of the frame and the sash, all ready to install. As a rule, they arrive on the job without any protecting paint and are exposed to rain and weather until they are set in the window openings. As a result, the new house starts with window trouble.

The average window consists of an upper and lower sash. These slide in grooves in the window frame, and it is swelling before installation, plus careless painting, that causes window trouble.

In an effort to overcome this difficulty, the average home owner hammers, tugs, wrenches and struggles with the sash to either lower or raise them. In so doing, he is breaking out the joints in the sash and leaving them open to attack by weather and the average household humidity.

All sashes can be made to operate easily by wrapping a piece of sandpaper around a block of wood and sanding down the grooves in which the sash slides. Actually, you only need about a sixteenth of an inch of clearance. Then when a lubricant is applied to the grooves, your sash will slide properly and you won't wreck the windows with daily abuse.

It has been estimated that one hour of time by an intelligent person will make any window operative and void an expensive replacement.

It's a good idea to be cautious about inviting people to use your swimming pool when you are away from the house. Your are liable for injuries and your best friend may not hesitate to sue if something goes awry.

SAFETY rules shouldn't be left at home when one goes off on a day trip. How often does one see in a small craft a big child wearing a little lifejacket that says "good for up to 50 pounds" — the same one he had when he was 4 years old.

All sorts of safety clothing is available in sporting goods shops, but entire families will board a boat completely unprepared for emergencies.

Country and shore doctors and resort hospital clinics do a thriving summer business as the result of some of the strangest little accidents. Everyone should make a visit to such an emergency station before he begins his vacation in the area.

A person should think twice about letting a small child bait a fishhook or run barefoot on an unclean beach.

OUTPATIENT departments of hospital clinics take on an atmosphere of comedy at times where inquisitive little boys may be seen sitting with an arm stuck in a bottle or thumb in the small hole of a flower pot. One boy observed was wearing a birdcage over his head. No one at home had a tinsnips.

But it isn't only the lollipop set that has amusing, freak accidents.

On man with teeth marks on his arm explained that he had reached in a zoo cage to retrieve his child's sweater and he had been bitten by a monkey. Well —that's what he told the doctor.

You Don't Need To Be Stuck With Faulty Windows

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

A close survey concerning new houses in this country indicates that in 95 per cent of them only about half of the windows open easily. The other half either open after a struggle or remain inoperative.

To begin with, all new building window assemblies are complete units, consisting of the frame and the sash, all ready to install. As a rule, they arrive on the job without any protecting paint and are exposed to rain and weather until they are set in the window openings. As a result, the new house starts with window trouble.

The average window consists of an upper and lower sash. These slide in grooves in the window frame, and it is swelling before installation, plus careless painting, that causes window trouble.

In an effort to overcome this difficulty, the average home owner hammers, tugs, wrenches and struggles with the sash to either lower or raise them. In so doing, he is breaking out the joints in the sash and leaving them open to attack by weather and the average household humidity.

All sashes can be made to operate easily by wrapping a piece of sandpaper around a block of wood and sanding down the grooves in which the sash slides. Actually, you only need about a sixteenth of an inch of clearance. Then when a lubricant is applied to the grooves, your sash will slide properly and you won't wreck the windows with daily abuse.

It has been estimated that one hour of time by an intelligent person will make any window operative and void an expensive replacement.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Funeral Directors Association opens its 88th annual convention here Tuesday with some 2,000 persons expected for a three-day meeting.

Speakers will include Howard C. Raether, Milwaukee, Wis., executive director of the National Funeral Directors Association, and Paul Harvey, Chicago, ABC news commentator.

Tank Disqualified In Sports Car Race

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Pfc. Peter Pittock won't get to race his tank in the Portland Rose Festival sports car races this weekend.

Officials said they disqualified Pittock because he failed to submit his entry fee.

Small Plane Crashes

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A Circleville pilot, Emerson Connell, 36, escaped injury Sunday when his Cessna plane crashed in a field two miles west of Circleville. Connell had just taken off from Thomas Airfield and his engine quit. He swerved to avoid a house.

Final qualifying for the National Open will take place in this area at Sewickley Heights Golf Course.

This course is rated by Golf Magazine as the toughest in Pennsylvania, and if you've ever played it, you'll have to agree. Very long, with narrow fairways and lots of hazards, both sand and water.

Among those having to qualify at Sewickley Heights are Britisher Tony Jacklin, winner of the 1968 Jacksonville Open; Australian Bruce Devlin, who won the Carling World Tournament in 1966, and Lew Worsham, veteran pro from Oakmont. The Open will be June 13-16 at Rochester, N. Y.

CHARLES (BUDDY) Schultz, who threw two seven-inning shutouts in the same day to give Cleveland Shaw the state baseball title, will attend Miami U. in Oxford next year. Schultz' coach, John Hicks, was blasted in the Cleveland papers for using his star twice in a day. It's a rare high school baseball standout that gets as much publicity as the Shaw lefthander.

THE YOUNGSTOWN U. golf team, which has gone 18-2-1 on the season, will play in the NCAA college division golf championship at Beaumont, Tex., June 11-14.

Tribe Wins 10-5, Drops 2nd 11-3

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fans were still lined up at the ticket windows outside Cleveland Stadium Sunday more than an hour after the first game of a doubleheader between the Indians and Washington began.

After all got inside, attendance added up to 49,952 —largest home crowd here since July 25, 1965, when the New York Yankees were visitors.

And it was the largest crowd here in 20 years to see the Senators who have a drawing card in the league's leader in batting, home runs and runs batted in — big Frank Howard.

Tribe General Manager Gabe Paul said more than 35,000 tickets were sold at the park. He called it the "largest gate sale in the history of the club."

The action on the diamond where the Indians won 10-5 then lost 11-3 was not the whole attraction. There was a bat-day promotion in which the ball club gave 24,500 Little League bats to youngsters who had to be under 16 and accompanied by an adult.

The big crowd watched the Indians get 15 hits in the opener, when they hopped off to an 8-0 lead in the first two innings. Then in the nightcap Jim Hannan retired 26 Indians in order and allowed only four hits.

Three players got a dozen of the Cleveland hits in the opener. Joe Azcue rapped five singles and Larry Brown four, and Chico Salmon got his first homer, a three-run drive in the opening inning, then added two singles.

Steve Hargan, who chalked up his fourth victory for the Tribe, said it was "the worst game I ever pitched in my life." The 10 hits Steve gave included a third-inning homer by Ron Hansen off the left field pole for the Senators' first run and a trio of singles by Del Unser, one of them with the bases loaded in the fourth for two runs.

Hannan, a 28-year-old righthander the Senators brought up from Buffalo last week, was on the verge of being removed in the first inning of the nightcap. The first batter, Brown, doubled and the second one, Lee Maye, homered.

But then he settled down and didn't give up another hit until the ninth inning.

S. Illinois Beats OU, Wins Title

The Salukis were led to victory by pitcher Howard Nickason who threw an eight hitter, walking only one, and knocked in an insurance tally in the seventh fram with a single.

Southern Illinois jumped into the lead to stay in the bottom half of the first inning when Don Kirtland banged a two-out homer off Ohio pitcher Billy Clauss.

In the seventh Southern Illinois tallied the game's final run. Bob Blakley, the hero in Saturday's win over Minnesota, led off by slapping a double with none out. Blakeley took third on a wild pitch by Ohio pitcher Ed Robbins. The next Salukis, Jerry Smith, banged a ball right at the third baseman who flipped home to erase Blakley. Smith took first on the fielder's choice.

The Salukis thus advance to the NCAA baseball tourney next week in Omaha, Neb.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Two members of the Ohio University baseball team that advanced as far as the finals of the NCAA District Four tournament here have been named to the all-tourney team. They are shortstop Rich McKinney and pitcher John Morlan.

Local Legion Defeats Columbiana In Opener

East Liverpool American Legion Post 374 broke open a scoreless tie by exploding for six runs in the sixth inning and coasted to a 7-3 win over Columbiana in the opener of the Columbiana County American Legion baseball league yesterday at Columbiana.

Gary (Mike) Caruso was the winning pitcher for East Liverpool, yielding only two hits until Columbiana rallied in the seventh. Sam Doughty came on to get the final two outs. Schilling took the loss.

The big inning started when Rex Campbell singled with one out. Tom Chambers tripled for the first run, and Jim Musuraca doubled for another. With two outs Jerry Howell singled for the third run and a walk to Caruso and an error on a ball hit by Bill Montgomery loaded the bases. Dan Cunningham slammed a two-run double.

Post 374 will play at Salem Wednesday at 6 p. m. Leetonia will play at Columbiana the same time. Salem and Leetonia were idle yesterday.

Blair-Morse, Central Win Colt Contests

Blair-Morse and Central Service won sudden-death Colt League games yesterday.

Blair-Morse edged the Lawyers 3-2 by scoring in the last of the seventh and Central nipped Riverview 6-5 in nine innings.

Blair-Morse's winning run scored when Terry Boyd walked, took second on an out by Kim Kemple and scored on a hit by Mike Smith. Vic Reed got the win in relief of Steve Murray, while George Thompson took the loss. Rick Welsh had two hits for the winners.

Central's winning run came when Jim (El) Parson singled, was sacrificed to second and came around on a passed ball and a wild pitch. Jim Moore got the win in relief and Larry Marshall was the loser, also in relief. Larry Carter had a double and single, Dave Rogers two singles and Mike Wilkenson a double for Riverview. Fred Henderson and Parson each had two singles for the winners and Fred Brown slammed a triple.

Columbus Takes Lead In IL Race

By The Associated Press

Columbus and Toledo moved into a tie for the International League lead Sunday night and high-flying Rochester got shunted to third place.

Columbus utilized the four-hit pitching of John Gelner to defeat Jacksonville 3-1. Gelner, who gave up only one walk, has a 5-1 record.

Toledo swept a doubleheader from Rochester 6-5 and 4-1. Rochester first baseman Mike Fiore's three consecutive home runs were offset by a three-run Mud Hen rally in the ninth inning. Toledo pitcher Jack Dilauro hurled a one-hitter for his fourth straight victory in the afterpiece.

Buffalo split a twin-bill with Syracuse, winning the opener 8-4 but dropping the rain-shortened nightcap 3-2. Louisville defeated Richmond 7-0 on a five-run rally in the second inning and shut-out pitching by Dave Morehead.

Mrs. Koos, Mrs. Pickin Tie In Golf

Mrs. J. M. Koos and Mrs. William Pickin tied for low gross in ladies golf play at the East Liverpool Country Club Saturday.

Both women fired 53-51-104. Mrs. J. R. McLaren had low net with 20 points in the par-birdie-eagle contest. Mrs. McLaren also had the least putts, 28.

Mrs. Arthur Doak had low gross in the second division with a 61. Mrs. W. J. Hocking had low net with 8 points. Mrs. Hocking and Mrs. William Sulkes tied for least putts with 17 each.

Marichal Wins 9th

Cards Regain NL Lead; Pirates Vacate Cellar

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Marichal became the first nine-game winner in the majors Sunday, shackling Los Angeles on three hits for his fifth straight victory since May 7 as the San Francisco Giants cuffed the Dodgers 5-19

Stargell, notorious for his June batting rampages, belted six hits, including a pair of homers, and knocked in six runs as Pittsburgh divided a doubleheader with Atlanta, winning the opener 8-4 before bowing 10-5.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, soared back into the National League lead after 11 days off the pace by sweeping a twin bill from the New York Mets 6-3 and 3-2.

Cincinnati trimmed Philadelphia 5-3 and the Chicago Cubs took Houston 3-2 in 12 innings in other National League games.

Marichal, 9-2, turned in his strongest performance of the year on the way to his fifth complete game triumph since Houston beat him 7-1 nearly a month ago. The Giants' ace blanked the Dodgers on two scattered hits until Wes Parker homered in the ninth.

Jim Hart and Dick Dietz each drove in two runs as the Giants punished loser Don Sutton and three relievers with a 13-hit attack.

Stargell hiked his batting average 23 points to .302 and grabbed the league lead in homers, with 10, and RBI, with 30, while wearing out Atlanta pitching. The big outfielder, who has homered in four consecutive games, delivered four runs in the first game with two singles, a double and a homer.

His two-run homer and a bases-empty shot by Roberto Clemente gave the Pirates a 3-0 first inning lead in the nightcap, but the Braves, led by Deron Johnson and Felipe Alou, rebounded behind a 17-hit barrage to gain the split.

Johnson cracked four singles and drove in two runs in a five-run seventh inning flurry that sent the Braves ahead to stay. Alou, who had four hits in the first game, contributed three more singles. He drove in the tying run and scored the go-ahead run in the seventh and singled again in the eighth to start a three-run insurance burst.

Roger Maris scored the winning run from first base on Orlando Cepeda's pop fly single in the seventh inning of the second game at New York, enabling the Cardinals to run their winning string to five games and move one-half length ahead of the Giants. Atlanta is one game behind in third place.

Dick Simpson's two-run homer and two-run singles by Mike Shannon and Tim McCarver backed Bob Gibson's strong pitching in the opener.

Jim Maloney stopped Philadelphia on five hits and the Reds wiped out a 3-2 deficit with three fifth inning runs. Vada Pinson doubled home the tying run with two out in the fifth and scored on Alex Johnson's single before Lee May capped the rally with a run-scoring pinch single.

Four 1-Run Wins

White Sox Sweep Twins With Help From Ball Boy

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Cal Ermer was the first man on Minnesota's plane out of Chicago, he could hardly be blamed. Those White Sox can drive any manager to distraction and Ermer certainly had his fill of them over the weekend.

The Sox completed a four-game sweep from the Twins Sunday with 3-2 and 4-3 victories that boosted their total runs for the series to 10. Ten runs and they swept?

After losing 2-1 in 14 innings Friday night and 1-0 despite 8 1-3 hitless innings pitched by Dean Chance Saturday, Ermer should have been ready for anything Sunday. And he was too, except, perhaps, for the ball boy, who, of course, helped the Sox beat him.

Now, for Ermer and the ball boy.

Tommy Davis, who had opened the fourth inning of the first game with a double, was on second and Gerry McNertney on first with two out when Tim Cullen doubled down the left field line. Both runners scored as shortstop Cesar Tovar and left fielder Rich Reese stumbled around the youngster, who is stationed in the corner to retrieve foul balls.

The Twins protested but Umpire John Rice ruled the boy hadn't interfered intentionally and the runs scored. Rollins singled home a run in the eighth that snapped a 23-inning scoreless string for Minnesota. But McNertney's suicide squeeze brought in another run for the Sox in the bottom half and gave them enough to stand off a last-gasp Minnesota rally in the ninth.

McNertney then snapped a 3-3 tie in the ninth inning of the nightcap with a single that secured the sweep. Earlier, Tony Oliva, who had six straight hits, tagged his second homer of the game, tying it for Minnesota. Oliva and Harmon Killebrew had consecutive homers in the second inning and Cullen had a two-run shot for Chicago.

Jim Nash pitched Oakland's sixth consecutive complete game with a five-hitter that beat California. Nash struck out five men in the first two innings and finished with eight. Five doubles—two of them by Floyd Robinson—and an inside the park homer by Reggie Jackson powered the A's.

Baltimore pushed a run across in the fifth inning on Curt Motton's two-out single and edge the Red Sox with rain ending the game in the sixth. Curt Blefary tripled two runs home for the Orioles and Carl Yastrzemski homered for Boston.

"Mark Twain" was the river pilot's call to indicate that water was two fathoms deep.

Stage Door Johnny Rush Bats Down Forward Pass

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Why shouldn't a horse starting in his first stakes race win a Triple Crown event? Just about everything else has happened in the world's most famous series of races.

The Greentree Stable colt, whose only two previous victories were in a maiden race and an allowance test, caught Forward Pass with one-eighth of a mile to go and beat him to the wire by 1¼ lengths.

Dancer's Image charged home first in the Kentucky Derby only to become the victim of the first disqualification in the 94-year history of the race when a postrace test disclosed an illegal medication in his system.

Calumet Farm's Forward Pass was moved to first by the disqualification and became eligible to be the ninth Triple Crown winner and first since Citation in 1948.

Forward Pass romped home in the Preakness but he had to share the headlines with Dancer's Image. This time Peter Fuller's colt became the first to be disqualified in 93 Preakness runnings, being set down from third to eighth for interfering with two horses in the stretch.

Next came the Belmont, and this time Dancer's Image was out of the picture—the gimpy-ankled colt was retired to stud four days before the race.

With Heliodoro Gustines rating him perfectly, Stage Door Johnny was lying an easy third after the first mile of the 1½-mile grind.

Turning for home, Gustines asked Stage Door Johnny to move and he responded by flying past Forward Pass, who had led from the start, with a sizzling final quarter-mile drive in 24 4-5 seconds.

"He's a runner, he likes to run," Gustines said after Stage Door Johnny ran home in 2:27 1-5, second only to Gallant Man's stakes and track record of 2:26 3-5 in 1957.

Forward Pass was 12 lengths ahead of Mrs. Adele Rand's tiring Call Me Prince who saved the show by five lengths over Robert J. Kleberg's Draft Card. The latter two are trained by 87-year-old Max Hirsch who was bidding for his fifth Belmont victory.

The son of Prince John-Peroxide Blonde returned to the races April 17 when he finished third in a maiden race. He then won his first race May 8, followed with a victory in an allowance race and gave trainer John Gaver his third Belmont victory Saturday.

Among those having to qualify at Sewickley Heights are Britisher Tony Jacklin, winner of the 1968 Jacksonville Open; Australian Bruce Devlin, who won the Carling World Tournament in 1966, and Lew Worsham, veteran pro from Oakmont. The Open will be June 13-16 at Rochester, N. Y.

CHARLES (BUDDY) Schultz, who threw two seven-inning shutouts in the same day to give Cleveland Shaw the state baseball title, will attend Miami U. in Oxford next year. Schultz' coach, John Hicks, was blasted in the Cleveland papers for using his star twice in a day. It's a rare high school baseball standout that gets as much publicity as the Shaw lefthander.

THE YOUNGSTOWN U. golf team, which has gone 18-2-1 on the season, will play in the NCAA college division golf championship at Beaumont, Tex., June 11-14.

Tribe Wins 10-5, Drops 2nd 11-3

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fans were still lined up at the ticket windows outside Cleveland Stadium Sunday more than an hour after the first game of a doubleheader between the Indians and Washington began.

After all got inside, attendance added up to 49,952 —largest home crowd here since July 25, 1965, when the New York Yankees were visitors.

And it was the largest crowd here in 20 years to see the Senators who have a drawing card in the league's leader in batting, home runs and runs batted in — big Frank Howard.

Tribe General Manager Gabe Paul said more than 35,000 tickets were sold at the park. He called it the "largest gate sale in the history of the club."

The action on the diamond where the Indians won 10-5 then lost 11-3 was not the whole attraction. There was a bat-day promotion in which the ball club gave 24,500 Little League bats to youngsters who had to be under 16 and accompanied by an adult.

The big crowd watched the Indians get 15 hits in the opener, when they hopped off to an 8-0 lead in the first two innings. Then in the nightcap Jim Hannan retired 26 Indians in order and allowed only four hits.

Three players got a dozen of the Cleveland hits in the opener. Joe Azcue rapped five singles and Larry Brown four, and Chico Salmon got his first homer, a three-run drive in the opening inning, then added two singles.

Steve Hargan, who chalked up his fourth victory for the Tribe, said it was "the worst game I ever pitched in my life." The 10 hits Steve gave included a third-inning homer by Ron Hansen off the left field pole for the Senators' first run and a trio of singles by Del Unser, one of them with the bases loaded in the fourth for two runs.

Hannan, a 28-year-old righthander the Senators brought up from Buffalo last week, was on the verge of being removed in the first inning of the nightcap. The first batter, Brown, doubled and the second one, Lee Maye, homered.

But then he settled down and didn't give up another hit until the ninth inning.

S. Illinois Beats OU, Wins Title

The Salukis were led to victory by pitcher Howard Nickason who threw an eight hitter, walking only one, and knocked in an insurance tally in the seventh fram with a single.

Southern Illinois jumped into the lead to stay in the bottom half of the first inning when Don Kirtland banged a two-out homer off Ohio pitcher Billy Clauss.

In the seventh Southern Illinois tallied the game's final run. Bob Blakley, the hero in Saturday's win over Minnesota, led off by slapping a double with none out. Blakeley took third on a wild pitch by Ohio pitcher Ed Robbins. The next Salukis, Jerry Smith, banged a ball right at the third baseman who flipped home to erase Blakley. Smith took first on the fielder's choice.

The Salukis thus advance to the NCAA baseball tourney next week in Omaha, Neb.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Two members of the Ohio University baseball team that advanced as far as the finals of the NCAA District Four tournament here have been named to the all-tourney team. They are shortstop Rich McKinney and pitcher John Morlan.

Local Legion Defeats Columbiana In Opener

East Liverpool American Legion Post 374 broke open a scoreless tie by exploding for six runs in the sixth inning and coasted to a 7-3 win over Columbiana in the opener of the Columbiana County American Legion baseball league yesterday at Columbiana.

Gary (Mike) Caruso was the winning pitcher for East Liverpool, yielding only two hits until Columbiana rallied in the seventh. Sam Doughty came on to get the final two outs. Schilling took the loss.

The big inning started when Rex Campbell singled with one out. Tom Chambers tripled for the first run, and Jim Musuraca doubled for another. With two outs Jerry Howell singled for the third run and a walk to Caruso and an error on a ball hit by Bill Montgomery loaded the bases. Dan Cunningham slammed a two-run double.

Post 374 will play at Salem Wednesday at 6 p. m. Leetonia will play at Columbiana the same time. Salem and Leetonia were idle yesterday.

Blair-Morse, Central Win Colt Contests

Blair-Morse and Central Service won sudden-death Colt League games yesterday.

Blair-Morse edged the Lawyers 3-2 by scoring in the last of the seventh and Central nipped Riverview 6-5 in nine innings.

Blair-Morse's winning run scored when Terry Boyd walked, took second on an out by Kim Kemple and scored on a hit by Mike Smith. Vic Reed got the win in relief of Steve Murray, while George Thompson took the loss. Rick Welsh had two hits for the winners.

Central's winning run came when Jim (El) Parson singled, was sacrificed to second and came around on a passed ball and a wild pitch. Jim Moore got the win in relief and Larry Marshall was the loser, also in relief. Larry Carter had a double and single, Dave Rogers two singles and Mike Wilkenson a double for Riverview. Fred Henderson and Parson each had two singles for the winners and Fred Brown slammed a triple.

Columbus Takes Lead In IL Race

By The Associated Press

Columbus and Toledo moved into a tie for the International League lead Sunday night and high-flying Rochester got shunted to third place.

Columbus utilized the four-hit pitching of John Gelner to defeat Jacksonville 3-1. Gelner, who gave up only one walk, has a 5-1 record.

Toledo swept a doubleheader from Rochester 6-5 and 4-1. Rochester first baseman Mike Fiore's three consecutive home runs were offset by a three-run Mud Hen rally in the ninth inning. Toledo pitcher Jack Dilauro hurled a one-hitter for his fourth straight victory in the afterpiece.

Buffalo split a twin-bill with Syracuse, winning the opener 8-4 but dropping the rain-shortened nightcap 3-2. Louisville defeated Richmond 7-0 on a five-run rally in the second inning and shut-out pitching by Dave Morehead.

Mrs. Koos, Mrs. Pickin Tie In Golf

Mrs. J. M. Koos and Mrs. William Pickin tied for low gross in ladies golf play at the East Liverpool Country Club Saturday.

Both women fired 53-51-104. Mrs. J. R. McLaren had low net with 20 points in the par-birdie-eagle contest. Mrs. McLaren also had the least putts, 28.

Mrs. Arthur Doak had low gross in the second division with a 61. Mrs. W. J. Hocking had low net with 8 points. Mrs. Hocking and Mrs. William Sulkes tied for least putts with 17 each.

Marichal Wins 9th

Cards Regain NL Lead; Pirates Vacate Cellar

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Marichal became the first nine-game winner in the majors Sunday, shackling Los Angeles on three hits for his fifth straight victory since May 7 as the San Francisco Giants cuffed the Dodgers 5-19

Stargell, notorious for his June batting rampages, belted six hits, including a pair of homers, and knocked in six runs as Pittsburgh divided a doubleheader with Atlanta, winning the opener 8-4 before bowing 10-5.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, soared back into the National League lead after 11 days off the pace by sweeping a twin bill from the New York Mets 6-3 and 3-2.

Cincinnati trimmed Philadelphia 5-3 and the Chicago Cubs took Houston 3-2 in 12 innings in other National League games.

Marichal, 9-2, turned in his strongest performance of the year on the way to his fifth complete game triumph since Houston beat him 7-1 nearly a month ago. The Giants' ace blanked the Dodgers on two scattered hits until Wes Parker homered in the ninth.

Jim Hart and Dick Dietz each drove in two runs as the Giants punished loser Don Sutton and three relievers with a 13-hit attack.

Stargell hiked his batting average 23 points to .302 and grabbed the league lead in homers, with 10, and RBI, with 30, while wearing out Atlanta pitching. The big outfielder, who has homered in four consecutive games, delivered four runs in the first game with two singles, a double and a homer.

His two-run homer and a bases-empty shot by Roberto Clemente gave the Pirates a 3-0 first inning lead in the nightcap, but the Braves, led by Deron Johnson and Felipe Alou, rebounded behind a 17-hit barrage to gain the split.

Johnson cracked four singles and drove in two runs in a five-run seventh inning flurry that sent the Braves ahead to stay. Alou, who had four hits in the first game, contributed three more singles. He drove in the tying run and scored the go-ahead run in the seventh and singled again in the eighth to start a three-run insurance burst.

Roger Maris scored the winning run from first base on Orlando Cepeda's pop fly single in the seventh inning of the second game at New York, enabling the Cardinals to run their winning string to five games and move one-half length ahead of the Giants. Atlanta is one game behind in third place.

Dick Simpson's two-run homer and two-run singles by Mike Shannon and Tim McCarver backed Bob Gibson's strong pitching in the opener.

Jim Maloney stopped Philadelphia on five hits and the Reds wiped out a 3-2 deficit with three fifth inning runs. Vada Pinson doubled home the tying run with two out in the fifth and scored on Alex Johnson's single before Lee May capped the rally with a run-scoring pinch single.

Four 1-Run Wins

White Sox Sweep Twins With Help From Ball Boy

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Cal Ermer was the first man on Minnesota's plane out of Chicago, he could hardly be blamed. Those White Sox can drive any manager to distraction and Ermer certainly had his fill of them over the weekend.

The Sox completed a four-game sweep from the Twins Sunday with 3-2 and 4-3 victories that boosted their total runs for the series to 10. Ten runs and they swept?

After losing 2-1 in 14 innings Friday night and 1-0 despite 8 1-3 hitless innings pitched by Dean Chance Saturday, Ermer should have been ready for anything Sunday. And he was too, except, perhaps, for the ball boy, who, of course, helped the Sox beat him.

Now, for Ermer and the ball boy.

Tommy Davis, who had opened the fourth inning of the first game with a double, was on second and Gerry McNertney on first with two out when Tim Cullen doubled down the left field line. Both runners scored as shortstop Cesar Tovar and left fielder Rich Reese stumbled around the youngster, who is stationed in the corner to retrieve foul balls.

The Twins protested but Umpire John Rice ruled the boy hadn't interfered intentionally and the runs scored. Rollins singled home a run in the eighth that snapped a 23-inning scoreless string for Minnesota. But McNertney's suicide squeeze brought in another run for the Sox in the bottom half and gave them enough to stand off a last-gasp Minnesota rally in the ninth.

McNertney then snapped a 3-3 tie in the ninth inning of the nightcap with a single that secured the sweep. Earlier, Tony Oliva, who had six straight hits, tagged his second homer of the game, tying it for Minnesota. Oliva and Harmon Killebrew had consecutive homers in the second inning and Cullen had a two-run shot for Chicago.

Jim Nash pitched Oakland's sixth consecutive complete game with a five-hitter that beat California. Nash struck out five men in the first two innings and finished with eight. Five doubles—two of them by Floyd Robinson—and an inside the park homer by Reggie Jackson powered the A's.

Baltimore pushed a run across in the fifth inning on Curt Motton's two-out single and edge the Red Sox with rain ending the game in the sixth. Curt Blefary tripled two runs home for the Orioles and Carl Yastrzemski homered for Boston.

Stage Door Johnny Rush Bats Down Forward Pass

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Why shouldn't a horse starting in his first stakes race win a Triple Crown event? Just about everything else has happened in the world's most famous series of races.

The Greentree Stable colt, whose only two previous victories were in a maiden race and an allowance test, caught Forward Pass with one-eighth of a mile to go and beat him to the wire by 1¼ lengths.

Dancer's Image charged home first in the Kentucky Derby only to become the victim of the first disqualification in the 94-year history of the race when a postrace test disclosed an illegal medication in his system.

Calumet Farm's Forward Pass was moved to first by the disqualification and became eligible to be the ninth Triple Crown winner and first since Citation in 1948.

Forward Pass romped home in the Preakness but he had to share the headlines with Dancer's Image. This time Peter Fuller's colt became the first to be disqualified in 93 Preakness runnings, being set down from third to eighth for interfering with two horses in the stretch.

Next came the Belmont, and this time Dancer's Image was out of the picture—the gimpy-ankled colt was retired to stud four days before the race.

With Heliodoro Gustines rating him perfectly, Stage Door Johnny was lying an easy third after the first mile of the 1½-mile grind.

Turning for home, Gustines asked Stage Door Johnny to move and he responded by flying past Forward Pass, who had led from the start, with a sizzling final quarter-mile drive in 24 4-5 seconds.

"He's a runner, he likes to run," Gustines said after Stage Door Johnny ran home in 2:27 1-5, second only to Gallant Man's stakes and track record of 2:26 3-5 in 1957.

Forward Pass was 12 lengths ahead of Mrs. Adele Rand's tiring Call Me Prince who saved the show by five lengths over Robert J. Kleberg's Draft Card. The latter two are trained by 87-year-old Max Hirsch who was bidding for his fifth Belmont victory.

The son of Prince John-Peroxide Blonde returned to the races April 17 when he finished third in a maiden race. He then won his first race May 8, followed with a victory in an allowance race and gave trainer John Gaver his third Belmont victory Saturday.

Young Defeats Clarke, Sets American Record

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — George Young, a 30-year-old school teacher, and Jim Hines, a sometimes frustrated sprinter, scored upset victories in the Champions track and field meet.

Young finished five yards ahead of world recordholder Ron Clarke of Australia in the two-mile to set an American record of 8:22 before 10,482 Saturday in Balboa Stadium.

Hines shook off an earlier loss in the 100-yard dash and nipped Tommie Smith, San Jose State's world recordholder, in the 220, which Smith claimed he won. Hines and Smith were caught in 20.3, three-tenths off Tommie's world mark.

Young, a Casa Grande, Ariz., health educator, passed Clarke in the last lap and his 58 second quarter enabled him to run history's second-fastest mile—2.2 seconds off Clarke's mark.

The 140-pound Young said he nearly dropped out of the meet last Wednesday.

"I was exhausted," he recalled. "I felt ill. The weather at home had been about 107 degrees but my coach advised me to go ahead and run and just do the best I could."

His previous 1968 best was 8:37.8.

In the 220, Hines grabbed a three-yard lead on the curve but Smith nearly made it a dead heat. Tommie refused to appear and claim his second-place award but did not lodge an official protest, meet officials said.

"You have to get Smith on the curve," said Hines, of the Houston Striders. "I was blasting all the way. Against Tommie, there is no other way."

Glenville's Ware Stars In Ohio Track Classic

Ware won the event in 9.5 seconds to equal the record here. Harris, of Dayton Roth, was clocked in 9.6 seconds.

Ware's time was the same at which Harris was clocked when he won the 100-yard dash at the Class AA High School Championships a week ago to set a new state mark.

Harris also was edged here in the 220, settling for second place on a 21.3 effort. Gene Thomas of Akron South won the event in 21.2. Ware also led Glenville to victory in the 880 relay, anchoring the quartet home in 1:28.9.

Contestants here are limited to two events each and this prevented Harris and Ware from tangling again in the 220.

Rain slowed down the meet and the only record set was in the 120 high hurdles won by John Jackson of Sandusky in 14.1. That broke the old mark of 14.2 by Mike Thomas of Fairport Harbor in 1965 and Al Provitt of Warren Harding in 1967.

But in the triple jump, a new event, Milan Tiff of Shaker Heights posted an all-time Ohio schoolboy record of 48 feet, 8 inches, breaking his own mark of 48-4 set earlier this season.

Gary Lindstedt of Kent State High Varsity won the 440-yard dash in 47.6, only one-tenth-of-a-second off the record, but the fastest time ever registered by a Class A high school competitor.

Other winners included Ron Stapleton of Mentor with a 4:19.8 in the mile run; Larry Starks of Berea, 19.2 in the 180 low hurdles; sophomore Les Nagy of Niles McKinley, the state two-mile king, with a 9:31.6 in his specialty; state champion Cleveland John Adams on a 3:21.5 in the mile relay; Dave Coad, Berea, with a height of 14-0 in the pole vault; Ed Rowland, Marlington, 6-4 in the high jump; Al Robinson, Elyria, 22-5¼ in the long jump; state champ Ken Krueger, Sandusky, with 183-1½ in the discus; Ed Williams, Sandusky, with a 59-1 in the shot.

Exodus Lett Leads Way

Ashland Nips Mt. Union In Regional Track Meet

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Ashland College, led by Exodus Lett, swept five first places to edge defending champion Mount Union by one point and win the NCAA Mideast Regional College Division Track and Field Championships here Saturday.

Lett raced to victory in the 220-yard dash with a time of 22.3 and the 440-yard dash with a clocking of 48.5. In addition, Lett was on Ashland's winning 440 and mile relay teams. Ashland's other first was in the 120 high hurdles won by Don Tidwell in 14.5.

But the Eagles, in spite of the five firsts, used a fifth place finish by Jeff Payton in the discus, the last event of the day, to wrap up the victory over Mount Union 43½ to 42½. Payton's single point gave the Eagles their first title here.

The meet was held mostly during rain at Ohio Wesleyan's Selby Stadium. But despite the downpours, three records were broken and another tied.

Jim Kaminsky of Ohio Wesleyan won the mile in the record time of 4:12.7. Vaughn Davis of Mount Union set a new mark in the shot put with a toss of 54 feet, 15¼ inches. The other record was in the high jump with Cleveland State's Al Flores clearing the bar at 6 feet, 4½ inches.

O. J. Harboldt of Baldwin-Wallace ran the 100-yard dash in 09.8 to tie the record.

Other top team scores were Ohio Wesleyan, 34 points; Baldwin-Wallace 27; Hope, Mich.; Calvin, Mich., 14, and Carthage, Ill., and the University of Chicago, 11 each.

The meet attracted a record number of 228 performers from 28 colleges and universities.

Accuses Drysdale

Franks Charges Vaseline Takes Place Of Spitballs

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Manager Herman Franks of the San Francisco Giants charges more and more National League pitchers are substituting grease for spit in doctoring the baseballs they throw.

Franks calls them "vaseline balls" and declared all three Los Angeles Dodger pitchers his club faced during the weekend threw them.

He didn't limit his accusation to any particular team.

"I never saw so many guys with vaseline in their hair—just plastered down," said Franks after his club had beaten the Dodgers 5-1 Sunday. "Under the new rules, as long as a pitcher doesn't go to his mouth, he can go anyplace he wants.

I've seen caps sopped with vaseline. Pitchers keep it anyplace, on their wrists, on their foreheads, behind their ears. Anybody can throw it and it only takes a dab.

"We've seen it all this season but now we see it more and more. I'd say between 20 and 30 are using it."

Franks didn't mention whether any of his Giants threw the super slippery delivery but there was no suggestion that Juan Marichal used anything artificial as he tossed a three-hitter to beat the Dogers in the finale of a three-game series. Los Angeles won the first two.

The San Francisco manager was particularly pointed in saying Drysdale had substituted grease for spit, declaring, "He had one of the finer spitters and now he has this. He's more effective because he throws harder."

Gaylord Perry of the Giants also had been accused of throwing the spitter but by the time Franks had finished his discourse, the Dodgers had left the clubhouse without the opportunity of replying.

Franks' point was that the league should investigate immediately and bring a halt to illegal doctoring.

Final Open Qualifying Gets Under Way Today

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The final qualifying round to determine the 150 man field for the United States Open Golf championship begins in five locations today, with 206 players competing for 45 places.

Most of the glamor pros, including defending champion Jack Nicklaus, are among the 34 players who are exempt from all qualifying rounds for the 72 hole championship at the Oak Hill Country Club, Rochester, N.Y., June 13-16.

The other 116 spots will be filled today and Tuesday in 36 hole sectional qualifying rounds with a total of 470 pros and 131 amateurs competing in 13 locations.

Among those competing are six former Open champions and 56-year-old Sam Snead, still looking for the big one that got away.

Snead has won more than 100 tournaments and all the world's major titles—except the U.S. Open. He's been second four times. He will try for a spot in the final field Tuesday at Indianapolis.

The field will be completed Tuesday with qualifying rounds at Bakersfield, Calif., San Francisco, Washington, Detroit, St. Louis, Montclair, N.J., Pittsburgh and Indianapolis.

Players exempt from all qualifying are:

British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo.

Most of the touring pros not exempt will attempt to qualify at Atlanta, including Bob Lunn, winner of the last two tour tournaments. He took the Memphis Open week before last and copped the Atlanta classic Sunday.

Included in the Atlanta field are former Open Champions Jack Fleck, Dick Mayer, Tommy Bolt and Cary Middlecoff, who won the Open in 1956, the last time it was played at Oak Hill.

Others at Atlanta are Chi Chi Rodriguez and former PGA champions Lionel and Jay Hebert.

Ed Furgol, the 1954 Open champion, former PGA and Masters champ Doug Ford, former PGA champs Jim Turnesa and Vic Ghezzi are among those competing at Montclair, N.J.

In addition to Snead, the Indianapolis field includes Peter Thomson, five-time British Open champion.

Rau Pitches Old Fort To Class A Title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ron Rau tossed a one-hitter in pitching Old Fort to the Class A high school baseball championship with a 6-0 victory over Anna High School of Shelby County Saturday.

Rau was supported by a 10-hit performance from his teammates. Rau rapped a double himself and drove in two runs.

CHEVY PICKUPS HAVE MORE INNER STRENGTH!
ROAD-BALANCED RIDE — Husky coil springs at all four wheels soak up bumps, assure a smooth ride for people and cargo. Standard on ½-ton and ¾-ton models, all-round coil springs team perfectly with Chevy's famed independent front suspension.
LADDER-TYPE FRAME—The same type used on the biggest Chevy haulers. Heavy-gauge channel side rails are riveted to alligator jaw crossmembers. The result is an extra-strong chassis foundation that withstands tough usage.
DOUBLE-WALL CARGO BOX — Fleetside pickups have double-wall side panels and tailgate to protect exterior sheet metal from damage caused by shifting loads. You wind up with a pickup that stays new looking longer.
DURABLE CAB CONSTRUCTION — Added strength comes from double-wall construction in roof, cowl, door pillars and sills. Special insulation keeps out heat, cold and noise.
EXTRA WORKPOWER — Six hefty engines provide a wide range of power choices. Two Sixes and four V8's are available. All run on regular gasoline for exceptional operating economy.

Young Defeats Clarke, Sets American Record

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — George Young, a 30-year-old school teacher, and Jim Hines, a sometimes frustrated sprinter, scored upset victories in the Champions track and field meet.

Young finished five yards ahead of world recordholder Ron Clarke of Australia in the two-mile to set an American record of 8:22 before 10,482 Saturday in Balboa Stadium.

Hines shook off an earlier loss in the 100-yard dash and nipped Tommie Smith, San Jose State's world recordholder, in the 220, which Smith claimed he won. Hines and Smith were caught in 20.3, three-tenths off Tommie's world mark.

Young, a Casa Grande, Ariz., health educator, passed Clarke in the last lap and his 58 second quarter enabled him to run history's second-fastest mile—2.2 seconds off Clarke's mark.

The 140-pound Young said he nearly dropped out of the meet last Wednesday.

"I was exhausted," he recalled. "I felt ill. The weather at home had been about 107 degrees but my coach advised me to go ahead and run and just do the best I could."

His previous 1968 best was 8:37.8.

In the 220, Hines grabbed a three-yard lead on the curve but Smith nearly made it a dead heat. Tommie refused to appear and claim his second-place award but did not lodge an official protest, meet officials said.

"You have to get Smith on the curve," said Hines, of the Houston Striders. "I was blasting all the way. Against Tommie, there is no other way."

Bests Jim Harris

Glenville's Ware Stars In Ohio Track Classic

Ware won the event in 9.5 seconds to equal the record here. Harris, of Dayton Roth, was clocked in 9.6 seconds.

Ware's time was the same at which Harris was clocked when he won the 100-yard dash at the Class AA High School Championships a week ago to set a new state mark.

Harris also was edged here in the 220, settling for second place on a 21.3 effort. Gene Thomas of Akron South won the event in 21.2. Ware also led Glenville to victory in the 880 relay, anchoring the quartet home in 1:28.9.

Contestants here are limited to two events each and this prevented Harris and Ware from tangling again in the 220.

Rain slowed down the meet and the only record set was in the 120 high hurdles won by John Jackson of Sandusky in 14.1. That broke the old mark of 14.2 by Mike Thomas of Fairport Harbor in 1965 and Al Provitt of Warren Harding in 1967.

But in the triple jump, a new event, Milan Tiff of Shaker Heights posted an all-time Ohio schoolboy record of 48 feet, 8 inches, breaking his own mark of 48-4 set earlier this season.

Gary Lindstedt of Kent State High Varsity won the 440-yard dash in 47.6, only one-tenth-of-a-second off the record, but the fastest time ever registered by a Class A high school competitor.

Other winners included Ron Stapleton of Mentor with a 4:19.8 in the mile run; Larry Starks of Berea, 19.2 in the 180 low hurdles; sophomore Les Nagy of Niles McKinley, the state two-mile king, with a 9:31.6 in his specialty; state champion Cleveland John Adams on a 3:21.5 in the mile relay; Dave Coad, Berea, with a height of 14-0 in the pole vault; Ed Rowland, Marlington, 6-4 in the high jump; Al Robinson, Elyria, 22-5¼ in the long jump; state champ Ken Krueger, Sandusky, with 183-1½ in the discus; Ed Williams, Sandusky, with a 59-1 in the shot.

Exodus Lett Leads Way

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Ashland College, led by Exodus Lett, swept five first places to edge defending champion Mount Union by one point and win the NCAA Mideast Regional College Division Track and Field Championships here Saturday.

Lett raced to victory in the 220-yard dash with a time of 22.3 and the 440-yard dash with a clocking of 48.5. In addition, Lett was on Ashland's winning 440 and mile relay teams. Ashland's other first was in the 120 high hurdles won by Don Tidwell in 14.5.

But the Eagles, in spite of the five firsts, used a fifth place finish by Jeff Payton in the discus, the last event of the day, to wrap up the victory over Mount Union 43½ to 42½. Payton's single point gave the Eagles their first title here.

The meet was held mostly during rain at Ohio Wesleyan's Selby Stadium. But despite the downpours, three records were broken and another tied.

Jim Kaminsky of Ohio Wesleyan won the mile in the record time of 4:12.7. Vaughn Davis of Mount Union set a new mark in the shot put with a toss of 54 feet, 15¼ inches. The other record was in the high jump with Cleveland State's Al Flores clearing the bar at 6 feet, 4½ inches.

O. J. Harboldt of Baldwin-Wallace ran the 100-yard dash in 09.8 to tie the record.

Other top team scores were Ohio Wesleyan, 34 points; Baldwin-Wallace 27; Hope, Mich.; Calvin, Mich., 14, and Carthage, Ill., and the University of Chicago, 11 each.

The meet attracted a record number of 228 performers from 28 colleges and universities.

Accuses Drysdale

Franks Charges Vaseline Takes Place Of Spitballs

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Manager Herman Franks of the San Francisco Giants charges more and more National League pitchers are substituting grease for spit in doctoring the baseballs they throw.

Franks calls them "vaseline balls" and declared all three Los Angeles Dodger pitchers his club faced during the weekend threw them.

He didn't limit his accusation to any particular team.

"I never saw so many guys with vaseline in their hair—just plastered down," said Franks after his club had beaten the Dodgers 5-1 Sunday. "Under the new rules, as long as a pitcher doesn't go to his mouth, he can go anyplace he wants.

I've seen caps sopped with vaseline. Pitchers keep it anyplace, on their wrists, on their foreheads, behind their ears. Anybody can throw it and it only takes a dab.

"We've seen it all this season but now we see it more and more. I'd say between 20 and 30 are using it."

Franks didn't mention whether any of his Giants threw the super slippery delivery but there was no suggestion that Juan Marichal used anything artificial as he tossed a three-hitter to beat the Dogers in the finale of a three-game series. Los Angeles won the first two.

The San Francisco manager was particularly pointed in saying Drysdale had substituted grease for spit, declaring, "He had one of the finer spitters and now he has this. He's more effective because he throws harder."

Gaylord Perry of the Giants also had been accused of throwing the spitter but by the time Franks had finished his discourse, the Dodgers had left the clubhouse without the opportunity of replying.

Franks' point was that the league should investigate immediately and bring a halt to illegal doctoring.

Pat Connor's Bird Wins Race

Next week's race will be with the Youngstown Concourse from Indianapolis.

There has never been a no-hitter pitched in Forbes Field.

Final Open Qualifying Gets Under Way Today

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The final qualifying round to determine the 150 man field for the United States Open Golf championship begins in five locations today, with 206 players competing for 45 places.

Most of the glamor pros, including defending champion Jack Nicklaus, are among the 34 players who are exempt from all qualifying rounds for the 72 hole championship at the Oak Hill Country Club, Rochester, N.Y., June 13-16.

The other 116 spots will be filled today and Tuesday in 36 hole sectional qualifying rounds with a total of 470 pros and 131 amateurs competing in 13 locations.

Among those competing are six former Open champions and 56-year-old Sam Snead, still looking for the big one that got away.

Snead has won more than 100 tournaments and all the world's major titles—except the U.S. Open. He's been second four times. He will try for a spot in the final field Tuesday at Indianapolis.

The field will be completed Tuesday with qualifying rounds at Bakersfield, Calif., San Francisco, Washington, Detroit, St. Louis, Montclair, N.J., Pittsburgh and Indianapolis.

British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo.

Most of the touring pros not exempt will attempt to qualify at Atlanta, including Bob Lunn, winner of the last two tour tournaments. He took the Memphis Open week before last and copped the Atlanta classic Sunday.

Included in the Atlanta field are former Open Champions Jack Fleck, Dick Mayer, Tommy Bolt and Cary Middlecoff, who won the Open in 1956, the last time it was played at Oak Hill.

Ed Furgol, the 1954 Open champion, former PGA and Masters champ Doug Ford, former PGA champs Jim Turnesa and Vic Ghezzi are among those competing at Montclair, N.J.

Rau Pitches Old Fort To Class A Title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ron Rau tossed a one-hitter in pitching Old Fort to the Class A high school baseball championship with a 6-0 victory over Anna High School of Shelby County Saturday.

Rau was supported by a 10-hit performance from his teammates. Rau rapped a double himself and drove in two runs.

CHEVY PICKUPS HAVE MORE INNER STRENGTH!
ROAD-BALANCED RIDE — Husky coil springs at all four wheels soak up bumps, assure a smooth ride for people and cargo. Standard on ½-ton and ¾-ton models, all-round coil springs team perfectly with Chevy's famed independent front suspension.
LADDER-TYPE FRAME—The same type used on the biggest Chevy haulers. Heavy-gauge channel side rails are riveted to alligator jaw crossmembers. The result is an extra-strong chassis foundation that withstands tough usage.
DOUBLE-WALL CARGO BOX — Fleetside pickups have double-wall side panels and tailgate to protect exterior sheet metal from damage caused by shifting loads. You wind up with a pickup that stays new looking longer.
DURABLE CAB CONSTRUCTION — Added strength comes from double-wall construction in roof, cowl, door pillars and sills. Special insulation keeps out heat, cold and noise.
EXTRA WORKPOWER — Six hefty engines provide a wide range of power choices. Two Sixes and four V8's are available. All run on regular gasoline for exceptional operating economy.

Many Hotels Are Empty

Mounting Crime In Washington Causes Decline In Tourist Trade

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has asked Congress for 1,000 additional policemen for the nation's capital where crime has increased 24.5 per cent in 12 months and tourist visits have declined sharply.

Crime has mounted at the same time in some other major U.S. cities and the problems of dealing with it are basically much the same throughout the country.

But this city's role as a world capital and tourist mecca spotlights the Washington situation more intensely.

Johnson repeatedly has said he wants the city to be the nation's pride.

Uncertain Future

Demonstrations here have brought a measure of uncertainty over what might happen. Some 2,000 participants of the Poor People's Campaign have set up their plywood shanties near the white marble columns of the Lincoln Memorial and a massive demonstration has been announced for around June 19.

Tourist business was off an estimated 20 per cent in May. Uncertainty about what will happen caused the reduction, the City Visitors Bureau said.

Bus Service Cut

It also brought a stop to night bus service with drivers refusing to carry change at night. The drivers said the change, from $50 to $100, was "holdup bait." The city has been without regular night bus service since May 20 while solution to the dispute is sought.

Johnson asked for the additional policemen last week when he signed a bill raising the starting salary of Washington firemen and policemen to $8,000 annually.

The manpower increase, if approved by Congress, would mean a total of 4,100 policemen. Most of the new ones would be put on street patrols, city officials said.

Lots Of Empty Rooms

Tourism is big business in Washington. In the spring school children by the thousands come in their chartered buses and the families come after school is out.

Last year, according to the Washington Convention and Visitors bureau, 16.8 million visitors came and spent about $531 million.

But this year the bureau estimated a 25 per cent loss in visitor trade for April and 21.5 per cent loss in May, based on known cancellations.

Patrols Increased

Hudson S. Moses, president of the Washington Hotel Association, said that in the first week after the April disorders the hotels went from "full to empty." A week later things began to pick up, he added.

As the Poor People's Campaign started, he said, hotel sales began to fall again and about the middle of May were between 10 and 20 per cent below those of last year.

Downtown restaurants and movie houses have complained about business being off.

Tourist Trade Down

"The tourists are not coming in; we've had a number of cancellations from tour groups," said Marvin Goldman, head of a chain of movie theaters. And, he said, the suburban population won't come in for the movies.

Goldman estimated business was off 15 to 25 per cent in his downtown theaters but said his theaters in the suburbs were doing "a little better than normal."

Police Department statistics show that, as a whole, crime increased 24.5 per cent here in the 12 months ending April 30. This included the April disorders.

Five holdup killings have occurred in the last month, including the bus driver. Four 17-year-old youths have been charged with his murder. Other victims were a liquor store owner, a drug store worker, a hardware merchant and a grocery worker.

Arson Reports Up

But Public Safety Director Patrick V. Murphy says the crime rate—after rising to about 30 per cent of normal in the last week of April—dropped this past week below its pre-riot level.

Murphy also said the number of fires set in the city dropped substantially during the week, and some days no fires were set.

Mayor Walter E. Washington has said crime is a product of deep-rooted problems. He said the city must act on many fronts to eradicate crime. He urged businessmen to provide summer jobs for the city's teenagers.

In a May 18 editorial, the Evening Star said: "For the plight of the bus drivers is not an isolated out-thrust of criminality; it is part of a pattern of steadily mounting crime and violence in the streets which is affecting virtually every aspect of life in this city and which has placed unbearable strains on the normal processes of meaningful law enforcement."

It said the ultimate solution lies in combatting the whole broad spectrum of street crime "and the imposition of penalties which mean something to those punks who can be apprehended and convicted of offenses."

In an editorial May 28, the Washington Post lauded Johnson's move to increase the police force and added: "We are well aware of the fact that more policemen will do little to remove the cause of crime. The city needs to do much more than it has done to relieve its frustrated and hopeless citizens of the incentive to lawlessness. But a city that is plagued by robberies, muggings, housebreakings, assaults, rapes and murders on a large scale cannot wait for the ameliorating effects of long-range social changes. It must move also to cope with its current problems and to let all individuals and groups know that lawlessness will not be tolerated."

Action Filed For $9,840

NEW CUMBERLAND — A suit has been filed on behalf of the community of New Cumberland against Erma W. Forester of 409 Ridge Ave., former city clerk, seeking the recovery of more than $9,000 in an alleged fund shortage.

According to the action, the period involved was from July 1, 1965, through Sept. 27, 1967.

The suit charges that the clerk was responsible for the funds taken in by the city and that she "has failed to account for or turn over a total of $9,840.16. . ."

The time periods and the amounts involved according to the action follow:

July 1, 1965, to June 30, 1966, $2,125.83; July 1, 1966, to June 30, 1967, $6,369.61 and July 1, 1967, to Sept. 28, 1967, $1,344.72.

Stokes Gives Endorsement To Humphrey

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland has lined up 100 per cent behind the Democratic Presidential nomination aspirations of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Stokes, a key member of Ohio's delegation to the Democratic convention, endorsed Humphrey in a speech in Washington Saturday night at the 25th anniversary banquet of the Capital Press Club.

"I want you to know that I stand 100 per cent behind the one man who can best help our big cities as well as the nation as a whole," Stokes said in an addition to his prepared speech.

"This is the man who as a mayor obtained the first municipal fair employment practices law in the United States . . .

"This is the man who as a senator was the key man in getting the Civil Rights Act of 1964 passed."

The mayor said in an interview afterward that he had talked with Humphrey last Tuesday but had not consulted other Ohio Democratic delegates about his declaration of support for the vice president.

Mulling Over The Mail

Of Dinosaurs And Flies

By HAL BOYLE

Dieters who glory in every fraction of ounce or pound they lose will be pleased to know that science now has a scale so accurate it can weigh one-millionth of a fly's tongue—which is a trillionth of a gram. If you threw a fly's entire tongue on the scale all at once it would quiver at about a thousandth of a gram.

How fast could a dinosaur gallop? Most students of these long ago creatures figured them to be slow pokes. But a young researcher at Yale University, after measuring their skeletal possibilities, has decided they could grump along at up to 30 miles an hour.

We are beginning to feel like a crowded people, but according to the U.S. Census Bureau, America still has 14,250,000 vacant lots. The leaders: Texas, 1,015,000; California, 1,009,000, and Florida, 1,004,000.

Quotable notables: "How do you expect to govern a country that has 246 different kinds of cheese?" Gen. Charles de Gaulle, of France.

Streets may be more dangerous, but homes are getting safer. The National Safety Council reports accidental deaths in the home dropped three per cent last year.

Putting on the bite: The jaw-power of sharks is one of the more awesome things in nature. A shark's tooth can crunch down at a pressure of 18 tons a square inch.

Keeping in touch: Rutherford B. Hayes became the first U.S. president to use the telephone when he placed a call to Alexander Graham Bell in 1877 through 13 miles of line in Rhode Island. But — believe it or not — no fulltime telephone graced a presidential work desk until Herbert Hoover accepted one in 1929, says the National Geographic. Hoover was the president who succeeded "Silent Cal" Coolidge.

Movement helps spell health: Why should you take regular exercise? Well, says Dr. Howard B. Sprague, heart specialist, "In India, for instance, heart attacks are 23 times more prevalent among sedentary officers than among enlisted men accustomed to regular daily exercise."

Not to be sneezed at: Hay fever is no economic joke. It has some 10 million victims in this country, and their attacks of the sniffles—at their peak from August through October— cause them to miss some 16 million days of work each year.

Your busy body? Every four months the 25 trillion red blood cells in your body die and are replaced. This means that, awake or asleep, while you are thinking or dreaming of other matters, the guardian factory inside you is manufacturing 2.4 million new red blood cells every second you draw breath. We're far more complicated than we realize.

Folklore: It's bad luck to have a mole on the forehead near the hairline, but a sign of wealth to come if you have one on chin or ear. Keep a penny in your pocketbook and you'll always have good luck. You'll have 365 days of ill fortune if the first visitor to step across your threshold on New Year's Day is a woman. If your nose itches you'll soon kiss a fool.

It was Francois de Fenelon who observed, "There will never be any peace for those who resist God."

Two Texans Win WIBC

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Two Texans wound up with all-events championships in the Women's International Bowling Congress, which closed down Sunday after 60 days of bowling.

Susie Reichley of Waco won the Division I all-events crown and May Monroe of Childress was the Division II titlist.

No changes were reported in the final day of the marathon tournament. Prizes totaling $243,204 will be divided among the winners.

Other Division I winners included: Doubles, Mary Lou Graham and Pauline Stickler, Miami, Fla., 1250; Singles, Norma Parks, Raytown, Mo., 691; and, team, Hudepohl Beer, Cincinnati, Ohio, 2923.

Final Division II standings: Doubles, Lamar Wars and Betty Beamon, Alice, Tex., 1105; singles, Beatrice Harm, Enola, Pa., 610; and, team, Just Made It, Westport, Conn., 2448.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Willie Stargell, Pirates, whacked two home runs, a double and three singles, driving in six runs in the doubleheader as Pittsburgh split with Atlanta, winning the first game, 8-4 and losing the second 10-5.

PITCHING—Juan Marichal, Giants, became the first nine-game winner in the majors with a three-hit 5-1 victory over Los Angeles.

World War II Study Shows

Russians Missed Chance To Capture All Germany

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new U.S. Army study suggests excessive caution and indecision cost the Soviets a chance to reach the Rhine River—and thus control of most of Germany —in the last months of World War II.

Had the Soviets succeeded in reaching the Rhine before the Allies crossed that river, they would have been in position to have menaced France and the low countries, and to have controlled virtually all of Germany instead of settling for a division of control with the Allies.

That account, titled "Stalingrad to Berlin", was researched and written by Army historian Earl F. Ziemke. He drew on captured German documents and on Soviet military writings.

According to this study, the Soviet high command staff in the late fall of 1944 planned a winter offensive that was to have ended the war in about 45 days.

The offensive began Jan. 12, 1945, and within two weeks Soviet units were closing up to the Oder River.

But on Feb. 17, 1945, Ziemke wrote, the Soviet staff "suddenly scrapped the whole original plan" and ordered Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov and other field leaders to clean up the flanks of the advancing Soviet armies.

"By the end of the third week in February the great Soviet 1945 winter offensive had come to a dead halt," the study said.

"Caution was in the air."

The Army study noted that the Soviet high command's decision coincided with two small German counterattacks—one aimed at Stargard east of Berlin and the other on the Hron River in Hungary.

"The abortive Stargard operation brought the Germans a substantial, unexpected, and unearned dividend of time that . . . may have profoundly affected Germany's future," the study said.

"In the fit of caution that took hold in mid-February" the study said, the Soviet high command "dismantled its operation for an advance to Berlin and beyond into central Germany and committed its main forces in marginal, wholly unspectacular clearing operations on the flanks in Pomerania and Silesia.

"No doubt, observing that the Allies were still west of the line . . . the Soviet command concluded it had time enough.

"This could have provided a rational for cleaning out the flanks in anticipation of a deeper thrust into Germany than originally intended and, meanwhile, letting the Allies bleed themselves out."

But, the study said, the sequence of events indicates "caution and a consequent inability to decide upon a clean-cut, direct solution to the final strategic problem also weighed heavily."

Army historians, amplifying on the study, said that more than likely the Soviets could have been on the Rhine by March 1.

They recalled that the British and American armies on the German border were not even ready to strike toward the Rhine before then. The Allies did not cross that key river until the end of the first week in March.

In the final stages of the European war, which ended May 8, 1945, the Soviet and allied forces both drove through Germany from opposite directions and finally agreed on a division of occupied territory along the line of the Elbe and Mulde Rivers.

This subsequently led to the two Germanys, a Communist East and non-Communist West.

Woman Receives College Diploma After Eight Years

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A Negro mother, who wanted to be a lawyer but had to drop out of school during the Depression, earned her college diploma Sunday night after eight years of evening classes.

Mrs. Amy Robinson, 53, with a degree in sociology from Indiana Central College, said "I'd love to work with minority groups—the American Indian or the Negro."

Mrs. Robinson, who has been an inspector with International Harvester Co., for 28 years and has served on the governor's Commission on the Status of Women, said "Many children today expect everything to be given to them and I'm talking about both whites and colored. I remember times when I didn't know where the next penny was coming from for my tuition."

Lunn's Atlanta Win 2nd Straight On Tour

ATLANTA (AP)—Bob Lunn, the 23-year-old Californian who won his first pro title a week ago at the Memphis Open, fired a finishing 69 for an eight-under-par 280 and scored a three-stroke triumph over Lee Trevino in the Atlanta Classic Golf Tournament Sunday.

Dave Patrick Sets Eastern Mile Mark

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Villanova's Dave Patrick won the IC4A mile in 3:56.8, breaking the Eastern mile record of 3:58.6 set by Jim Ryun of Kansas in 1966 and smashing the meet record of 4:04.9 as all five frontrunners finished in under four minutes Sunday.

Herbert Hoover was born in West Branch, Iowa.

Citizens' Group Named At Elkton

Members are Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Harrold and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Apple. The purpose of the group is to work with the trustees "to seek ways to better Elkton," including the removal of junk cars.

It was pointed out that oiling of roads is behind schedule because of the inclement weather.

Striking Workers To Vote On Contract

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 2,300 members of United Auto Workers Local 1050 who struck against Aluminum Co. of America plants in Cuyahoga Heights and Newburgh Heights Friday night will vote at 4 p.m. today on an improved contract negotiated in New York over the weekend.

Joe S. Steller, chairman of Local 1050's strike committee, said the proposed contract is slightly better than the Alcoa contract accepted last week by the United Steelworkers.

Teachers 'Sanction' Board At East Canton

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The East Canton Education Association voted Sunday to invoke sanctions against the suburb's public school system in protest of the school board's refusal to rehire a junior high school teacher of 12 years experience without giving a reason.

The teachers group asked the 57 teachers in the system not to renew their contracts and requested the Ohio Education Association, with which the group is affiliated, to apply statewide sanctions.

By 1976, the numer of foreigners visiting the United States will total 16 million — compared with under nine million in 1967.

Mounting Crime In Washington Causes Decline In Tourist Trade

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has asked Congress for 1,000 additional policemen for the nation's capital where crime has increased 24.5 per cent in 12 months and tourist visits have declined sharply.

Crime has mounted at the same time in some other major U.S. cities and the problems of dealing with it are basically much the same throughout the country.

But this city's role as a world capital and tourist mecca spotlights the Washington situation more intensely.

Johnson repeatedly has said he wants the city to be the nation's pride.

In March he sent a special message to Congress asking for a redoubled attack on crime here, saying: "Crime today is the first problem in the nation's first city."

Uncertain Future

Demonstrations here have brought a measure of uncertainty over what might happen. Some 2,000 participants of the Poor People's Campaign have set up their plywood shanties near the white marble columns of the Lincoln Memorial and a massive demonstration has been announced for around June 19.

Tourist business was off an estimated 20 per cent in May. Uncertainty about what will happen caused the reduction, the City Visitors Bureau said.

But while tourists drive to see the encampment of the poor, Resurrection City, U.S.A., the vast majority of Washington citizens go about their daily business as usual.

Since the civil disorders in early April, more people are speaking out about crime and about putting more policemen on the streets.

Bus Service Cut

It also brought a stop to night bus service with drivers refusing to carry change at night. The drivers said the change, from $50 to $100, was "holdup bait." The city has been without regular night bus service since May 20 while solution to the dispute is sought.

Johnson asked for the additional policemen last week when he signed a bill raising the starting salary of Washington firemen and policemen to $8,000 annually.

The manpower increase, if approved by Congress, would mean a total of 4,100 policemen. Most of the new ones would be put on street patrols, city officials said.

Lots Of Empty Rooms

The officials already have increased patrols in high-crime neighborhoods and authorized substantial overtime for policemen.

Tourism is big business in Washington. In the spring school children by the thousands come in their chartered buses and the families come after school is out.

Last year, according to the Washington Convention and Visitors bureau, 16.8 million visitors came and spent about $531 million.

But this year the bureau estimated a 25 per cent loss in visitor trade for April and 21.5 per cent loss in May, based on known cancellations.

Patrols Increased

Hudson S. Moses, president of the Washington Hotel Association, said that in the first week after the April disorders the hotels went from "full to empty." A week later things began to pick up, he added.

As the Poor People's Campaign started, he said, hotel sales began to fall again and about the middle of May were between 10 and 20 per cent below those of last year.

Downtown restaurants and movie houses have complained about business being off.

Tourist Trade Down

"The tourists are not coming in; we've had a number of cancellations from tour groups," said Marvin Goldman, head of a chain of movie theaters. And, he said, the suburban population won't come in for the movies.

Goldman estimated business was off 15 to 25 per cent in his downtown theaters but said his theaters in the suburbs were doing "a little better than normal."

Police Department statistics show that, as a whole, crime increased 24.5 per cent here in the 12 months ending April 30. This included the April disorders.

The latest figures from the FBI, a preliminary report on 1967, shows that over the nation, as a whole, crime increased 16 per cent.

The latest final report of the FBI, for 1966, showed Washington had the sixth highest crime rate of the 12 largest metropolitan areas.

Five holdup killings have occurred in the last month, including the bus driver. Four 17-year-old youths have been charged with his murder. Other victims were a liquor store owner, a drug store worker, a hardware merchant and a grocery worker.

Arson Reports Up

But Public Safety Director Patrick V. Murphy says the crime rate—after rising to about 30 per cent of normal in the last week of April—dropped this past week below its pre-riot level.

Murphy also said the number of fires set in the city dropped substantially during the week, and some days no fires were set.

Mayor Walter E. Washington has said crime is a product of deep-rooted problems. He said the city must act on many fronts to eradicate crime. He urged businessmen to provide summer jobs for the city's teenagers.

In a May 18 editorial, the Evening Star said: "For the plight of the bus drivers is not an isolated out-thrust of criminality; it is part of a pattern of steadily mounting crime and violence in the streets which is affecting virtually every aspect of life in this city and which has placed unbearable strains on the normal processes of meaningful law enforcement."

It said the ultimate solution lies in combatting the whole broad spectrum of street crime "and the imposition of penalties which mean something to those punks who can be apprehended and convicted of offenses."

In an editorial May 28, the Washington Post lauded Johnson's move to increase the police force and added: "We are well aware of the fact that more policemen will do little to remove the cause of crime. The city needs to do much more than it has done to relieve its frustrated and hopeless citizens of the incentive to lawlessness. But a city that is plagued by robberies, muggings, housebreakings, assaults, rapes and murders on a large scale cannot wait for the ameliorating effects of long-range social changes. It must move also to cope with its current problems and to let all individuals and groups know that lawlessness will not be tolerated."

World War II Study Shows

Russians Missed Chance To Capture All Germany

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new U.S. Army study suggests excessive caution and indecision cost the Soviets a chance to reach the Rhine River—and thus control of most of Germany—in the last months of World War II.

Had the Soviets succeeded in reaching the Rhine before the Allies crossed that river, they would have been in position to have menaced France and the low countries, and to have controlled virtually all of Germany instead of settling for a division of control with the Allies.

This, in turn, might have altered the whole shape and fate of postwar Europe.

These conclusions are implicit in the Army's account of the late stages of the Soviet-German war.

That account, titled "Stalingrad to Berlin", was researched and written by Army historian Earl F. Ziemke. He drew on captured German documents and on Soviet military writings.

According to this study, the Soviet high command staff in the late fall of 1944 planned a winter offensive that was to have ended the war in about 45 days.

The offensive began Jan. 12, 1945, and within two weeks Soviet units were closing up to the Oder River.

But on Feb. 17, 1945, Ziemke wrote, the Soviet staff "suddenly scrapped the whole original plan" and ordered Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov and other field leaders to clean up the flanks of the advancing Soviet armies.

"By the end of the third week in February the great Soviet 1945 winter offensive had come to a dead halt," the study said.

"Caution was in the air."

The Army study noted that the Soviet high command's decision coincided with two small German counterattacks—one aimed at Stargard east of Berlin and the other on the Hron River in Hungary.

It is suggested the counterattacks accomplished nothing for the Germans militarily, but apparently intensified caution among Soviet staff officers.

"The abortive Stargard operation brought the Germans a substantial, unexpected, and unearned dividend of time that . . . may have profoundly affected Germany's future," the study said.

"In the fit of caution that took hold in mid-February" the study said, the Soviet high command "dismantled its operation for an advance to Berlin and beyond into central Germany and committed its main forces in marginal, wholly unspectacular clearing operations on the flanks in Pomerania and Silesia.

"No doubt, observing that the Allies were still west of the line . . . the Soviet command concluded it had time enough.

"This could have provided a rational for cleaning out the flanks in anticipation of a deeper thrust into Germany than originally intended and, meanwhile, letting the Allies bleed themselves out."

But, the study said, the sequence of events indicates "caution and a consequent inability to decide upon a clean-cut, direct solution to the final strategic problem also weighed heavily."

Army historians, amplifying on the study, said that more than likely the Soviets could have been on the Rhine by March 1.

They recalled that the British and American armies on the German border were not even ready to strike toward the Rhine before then. The Allies did not cross that key river until the end of the first week in March.

In the final stages of the European war, which ended May 8, 1945, the Soviet and allied forces both drove through Germany from opposite directions and finally agreed on a division of occupied territory along the line of the Elbe and Mulde Rivers.

This subsequently led to the two Germanys, a Communist East and non-Communist West.

Striking Workers To Vote On Contract

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 2,300 members of United Auto Workers Local 1050 who struck against Aluminum Co. of America plants in Cuyahoga Heights and Newburgh Heights Friday night will vote at 4 p.m. today on an improved contract negotiated in New York over the weekend.

Joe S. Steller, chairman of Local 1050's strike committee, said the proposed contract is slightly better than the Alcoa contract accepted last week by the United Steelworkers.

Teachers 'Sanction' Board At East Canton

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The East Canton Education Association voted Sunday to invoke sanctions against the suburb's public school system in protest of the school board's refusal to rehire a junior high school teacher of 12 years experience without giving a reason.

The teachers group asked the 57 teachers in the system not to renew their contracts and requested the Ohio Education Association, with which the group is affiliated, to apply statewide sanctions.

Woman Receives College Diploma After Eight Years

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A Negro mother, who wanted to be a lawyer but had to drop out of school during the Depression, earned her college diploma Sunday night after eight years of evening classes.

Mrs. Amy Robinson, 53, with a degree in sociology from Indiana Central College, said "I'd love to work with minority groups—the American Indian or the Negro."

Mrs. Robinson, who has been an inspector with International Harvester Co., for 28 years and has served on the governor's Commission on the Status of Women, said "Many children today expect everything to be given to them and I'm talking about both whites and colored. I remember times when I didn't know where the next penny was coming from for my tuition."

Action Filed For $9,840

NEW CUMBERLAND — A suit has been filed on behalf of the community of New Cumberland against Erma W. Forester of 409 Ridge Ave., former city clerk, seeking the recovery of more than $9,000 in an alleged fund shortage.

According to the action, the period involved was from July 1, 1965, through Sept. 27, 1967.

The suit charges that the clerk was responsible for the funds taken in by the city and that she "has failed to account for or turn over a total of $9,840.16. . ."

The time periods and the amounts involved according to the action follow:

July 1, 1965, to June 30, 1966, $2,125.83; July 1, 1966, to June 30, 1967, $6,369.61 and July 1, 1967, to Sept. 28, 1967, $1,344.72.

Stokes Gives Endorsement To Humphrey

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland has lined up 100 per cent behind the Democratic Presidential nomination aspirations of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Stokes, a key member of Ohio's delegation to the Democratic convention, endorsed Humphrey in a speech in Washington Saturday night at the 25th anniversary banquet of the Capital Press Club.

"I want you to know that I stand 100 per cent behind the one man who can best help our big cities as well as the nation as a whole," Stokes said in an addition to his prepared speech.

"This is the man who as a mayor obtained the first municipal fair employment practices law in the United States . . .

"This is the man who as a senator was the key man in getting the Civil Rights Act of 1964 passed."

The mayor said in an interview afterward that he had talked with Humphrey last Tuesday but had not consulted other Ohio Democratic delegates about his declaration of support for the vice president.

Citizens' Group Named At Elkton

Mulling Over The Mail

Of Dinosaurs And Flies

By HAL BOYLE

Dieters who glory in every fraction of ounce or pound they lose will be pleased to know that science now has a scale so accurate it can weigh one-millionth of a fly's tongue—which is a trillionth of a gram. If you threw a fly's entire tongue on the scale all at once it would quiver at about a thousandth of a gram.

How fast could a dinosaur gallop? Most students of these long ago creatures figured them to be slow pokes. But a young researcher at Yale University, after measuring their skeletal possibilities, has decided they could grump along at up to 30 miles an hour.

We are beginning to feel like a crowded people, but according to the U.S. Census Bureau, America still has 14,250,000 vacant lots. The leaders: Texas, 1,015,000; California, 1,009,000, and Florida, 1,004,000.

Quotable notables: "How do you expect to govern a country that has 246 different kinds of cheese?" Gen. Charles de Gaulle, of France.

Streets may be more dangerous, but homes are getting safer. The National Safety Council reports accidental deaths in the home dropped three per cent last year.

Putting on the bite: The jawpower of sharks is one of the more awesome things in nature. A shark's tooth can crunch down at a pressure of 18 tons a square inch.

Keeping in touch: Rutherford B. Hayes became the first U.S. president to use the telephone when he placed a call to Alexander Graham Bell in 1877 through 13 miles of line in Rhode Island. But — believe it or not — no fulltime telephone graced a presidential work desk until Herbert Hoover accepted one in 1929, says the National Geographic. Hoover was the president who succeeded "Silent Cal" Coolidge.

Movement helps spell health: Why should you take regular exercise? Well, says Dr. Howard B. Sprague, heart specialist, "In India, for instance, heart attacks are 23 times more prevalent among sedentary officers than among enlisted men accustomed to regular daily exercise."

Not to be sneezed at: Hay fever is no economic joke. It has some 10 million victims in this country, and their attacks of the sniffles—at their peak from August through October— cause them to miss some 16 million days of work each year.

Your busy body? Every four months the 25 trillion red blood cells in your body die and are replaced. This means that, awake or asleep, while you are thinking or dreaming of other matters, the guardian factory inside you is manufacturing 2.4 million new red blood cells every second you draw breath. We're far more complicated than we realize.

Folklore: It's bad luck to have a mole on the forehead near the hairline, but a sign of wealth to come if you have one on chin or ear. Keep a penny in your pocketbook and you'll always have good luck. You'll have 365 days of ill fortune if the first visitor to step across your threshold on New Year's Day is a woman. If your nose itches you'll soon kiss a fool.

It was Francois de Fenelon who observed, "There will never be any peace for those who resist God."

Two Texans Win WIBC

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Two Texans wound up with all-events championships in the Women's International Bowling Congress, which closed down Sunday after 60 days of bowling.

Susie Reichley of Waco won the Division I all-events crown and May Monroe of Childress was the Division II titlist.

No changes were reported in the final day of the marathon tournament. Prizes totaling $243,204 will be divided among the winners.

Other Division I winners included: Doubles, Mary Lou Graham and Pauline Stickler, Miami, Fla., 1250; Singles, Norma Parks, Raytown, Mo., 691; and, team, Hudepohl Beer, Cincinnati, Ohio, 2923.

Final Division II standings: Doubles, Lamar Wars and Betty Beamon, Alice, Tex., 1105; singles, Beatrice Harm, Enola, Pa., 610; and, team, Just Made It, Westport, Conn., 2448.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Willie Stargell, Pirates, whacked two home runs, a double and three singles, driving in six runs in the doubleheader as Pittsburgh split with Atlanta, winning the first game, 8-4 and losing the second 10-5.

PITCHING—Juan Marichal, Giants, became the first nine-game winner in the majors with a three-hit 5-1 victory over Los Angeles.

Paulsen For President!

The Pat Paulsen-for-President campaign being conducted by Smothers Brothers' managers Ken Kragen and Ken Fritz has turned into such a success that the two Kens are producing a TV special based of Paulsen's campaigning. They're thinking of calling it "The Mocking of a President."

Hal Humphrey

Putting up the dour-looking comic, Paulsen, who's been a big hit on the Smothers Brothers' TV show, for President was originally thought up by head writer Mason Williams and Tommy Smothers. By now the idea has snowballed to a point where Paulsen has been making campaign speeches on and off the show.

HE'S APPEARED and received ovations following speeches before Tennessee, Kentucky and Minnesota state legislatures, posed with governors in nearly 24 major cities and held a 20-minute press conference with Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

Rallies and parades have been held in Pat's honor, and now Kragen and Fritz are planning a ticker-tape parade down New York City's 5th Ave. and a July Fourth rally and parade at Disneyland, plus visits to both the Republican and Democratic conventions.

So popular has the idea become that Kragen and Fritz had to make a deal with a merchandise firm for badges, bumper stickers, three-sheet posters and a party kit for the STAG party (Straight-Talkin' American Government).

NOW THERE ARE even plans afoot to hold a party convention to nominate Pat at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion. In July a book will be on the stands titled "Pat Paulsen for President."

All of these hijinks are being filmed for the TV special, which already has been sold to CBS after a convention of affiliates in Los Angeles recently looked at a 10-minute presentation film prepared by Kragen and Fritz.

The special will be aired in September or October, but the Paulsen campaign will keep right on until the November election. Kragen and Fritz have become so excited over the reaction to Pat that they're acting like a couple of campaign managers. They're also producing the Smothers Brothers Summer Show which begins June 23, and will have Paulsen in a "Face the Nation" press conference sketch for the first show.

THIS CAMPAIGN and sudden popularity are as mistifying to Paulsen as if he'd been really told he is running for President. Born in South Bend, Wash., 40 years ago, Pat's bouts with success up to now haven't been too great.

After some drama lessons, he gave up to become a coffee house comic and was working in San Francisco's Purple Onion when Kragen-Fritz-Smothers met him.

THEY TOOK their lumps along with the Smothers Brothers in their first TV venture, that filmed situation comedy, but learned from that to trust their own judgment instead of others. Last year in TV's midseason, The Smothers Brothers comedy-variety show took off with great success, and it got even better this second season.

When Pat Paulsen began delivering his "editorials" on the show, the mail became astonishing. Four thousand letters poured in on the first one. From 10 such editorials now he's received 150,000 pieces of mail.

Even with this and the presidential campaign, to Kragen and Fritz's surprise, Paulsen is still humble and pliable and thinking it may be over for him any minute. It's only recently that Kragen and Fritz were able to convince Pat he should move from his Orange County home closer to Hollywood so he wouldn't have to commute 2½ hours a day to work.

Kragen and Fritz are 31 and 30, respectively, and at the moment have the most potential of any management team in the business.

TV Highlights

TONIGHT

LEGAL NOTICE

TO: GOLDIE E. FELTON, whose present address is P. O. Box 134, Lowell, Florida, 32663,

You will hereby take notice that on the 24th day of May, 1968, James E. Felton filed his petition for divorce in the Common Pleas Court of Columbiana County, Ohio, in Case No. 53127 said petition in substance, charging extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty and praying that the Plaintiff, James E. Felton be divorced, and that said cause will be for hearing six (6) weeks and one (1) day from the date of the first publication hereof.

RICHARD J. CLARK
Attorney for Plaintiff
JAMES E. FELTON

E. L. Review: May 27, June 3, 10, 17, 24, July 1, 1968.

LEGAL NOTICE

Ralph C. Miller, Jr., SSG, RA13672784, Headquarters Third Brigade, 7th Infantry Division, APO San Francisco, 96207, will take notice that the Plaintiff, Marlene G. Miller, has filed a Petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Columbiana County, Ohio, being Case No. 53102, praying for a divorce from said Defendant and equitable relief on the grounds of gross neglect of duty and willful absence for more than one (1) year.

Said Defendant, Ralph C. Miller, Jr., is hereby notified that said cause will be for hearing on the 1st day of July, 1968 at 10:00 A.M. or as soon thereafter as the Court may conveniently hear the same.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 39, 1968

WHEREAS, the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority has purchased and has title to TRACT A and TRACT B on both sides of Croxall Alley; and

WHEREAS, it is necessary for the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority to immediately receive a grant to use a certain portion of Croxall Alley, in perpetuity, in order to properly landscape the proposed housing project to be located on said tracts; and

WHEREAS, it is immediately necessary for the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority to receive the aforesaid grant in order to immediately advertise for bids for the construction of said housing project.

AND, WHEREAS, the City of East Liverpool has determined under the provisions of Section 723.121 of the Ohio Revised Code, that certain portion of Croxall Alley, is not needed by said City for any purpose.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1. That the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, hereby grants to the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority the right to use the following described property in perpetuity:

All of Croxall Alley West of a line whose southernmost point is 122 feet west of the intersection of the west line of Barlow Alley and the south line of Croxall Alley and whose Northern most point is northerly at right angles on the north line of Croxall Alley. Said Croxall Alley from the Westerly line of Barlow Alley extending Westerly to John Street, was acquired by said City for street and alley purposes only, by deed recorded in Volume 557, at Page 402, of the record of deeds of Columbiana County, Ohio.

SECTION 2. That this Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and shall take effect and be in force immediately upon passage and approval. Said emergency lies in the fact that it is now necessary to grant said Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority the aforesaid right to use said property in perpetuity, so that said Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority will be permitted by the Federal Government to advertise immediately for bids for the construction of the aforesaid housing project.

Passed this 27th day of May, 1968.

NORMAN BUCHER
President of Council

BETTY J. BERG
Clerk of Council

Approved by the Mayor this 28th day of May, 1968.

GEORGE E. WILLSHAW
Mayor

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Paulsen For President!

The Pat Paulsen-for-President campaign being conducted by Smothers Brothers' managers Ken Kragen and Ken Fritz has turned into such a success that the two Kens are producing a TV special based of Paulsen's campaigning. They're thinking of calling it "The Mocking of a President."

Hal Humphrey

Putting up the dour-looking comic, Paulsen, who's been a big hit on the Smothers Brothers' TV show, for President was originally thought up by head writer Mason Williams and Tommy Smothers. By now the idea has snowballed to a point where Paulsen has been making campaign speeches on and off the show.

HE'S APPEARED and received ovations following speeches before Tennessee, Kentucky and Minnesota state legislatures, posed with governors in nearly 24 major cities and held a 20-minute press conference with Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

Rallies and parades have been held in Pat's honor, and now Kragen and Fritz are planning a ticker-tape parade down New York City's 5th Ave. and a July Fourth rally and parade at Disneyland, plus visits to both the Republican and Democratic conventions.

So popular has the idea become that Kragen and Fritz had to make a deal with a merchandise firm for badges, bumper stickers, three-sheet posters and a party kit for the STAG party (Straight-Talkin' American Government).

NOW THERE ARE even plans afoot to hold a party convention to nominate Pat at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion. In July a book will be on the stands titled "Pat Paulsen for President."

All of these hijinks are being filmed for the TV special, which already has been sold to CBS after a convention of affiliates in Los Angeles recently looked at a 10-minute presentation film prepared by Kragen and Fritz.

The special will be aired in September or October, but the Paulsen campaign will keep right on until the November election. Kragen and Fritz have become so excited over the reaction to Pat that they're acting like a couple of campaign managers. They're also producing the Smothers Brothers Summer Show which begins June 23, and will have Paulsen in a "Face the Nation" press conference sketch for the first show.

THIS CAMPAIGN and sudden popularity are as mistifying to Paulsen as if he'd been really told he is running for President. Born in South Bend, Wash., 40 years ago, Pat's bouts with success up to now haven't been too great.

After some drama lessons, he gave up to become a coffee house comic and was working in San Francisco's Purple Onion when Kragen-Fritz-Smothers met him.

Kragen met the Smothers Brothers and became friends while Kragen was managing the Limeliters, a musical group. He met Fritz when the latter booked the Limeliters for homecoming at American University in Washington, D.C.

In 1963 the Smothers Brothers' manager died and Ken Kragen succeeded him. Two years ago, after working as their road manager, Fritz became Kragen's partner.

THEY TOOK their lumps along with the Smothers Brothers in their first TV venture, that filmed situation comedy, but learned from that to trust their own judgment instead of others. Last year in TV's midseason, The Smothers Brothers comedy-variety show took off with great success, and it got even better this second season.

When Pat Paulsen began delivering his "editorials" on the show, the mail became astonishing. Four thousand letters poured in on the first one. From 10 such editorials now he's received 150,000 pieces of mail.

Even with this and the presidential campaign, to Kragen and Fritz's surprise, Paulsen is still humble and pliable and thinking it may be over for him any minute. It's only recently that Kragen and Fritz were able to convince Pat he should move from his Orange County home closer to Hollywood so he wouldn't have to commute 2½ hours a day to work.

Kragen and Fritz are 31 and 30, respectively, and at the moment have the most potential of any management team in the business.

TV Highlights

TONIGHT

10, KDKA, WSTV, Carol Burnett: Guest star is Jim Nabors.

A good salad for lunch: chill a can of tuna (7 ounce size) and drain off the oil; turn out tuna in the center of a medium-size serving plate. Surround the tuna with shredded green cabbage that has been mixed with olive oil, white wine vinegar, salt, white pepper and a little prepared mustard. Top tuna and slaw with radish roses and ripe olives.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 39, 1968

WHEREAS, the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority has purchased and has title to TRACT A and TRACT B on both sides of Croxall Alley; and

WHEREAS, it is necessary for the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority to immediately receive a grant to use a certain portion of Croxall Alley, in perpetuity, in order to properly landscape the proposed housing project to be located on said tracts; and

WHEREAS, it is immediately necessary for the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority to receive the aforesaid grant in order to immediately advertise for bids for the construction of said housing project.

AND, WHEREAS, the City of East Liverpool has determined under the provisions of Section 723.121 of the Ohio Revised Code, that certain portion of Croxall Alley, is not needed by said City for any purpose.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1. That the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, hereby grants to the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority the right to use the following described property in perpetuity:

All of Croxall Alley West of a line whose southernmost point is 122 feet west of the intersection of the west line of Barlow Alley and the south line of Croxall Alley and whose Northern most point is northerly at right angles on the north line of Croxall Alley. Said Croxall Alley from the Westerly line of Barlow Alley extending Westerly to John Street, was acquired by said City for street and alley purposes only, by deed recorded in Volume 557, at Page 402, of the record of deeds of Columbiana County, Ohio.

SECTION 2. That this Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and shall take effect and be in force immediately upon passage and approval. Said emergency lies in the fact that it is now necessary to grant said Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority the aforesaid right to use said property in perpetuity, so that said Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority will be permitted by the Federal Government to advertise immediately for bids for the construction of the aforesaid housing project.

Passed this 27th day of May, 1968.

President of Council

BETTY J. BERG
Clerk of Council

Approved by the Mayor this 28th day of May, 1968.

Junior Editors Quiz on MOBY DICK

QUESTION: How did the tale of Moby Dick get started?

ANSWER: The famous book, "Moby Dick," was written by Herman Melville, an American who had lived the thrilling, adventurous life of a whale-man. Rounding Cape Horn aboard a whaleship in 1841, Melville saw the chase of the gigantic sperm whale, whose lower jaw is lined with a row of murderous teeth, at close hand. He learned that certain savage whales, who had escaped the whaleman's lance, became known to whalemen, who gave them special names. One such diabolical old whale, white in color, had acquired the nickname of Moby Dick. On his return to the United States Melville wrote several books about his travels and then took the theme of the white whale to work into his greatest story. Melville created the imaginary character of Captain Ahab to act as opponent to Moby Dick. Once, wrote Melville, the whale had bitten off one of Ahab's legs, and Ahab swore vengeance. The story of Ahab's fanatical chase and the faithful details of whaling life make "Moby Dick" a masterpiece not to be forgotten.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

On this date in 1940, the Allied evacuation from Dunkerque, France, was completed. Some 337,000 British, French and Belgian troops had been safely transported to ports in England.

On this date:

In 1808, Confederal President Jefferson Davis was born. The birthday is a public holiday in 10 Southern states.

In 1965, U.S. astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White were launched into orbit aboard a Gemini spacecraft for a four-day space flight.
